Since the establishment of the College of Fort William by Marquis Wellesley, the labors of many distinguished individuals have added much valuable information to the knowledge before possessed of oriental literature, and afforded many facilities to the attainment of an improved acquaintance with the several dialects peculiar to the provinces immediately subject to the Supreme Government. A similar Institution (on a modified and less extensive scale) has more recently been established at Fort St. George, and may be expected, in course of time, to produce the same favorable results as regards the languages of the South of India; respecting which very little has as yet appeared before the public through the medium of the press, though the languages themselves had, even before the establishment of the College, been cultivated with considerable success by many individuals.

For the establishment of the College of Fort St. George, and for the encouragement afforded in many other respects to the advancement of the literature of Southern India, the Public are in a great degree indebted to Sir George Barlow; and the following is one of several works which owe their rise to this source.

The Author, having been nominated to a seat at the Board of Superintendence for the College, had frequent opportunities of observing the disadvantage under which the Teloogoo Students laboured, from the want of a work on the elements of that language. An attempt to remove this impediment was a duty which the author's situation in some degree imposed; and actuated by this motive, as well as by a desire to rescue the Teloogoo from the undeserved neglect in which its great difficulty had involved it, and to extend among his countrymen the knowledge of a language spoken by a large portion of the native subjects of the British Government in the South of India, he proceeded to arrange the notes, on the native grammars of the language, which he had taken to assist his own studies, in the form which they have assumed in the following pages.

The manuscript, thus prepared, was submitted to the Government of Fort St. George, whose approbation it having been so fortunate as to obtain, the copy right was purchased on the public account, and the Right Honorable the Governor in Council was pleased to direct that the work should be printed at the College Press, whence it now issues to the Public.

Every first attempt to illustrate the principles of a foreign language is attended by peculiar difficulties; but to do justice to a language so highly cultivated as the Teloogoo required advantages to which the author makes no pretension: nevertheless he hopes that in essential respects, the work will not be found deficient. He does not expect that it will remove all the difficulties which have hitherto opposed the acquisition of the Teloo^goo : if, by enabling the European Student to overcome the chief obstacles in his way, it lightens his labour, and facilitates his access to that eminence which all should endeavour to attain who seek distinction in the public service, the author's utmost wishes will be accomplished : at some future period, perhaps, the track which he has opened may be followed by others possessing more ability and leisure than himself, who, correcting those errors into which he has fallen, may give to the world improved works, on one of the most useful and polished languages of India.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY

THE RIGHT HONORABLE FRANCIS RAWDON HASTINGS,

EARL OF MOIRA, K. G.

GOVERNOR GENERAL AND COMMANDER IN CHIEF IN INDIA.

&c. &c. &c.

MY LORD,

In dedicating to your Lordship the following elementary work, in elucidation of the principles of one of the most ancient, useful, and elegant languages of India, permit me, most respectfully, to express my grateful acknowledgements for the honor which it derives, from being permitted to appear under the sanction of so illustrious a name.

Public utility, the chief object of this work, constitutes also its chief claim to the patronage of a Statesman whose liberal and enlightened mind deems nothing beneath its notice which may be calculated, however remotely, to promote the interests of the Great Empire intrusted to his care. If, by diffusing among the civil and military servants on the Coast a more extended knowledge of the language of Telingana, and an improved acquaintance with the character, customs, and manners, of the fine race of men who inhabit that country, the work here presented to your Lordship should contribute in any degree to the convenience of individuals, to the service of the Government, or to the security and happiness of its subjects, I shall have the satisfaction to reflect that, however imperfect its execution, it will not have proved altogether unworthy of the distinguished patronage with which it has been honored.

I have the honor to be,

My Lord,

with the greatest respect, your Lordship's obliged and very obedient humble servant

A. D. CAMPBELL.

INTRODUCTION.

The language of which a Grammar is now offered to the Public is commonly, but improperly, termed by Europeans the Gentoo. It is the Andhra of Sanscrit authors, and, in the country where it is spoken, is known by the name of the Trilinga, Telinga, Teloogoo, or Tenzogoo.

This language is the vernacular dialect of the Hindoos, inhabiting that part of the Indian Peninsula, which, extending from the Dutch settlement of Pulicat on the Coast of Coromandel, inland to the vicinity of Bangalore, stretches northwards, along the coast as far as Chicacole, and in the interior to the sources of the Tapti; bounded on the east by the Bay of Bengal, and on the west by an irregular line, passing through the western districts belonging to the Soubahdar of the Deccan, and cutting off the most eastern provinces of the new state of Mysore:—a tract including the five Northern Circars of Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Rajahmundry, Masulipatam, and Guntoor; the greater portion of the Nizami's extensive territories; the districts of Cuddapah and Bellari ceded by him to the British; the eastern provinces of Mysore; and the northern portion of the Carnatick: nor is this language unknown in the more Southern parts of India, for the descendants of those Teloogoo families which were deputed by the Kings of Vidianagara to controul their southern conquests, or which occasionally emigrated from Teljingana to avoid famine or oppression, are scattered all over the Dravida and Carnataca provinces; and ever retaining the language of their forefathers, have diffused a knowledge of it throughout the Peninsula. †

† Among numerous authorities which may be quoted in support of the concluding part of this statement, I subjoin the following passages from the Travels of Dr. Francis Buchanan, a work containing much statistical information, regarding the provinces in the interior of the Peninsula:—
“Every where in Karnata the palanquin-bearers are of Telinga descent, and in their own families speak the language of their original country”—“The Woddas or Woddaru are a tribe of Telinga origin, and in their families retain that language; although they are scattered all over

A tradition current in Telingana, and noticed by many of its best native * Authors, states the original name of this language, as well as that of the country in which it is spoken, to have been Tri-lingum, or in pure Teloogoo Modagalingum ; † namely the language or country of the three lingums : a name derived from the three lingums, or mystic symbols of the divinity, in the form of which Shiva, the destructive and re-producing power in the Indian Trinity, is reported to have descended upon the mountains of Shri Shuelum or Purvatum, Caleswarum, and Bheemeswarum or Dracharamum, where he is supposed still to hold his awful abode, and is worshipped under the respective names of Mullecarjoona, Calanadha, and Bheemeswara.

These three lingums are said to have marked the chief boundaries of the country known in modern times by the name of Telingana. The first, that of Shri Shuelum,

“ the countries where the Tamil and Karnataca tongues are prevalent ”—Speaking of a cast known by the name of Baydaru, he observes—“ Those in the North-eastern parts of the Mysore Rajah’s dominions are of Telinga descent, and retain that language—They seem to be the true Sûdra cultivators and military of Telingana, and to have been introduced in great numbers into the southern countries of the Peninsula, when these became subject to Andray or Telingana princes.”

* See the Preface of Maumidi Vencayab, a learned native inhabitant of Masulipatam, to his Teloogoo Dictionary, the copy right of which has been purchased by the Madras Government ; and the original authorities therein referred to. Among others, the Adhurvana Vyacurnum, as given in the Andhra Cowmudi, from which the following is a quotation. శ్రీశైలభీమకాలేశ

He (alluding to Andhra Vishtnoo the son of Soochundra hereafter mentioned) having built an immense wall, connecting Shri Shuelum, Bheemeswaram, and Caleswaram, with the Mahendra hills, formed in it three gates, in which the three eyed Ishwara, bearing the trident in his hand, and attended by a host of divinities, resided in the form of three lingums. Andhra-Vishtnoo, assisted by angels, having fought with the great giant Nishumboo, for thirteen yoogs, killed him in battle, and took up his residence with the sages on the banks of the Godavery, since which time, this country has been named Trilingum. Then follows the passage given in the last Teloogoo quotation in the notes to this introduction.

† Tri in Sanscrit, and Moodoo in the inferior, or Modo or Modoga in the superior dialect of the pure Teloogoo, all mean three.

still celebrated in the Deccan, is particularly described in the extract from Captain Colin Mc'Kenzie's journal inserted in the 5th volume of the Asiatic Researches, of which a part is subjoined in a note below. * It is romantically situated in an unfrequented spot, surrounded by an almost impenetrable forest, among the wild mountains through which the impetuous current of the Kistna forces its passage from the high table land to the plains, and forms the termination of that chain of hills, which, from the vicinity of the great temple at Tripetty, winds to the north in irregular and separate ranges. In Arrowsmith's Map of 1804, it is placed near the Nalmul hills in Canoul (Kurnool) under the name of Parrawottum, upon the Kistna, just before that river takes a sudden but short direction to the north. It is the second of the twelve Jyotee lingums mentioned as peculiarly holy, in the 38th Adhyaye of the Sheev Pooran; and, in the Brahmanda Pooran, it is also mentioned as the eighth of the second class of mountains. In the year 1677, we find Sevajee, the celebrated founder of the Mahratta Empire, performing penance at this shrine †; and, on the annual recurrence of the Shivaratee, or the night sacred to Shiva, immense crowds of people still flock thither from all parts of Hindoostan. ‡

* "On entering the south gate," says Captain Mc'Kenzie, we descended by steps through a small door to the inner court, where the temple are. In the center was the Pagoda of Mallecarjee, the principal deity worshipped here. It is square, and the roof is terminated by a pyramid of steps, the whole walls and roof on the outside are covered with brass plates, which have been gilt, but the gilding is worn off. From hence I was conducted to the smaller and more ancient temple of Mallecarjee, where he is adored in the figure of a rude stone, which I could just distinguish, thro' the dark vista of the front buildings, on pillars. Behind this building, an immense fig tree covers with its shade the devotees and attendants, who repose on seats placed round its trunk, and carpeted; among these was one Byragy who had devoted himself to a perpetual residence here, his sole subsistence was the milk of a cow which I saw him driving before him, an orange colored rag was tied round his loins, and his naked body was besmeared with ashes." "It appears that the God Mallecarjee is no other than the Lingum to which such reverence is paid by certain casts of Gentoos." Captain Mc'Kenzie adds a curious account of the manner in which the lingum was shewn to him, by means of a mirror reflecting the rays of the sun upon it, and describes it as "a small oblong roundish white stone, with dark rings, fixed in a silver case."

† see Wilkes' South of India.

‡ The present Nabob of Kurnool, a tributary of the East India Company, in whose territory this Pagoda is situated, collects on this occasion a considerable revenue from the pilgrims; to secure which, he deposes an officer with a certain number of Sepoys: but, with that intolerant bigotry, which more or less influences all who profess the faith of Mahomed, he has resisted every application from the Hindoos to be permitted to repair this very ancient temple, which is now fast falling to decay.

The second lingam at Caleswarum, visited occasionally by a great concourse of pilgrims, is situated on the spot where Arrowsmith places Callysair Ghaut on the Godavary, and is the same that is described by Captain Blunt, in the seventh volume of the Asiatic Researches, under the name of a Pagoda sacred to Cali, standing on the very boundary of Telingana, where the Baun Gunga joins the Godavary. †

I have not yet succeeded in establishing to my satisfaction the site of the third lingam, worshipped under the name of Bheemeswara, which I am inclined to believe is the same as Bheema Shenker, the sixth of the twelve Jyotee lingums, enumerated in the Sheev Pooran, and there stated to be situated in the Deccan. The best informed natives give a very vague account of the site of this temple, some asserting it to be in the Northern Circars, where it is known by the name of Dracharamum, others in the western Ghauts, or, as they describe it, "towards Poona"—A Temple of this name is cursorily mentioned by Dr. Francis Buchanan as standing in the immense chain of hills which runs along the western side of the Peninsula; and, as this is near the southwest junction of the Mahratta, Mysore, and Telingana territories, it is perhaps the third lingam *—Be this as it may, the situations of the two other lingums sufficiently evince the correctness of the tradition which describes them as the boundaries of the country termed Tri-lingum, subsequently known to the Mahommedan conquerors of the Deccan under the modified name of Telingana; for the

† "I might now" says Captain Blunt "be said to have entered upon those parts of India known by the name of Telingana—The inhabitants of which are called Telingahs and speak a language peculiar to themselves—This dialect appears to bear a strong resemblance to what in the Circars is called Gentoos—After the heat of the day, and length of the march, our situation close to the river had a very refreshing and pleasing effect—I was highly delighted with the romantic view which the confluence of the Godavery and Baun Gunga rivers now presented—I could see quite up to the fort Suruncha, and an opening beyond it likewise shewed the junction of the Inderwotty river with the latter—The blue mountains and distant forests which terminated the prospect rendered the whole a very sublime and interesting scene—There is a small Pagoda sacred to the Hindoo Goddess Cali, situated on the north east bank of the river, at the confluence, which imparts it's name to this passage over the Gunga Godavery, called Calesair Ghaut, and annually draws a great concourse of pilgrims, who from ideas of purification come to wash in the waters of the confluent streams."

* "Dr. Buchanan's travels Vol. III Chapter XVI Page 134—"At Sheraly is a river called Sheraly-tari-which comes from a temple on the Ghauts that is termed Bhimesara"—N. B. Sheraly is placed by Arrowsmith to the South of Onore on the Coast of Canara, under the name of Serowly"—in the latitude of which the boundaries of the three countries abovementioned meet.

northern and southern limits of Telingana proper, as exhibited in our best maps, will be found to coincide very nearly with the sites of these two temples.

In further confirmation of this tradition, it may be noticed that Ptolemy mentions "Triglyphon vel Trilingum regia" † but places it beyond the Ganges; and that Pliny, alluding to the same region, under its purer name of Modogalingum ‡ makes it an island in the Ganges—" Insula in gange est magnæ amplitudinis, gentem continens unam, Modogalingum nomine."

Inaccuracies respecting situation are not uncommon in the writings of the ancients relative to Indian geography, and those which have just been mentioned, with some other similar inconsistencies, may perhaps be reconciled, by supposing that under the name of the Ganges, either the Ganges proper, or the Godavery, may occasionally be understood. In the Peninsula, each of these rivers is known by the name of the Gunga, and they are looked upon as sister streams. The Godavery is here considered the elder of the two, perhaps from its being the first known to the inhabitants of these regions; and the Ganges proper is deemed the more holy, apparently from the present religion of India, having originated, or been more early established, on its banks. The ancient books* of the Hindoos, indeed, bear testimony that, even in the most remote times, these two rivers have occasionally been considered as one; for, in more than one place the Sicacollum of Arrowsmith, which stands in the Masulipatam district, a little above the mouth of the Krishna, is the Sanscrit name for a peculiar red or whitish crow.

† He adds, in hac galli gallinacei barbati esse dicuntur, et corvi et psittaci albi. శ్రీ కామేశ్వరము.

‡ It has been already stated that Tri and Modoga are synonymous terms.

 So intimate is the connexion between these two rivers, that those who carry the sacred water of the Ganges to the south of India, when they arrive on the banks of the Godavery, invariably replace the water of the Ganges, evaporated on the journey, by water taken from its sister stream the Godavery. The whole is notwithstanding considered to be the pure water of the Ganges, and this ceremony is never omitted. If it were, it is believed, and perhaps with reason, that the water would disappear before it could reach Rameswarum.

* In the Vayu Puran the course of the Ganges is thus described "The Ganges flows through the Gandharvas, Cinnaras, Yaeshas, Raeshsas, Vidyadharas. (Uragas or large snakes; these are tribes of demons good and bad in the hills) Calapagramacas, Paradas, Sviranas, Svasas, Ceratas, Palindas, Curavas, in Curu about Tanehsar, Sam-Bharatas, Panchalas, C'asi or Benares, Matsyas, Magadhas (or south Behar) Brahmottaras, Angas, Bangas, Calingas." &c. Asiatic researches Vol. 8th. Essay on the sacred isles in the west.

in the Poorans, the Ganges proper is described as passing through Calinga, a country which we know to be the region watered by the Godavery*. So far, therefore, as regards the course of the Ganges through Calinga, described in these ancient books, it must be the Godavery to which they allude.

From the adjective Trilinga, by a general grammatical rule † is derived Tilinga, † or as it is more generally written Telinga—From Tilinga also, by corruption, the Native Grammarians derive the words Tenoogoo and Teloogoo which is the name now generally given to the language in the country where it is spoken.—The little resemblance between Tenoogo or Teloogoo, and Telinga, may induce an English reader to question this derivation: but, as I have remarked in a subsequent part of this work, great deference is due by a foreigner to the testimony of Native Authors; and when it is considered that many words have passed into Teloogoo through the medium of the Pracrit, or other corrupted dialects of the Sanscrit, and have been naturalized in it for ages, the little connexion now to be traced between some original words, and their corruptions, ought not alone to invalidate the established etymologies of successive Grammarians.—It may not be irrelevant, however, to observe, that Teloogoo may possibly be derived from the adjective Tellu.  fair, white, an appellation which might with much propriety be applied to the people of Telingana, compared with the neighbouring nations;

In the Brahmanda Pooran, also, the course of the Ganges is thus described. “The southern branch goes to Gadhamandana from hill to hill, from stone to stone; it encirclea the forest of Gadhamandana or Deva-nandana, whence it is called Alacananda, it goes to the Northern lake, called Manasa, thence to the king of mountains with three summits, thence to the Mountains of Calinga.” Asiatic Researches Vol. 8th. Essay on the sacred isles in the west.

* Asiatic Researches Vol. III article 3d.

‡ The reader is requested to refer to the conclusion of the second Chapter of the grammar.

† Tilinga is mentioned in the Brahmanda Puran as an inland Country, situated between Casicosala or Benares, and Magadha. Vol. 8th. of the Asiatic Researches. Essay on the sacred isles in the west.

 The participle అగు (the same as అయిన) may be added to each of these words, used adjectively, which thus became తెల్లగు Tellugoo and తేనగు Tenugoo respectively. These derivations, however, are not free from objection, for they are not in strict conformity to the grammatical rules for Sundhi.

and that Tenoogoo may be translated sweet, from Tene, honey, a denomination by no means inapplicable to a language that has often been termed the Italian of the East.

The Country known by the name of Modogalingum or Trilingum appears to have been subdivided, at a very early period, into the Calinga and Andhra provinces. *Calinga stretched northwards along the coast, from the Godavery towards the Ganges; including those regions which are situated in the vicinity of the second lingum at Caleswarum, from which it probably took its name *Calingum—The nation is mentioned by Pliny as “Calingæ proximi mari” and “Gentes gangaridum Calingarum” and the people and language of Telingana are still known to the inhabitants of the Eastern islands by no other name than Caling or Keling‡ Andhra, whence the first ancient dynasty of Hindoo Emperors appear to have derived their name, seems to have been an inland subdivision to the south of the Godavery, greater in extent than Calinga. Pliny, after specifying the names of several Indian nations, alludes to the Andhræ as a superior people “Validior deinde gens Andhræ plurimis vicis XXX oppidis, quæ muris turribusque muniuntur; regi præbet peditum C. M. equitum M. M. elephantos M.”—and Andhra, which is the name given to the Teloogoo by all Sanscrit Grammarians who have written respecting it, continues to be the current appellation of the language in many parts of the Country.

The most ancient Teloogoo Grammarian of whom mention is made in the native books is the sage Kunva, who is said to have been the first that composed a treatise

* It has been already noticed that Telinga is mentioned in the Brahmunda Pooran, as situated between Casi-cosala and Magadha, that is between Benares and Bahar proper—Calinga is mentioned in the same Pooran, as situated between Cosala and Banga; in other words, between Benares and Bengal proper—8th Vol: of the Asiatic Researches.—Essay on the sacred isles of the west—This proves the two to have been at least contiguous, but the one is generally understood to have been a subdivision of the other.—

on the principles of the language. It † is stated that he executed this work by command of a king of Andhra, named Andhra royoodoo, son ‡ of Soochundra who reigned at Siccacollum on the banks of the Krishna. On the death of Soochundra, Andhraroyoodoo quitted the capital of Siccacollum, and established his residence on the banks of the Godavery—possibly at Rajahmundry, which we afterwards find mentioned as the capital of the Kings of the Chalookia race. Many fabulous accounts of the feats of this prince are current in Telingana, and such has been the veneration of the people for his virtues, that they have deified him as an incarnation of the God Vishtnoo, in which character he is still worshipped at the ancient capital of Siccacollum § near Masulipatam.

The works of Kunva, of Audharvan Achary, and of several other ancient Grammarians, are not now to be found. All the treatises on Telooogo grammar, at present extant, consist of Sanscrit commentaries, and a series of concise apothegms written in Sanskrit by a Bramin named Nannapa, or Nunniah Bhutt. The text of Nunniah Bhutt, as explained by his best commentators, has been my principal guide in the work which I now offer to the Public; but as the illustrations, comparisons, and arrangement of these Authors are borrowed exclusively from the language in which they compose, and from a system of grammar the most artificial perhaps ever invented by human ingenuity, I have adhered

Nunniah Bhutt, the author of the apothegms above mentioned, undertook also the herculean labor of translating the voluminous Mahabarut from Sanscrit into Teloogoo verse; and although he did not live to finish this work, which was subsequently completed by Tickuna Somiazooloo, he succeeded in immortalizing his memory in this part of India, by rendering this book the great standard of Teloogoo poetry. We learn from the introduction to * the Teloogoo Mahabharut that Nunniah Bhutt was cotemporary with the King Vishtnoo Vurdhana,  of the Shiva sect and Chalookia race, who reigned at Rajahmundry on the banks of the Godavery. Colonel Wilkes, § in his Historical Sketches of the South of India, makes the Chalookia race more ancient than the Cadumba kings of Bunawassi, whose dynasty is stated to have been subverted in the second century of the christian æra. If this be admitted, the works of Nunniah Bhutt may boast of great antiquity.

Affectionately protecting the inhabitants of his Empire—receiving, with satisfaction, the tribute of foreign Sovereigns, whose kingdoms had been subdued by him, and humbling the pride of those princes who haughtily withheld payment—illuminating the corners of the world with his commands—protecting the whole race of Bramins—shielding the timid who solicited shelter—compassionately bestowing the most excellent and extensive Agraharams on the first born men (Bramins)—enlightening vast wealth by celestial enjoyment—and thus following the precepts of Menu, lived Vishtnoo Vurdhana, the increaser of his race. He, the ornament of the Chalookia family, constantly enjoying the glory of his vast empire—residing, with excessive delight, and with the splendour of the great Indra, in his capital of Rajahmahendra, which is the chief gem of the Vegu Empire, the great ornament of the goddess of the Earth, (encompassed by the waters of all the oceans)—attended, in his superb palace, which is the seat of glory of the whole world, by Ministers, Priests, Generals, Chamberlains, Counsellors, Magistrates, neighbouring princes, and beautiful damsels—and surrounded by Grammarians, skilled in the boundless doctrines of articulate sounds, Historians, acquainted with the Bharata, Rámayanum, and all the Poorans, Great Poets, celebrated for clothing the most pleasing and gentle images in the sweetest verse, famous Philosophers, skilled in all the sublime sciences, and diving into the ocean of abstruse reasoning, and many other learned men—amusing himself with study—deeply interested in agreeable history, and experienced in the rules of justice—sitting, with delight, thus affectionately addressed the venerable and virtuous Nannapa, the Brahmin and affectionate adherent of his family, incessantly devoted to sacrifice and meditation, author of a copious grammar, skilled in the Sumhetas, fully versed in various Poorans, such as the Bramhanda &c. a meritorious man, the follower of the aphorisms of Apastamba, born in the gotram of Mudgola, commended by virtuous men, pure in his actions, experienced in worldly affairs, in wisdom like Broohusputee, celebrated for composing poetry in both languages, famed for genius, a speaker of truth which is everlasting. The king then proceeds to request that he will translate the Mahabharat.

 This prince must not be confounded with another Vishtnoo Vurdhana, who reigned in the eleventh century of our era, but who was neither of the Chalookia race, nor of the Shiva sect; he was a Tilinga king of the Bellal dynasty, and was converted from the jain religion to the sect of Vishtnoo, by the famous Rama Anuj Achary, the head of the Shri Vaishnavas or Ayengars, one of the three great sects into which the Hindoos of the Peninsula are now divided.

Although the Teloogoo would thus appear to have been a cultivated language at a very early period, it is hardly to be expected, among the different political and religious convulsions which have so often violently agitated the Deccan, that many of the productions of so remote an age should have reached these times. Accordingly, with the exception of the abovementioned works of Nunniah Bhutt, and some books composed towards the close of the twelfth century, during the reign of Pertaub Roodroo, one of the last kings of the Bellal dynasty, which succeeded that of Cadumba, we find that nearly all the Teloogoo works now current in the country were written after the dissolution of the ancient government of Telingana, and the establishment of the more modern empire of Vidianagara.

On the capture of Warunkul, † The capital of the Bellal Kings of Telingana, by the Pattans, A. D. 1323, certain officers of these ancient princes are stated to have emigrated to the southern provinces, where they founded the celebrated city of Vidianagara or Vizianagara, the Bijanagur of Arrowsmith, and established a new dynasty of twenty princes* known by the name of Raya or Royaloo, who gradually extended their sway all over the South of India, and reigned from the commencement of the fourteenth to the close of the sixteenth century. Of these kings, the most celebrated was Krishna Royaloo, a prince who reigned during the earlier part of the sixteenth century. He is highly renowned in Telingana for his piety in repairing the numerous temples in the Carnatick, (Here the Account terminates in a prophetic announcement of a Deliverer of the Hindoo Race.) From circumstances, observes Colonel McKenzie, we may infer that this account was written A. D. 1630.

* By an inscription on the great tower erected over the grand entrance into the famous Shiva temple at Conjeveram, which is supposed to be the highest building of the kind in India, we find that it boasts of this prince as it's founder.

A great number of books, composed during the reign of Krishna Royaloo, are still to be found in the libraries of the present Polygars, of whom many in the Northern Districts, as far as Nellore, and several in the South, are descended from the former officers of the Vidianagara government: but the intolerant zeal of the Mahommedans, whose irruptions into the South of India terminated in the overthrow of the Vidianagara Empire, has left of the more ancient Telooگو works little else remaining than the name. §

The works still extant, however, are sufficiently numerous and various to evince the great degree of refinement to which the Telooگو has attained. Few languages will be found more copious, more nervous, or more regular in construction, and it may boast, in a peculiar manner, of great elegance of expression, and melody of sound. Under the fostering auspices of the British Government, it is confidently hoped that the Telooگو may recover that place which it once held among the languages of the East, and that the liberal policy of the Legislature † may be successful in renewing, among the Natives of Telingana, that spirit of literature and science, which formerly so happily prevailed among them, and still so much endears to their remembrance the days of the most enlightened of their Hindoo Rulers.

Nearly the whole body of Telooگو literature consists of Poetry, written in what may be termed the superior dialect of the language; but so different is this from the inferior or colloquial dialect, in common use among all classes of the § Having heard that a number of poems, engraved on some thousand sheets of copper, had been preserved by the pious care of a family of Bramins in the temple on the sacred hill at Tripetty, I deputed a Native for the purpose of examining them; but, with the exception of a treatise on Grammar, of which a copy was taken, the whole collection was found to contain nothing but voluminous hymns in praise of the deity.

† The following is an extract from the act of the British Parliament to which I allude. "And be it further enacted, that it shall be lawful for the Governor General in Council to direct, that out of any surplus which may remain of the rents revenues and profits, arising from the said Territorial acquisitions, after defraying the expenses of the Military, Civil, and Commercial Establishments, and paying the Interest of the Debt, in manner herein-after provided, a sum of not less than one Lack of Rupees in each year shall be set apart and applied to the revival and improvement of literature, and the encouragement of the learned Natives of India, and for the introduction and promotion of a knowledge of the science among the Inhabitants of the British Territories in India.

people, that even to the learned, the use of commentaries is indispensable for the correct understanding of many of their best works. This peculiarity of two dialects is common to the Teloogoo, with the Tamil and the Karnataca. In the course of this work, I propose to give all the rules for the superior dialect, as being that from which the other is derived, but I shall carefully notice the peculiarities of the common dialect. The reader will bear in mind that in conversation and official business, the inferior is used to the entire exclusion of the superior dialect, and that in all books or studied compositions, a contrary rule obtains.

Such as have acquired a knowledge of the Teloogoo language merely with a view to colloquial intercourse with the people, or to the transaction of official business, and have confined their studies exclusively to the inferior dialect, may accuse me of entering on an unprofitable and unnecessary task, in treating of the other, which, in their estimation, may be deemed altogether foreign to the Teloogoo. An attentive examination of the two may possibly lead to a very different conclusion: at all events, as this work is intended as much to enable the student to understand the rules which regulate the classical compositions of the Natives, as to teach him to speak or write the common Teloogoo, I have deemed it my duty to follow the Native Grammarians by tracing the language to it's original source in the superior dialect—at the same time, I have not neglected it's more useful branches in the inferior dialect, which, as being vulgar, Native authors have considered beneath the notice of the learned.

The Teloogoo is spoken with the greatest purity in the Northern Circars, and with much of it's native simplicity by the Ratsawars, Velmawars, and other superior classes in those districts. More conversant with arms, however, than with books, the Ratsawars* and Velmawars are in general ignorant of the principles of their own tongue. Indeed the three inferior classes of Telingana, unlike their neighbours of the Tamil Nation, seem to have abandoned the culture of their language, with every other branch of literature and science, to the sacred tribe. The Vussoochuritra is the only Telooگو work of note not composed by a Bramin. But, with the manners and habits of their ancestors, the Velmawars, Comtees, and Soodra casts, descended from the aborigines of the country, retain a great deal of the original language of Telingana, and are more sparing in the use of Sanscrit words than the Bramins.

* The affecting tale of the Zemindar of Boobily, related by Orme, is one of many that might be quoted, in elucidation of the nice sense of honor, and romantic bravery, inherent in this fine race of men. Our want of sufficient attention to their habits and customs, rather than any callous disregard for their prejudices, has occasionally driven others of this tribe to similar acts of self destruction, which are much to be deprecated, and which, indelibly imprinted on the minds of the people, materially affect the popularity of our Government.

It has been very generally asserted, and indeed believed, that the Telooگو has its origin in the language of the Vedums, and many of the most eminent oriental scholars have given their authority in support of this opinion. It is not without much deference, therefore, that I venture publicly to state my inquiries to have led me to contrary conclusion; but I do so with the less hesitation, as I find myself supported by the concurrent evidence of all Native Authors who have ever written on the subject of the Telooگو language.

On this, and on several other material points connected with the structure of the Telooگو, I regret that my sentiments should be entirely at variance with those of so celebrated an orientalist as Dr. Carey, one of the learned Professors in the College of Fort William, to whom the Public are indebted for a very copious Grammar of the Sanscrit language, and for a series of works on the elements of the spoken dialects of India. In the preface to a Telinga Grammar, which issued from the press after the present work had been completed and submitted to Government, Dr. Carey writes as follows, "The languages of the South of India i. e. the Telinga, Karnata, Tamil, Malayala, and Cingalese, while they have "the same origin with those of the North" (viz. the Sanscrit) differ greatly from "them in other respects: and especially in having a large proportion of words the "origin of which is unascertained; or, as he afterwards terms them, words current "in the country, దేశ్యము, of which the derivation is uncertain."

While I coincide in opinion with Dr. Carey that, "among these five languages, "the Telinga appears to be the most polished, and though confessedly a very "difficult language, it must be numbered with those which are the most worthy "of cultivation, it's variety of inflection being such as to give it a capacity of "expressing ideas with a high degree of facility, justness, and elegance"; with deference, I submit that he has given an erroneous view of the structure and derivation of the Telooogo. In common with every other tongue now spoken in India, modern Telooogo abounds with Sanscrit words, perhaps it has a greater proportion of them than any of the other southern dialects; nevertheless there is reason to believe that the origin of the two languages is altogether distinct.

With the exception of a few letters peculiar to Sanscrit words, and evidently taken from the Nagree alphabet, the round and flowing characters of the Telooogo bear no resemblance to the square Devanagrec: and even if the Telooogo alphabet were found to be derived from the Nagree, it would only prove that the people of Telingana had borrowed the invention of a more civilized nation. The origin of their language might still be as different from that of their alphabet, as the origin of our present Roman characters, from that of our Saxon words.

It has already been mentioned that all the Native Telooogo Grammars are written by Bramins, in the Sanscrit tongue; and that their arrangement of the alphabet, their illustrations, and their comparisons, are necessarily borrowed from the language in which they write. This circumstance might justify the supposition that the Bramins were the first who cultivated the Telooogo, and brought it under fixed rules: but it cannot be urged in proof of any radical connexion between the Telooogo and the Sanscrit.

It has also been noticed that, in speaking the Telooogo, the Soodras use very few Sanscrit words: among the superior classes of Vysyus, and pretenders to the Rajah cast, Sanscrit terms are used only in proportion to their greater intimacy with the Bramins, and their books; and, when we find even such Sanscrit words as these classes do adopt, pronounced by them in so improper and rude a manner as to be a common jest to the Bramins, who, at the same time, never question their pronunciation of pure Teloogoo words, I think we may fairly infer it to be probable at least that these Sanscrit terms were originally foreign to the language spoken by the great body of the people.

Some Native Grammarians * maintain that, before the King Andhraroyadoo † established his residence on the banks of the Godavery, the only Teloogoo words were those peculiar to what is emphatically termed the pure Teloogoo, now generally named the language of the land, which they consider coeval with the people, or as they express it “created by the God Brimha.” The followers of this prince, say they, for the first time began to adopt Sanscrit terms with Teloogoo terminations, and by degrees corruptions from the Sanscrit crept into the language, from the ignorance of the people respecting the proper pronunciation of the original words. This would imply that the nation still retain some faint remembrance of those times, in which their language existed independent of the Sanscrit ; and it is certain that every Teloogoo Grammarian, from the days of Nunnia Bhutt to the present period, considers the two languages as derived from sources entirely distinct ; for each commences his work by classing the words of the language under four separate heads, which they distinguish by the respective names of దేశ్యము language of the land, తత్సమము Sanscrit derivatives, తద్భవము Sanscrit corruptions, and గ్రామ్యము provincial terms. To these, latter authors have added అన్య దేశము foreign words or those from other lands.

As this arrangement is essential to a proper illustration of the structure of the Telooگو language, it will be adhered to in the following work. Of the different classes of words specified above, the first only are mentioned in the Telinga Grammar by Dr. Carey; the first is there stated to comprize "words current in the country of which the derivaton is uncertain", a "large proportion" of which are allowed to be included in the language; the second is stated to contain "pure Sungskrita words;" and the third "words derived from the Sungskrita, "but written and pronounced differently."

The words included in the first class, which I have denominated the language of the land, are not only a "large proportion" of words, but the most numerous in the language, and the model by which those included in the other classes are modified and altered, from the different languages to which they originally belong. Why the origin of this class of terms is supposed to be unascertained has not been stated; nor can I conceive how so erroneous a conclusion could have been adopted; for the name given to them by all Sanscrit Grammarians, by the whole body of the people, and by Dr. Carey himself, at once points out their derivation. This name is దేశము, a noun used either as a substantive or an adjective, in the former sense denoting a country or land, in the latter, in which it is here used, implying that which belongs to the country or land; it marks the words in question, not as merely "current in the country," but as the growth and produce of the land; it would be difficult to define more precisely the origin of any words, and to this class must we look for the pure Telooگو—for the true language of the land.

The second class of words I have termed Sanscrit derivatives, and I prefer this denomination to that of "pure Sungskrita words" given to it by Dr. Carey; for although the words included in it contain the crude forms of pure Sanscrit words, they cannot appear in Telooگو in their original shape, but invariably assume terminations or undergo changes peculiar to the pure Teloogoo, or language of the land.

The third class of words which is generally mentioned by Dr. Carey as "derived from the Sungskrita," I have named Sanscrit Corruptions; it consists of words which have passed into Teloogoo, either directly from the Sanscrit, or through the medium of some of its corrupted dialects, such as the Pracrit, and which, in order to be assimilated to the language of the land, have undergone radical alterations, by the elision, insertion, addition, or subtraction of letters. these changes have been sometimes carried so far, that it is difficult to trace any connexion between the adulterated word and its original in Sanscrit.

In the course of this work, it will be obvious to the Sanscrit scholar that the declension of the noun, by particles or words added to it—the use of a plural pronoun (మనము) applicable to the first and second persons conjointly—the conjugation of the affirmative verb—the existence of a negative aorist, a negative imperative and other negative forms in the verb—the union of the neuter and feminine genders in the singular, and of the masculine and feminine genders in the plural, of the pronouns and verbs—and the whole body of the syntax, are entirely unconnected with the Sanscrit; while the Tamil and Karnataca scholar will at once recognize their radical connexion with each of these languages. The reader will find all words denoting the different parts of the human frame, the various sorts of food or utensils in common use among the Natives, the several parts of their dress, the compartments of their dwellings, the degrees of affinity and consanguinity peculiar to them, in short all terms expressive of primitive ideas or of things necessarily named in the earlier stages of society, to belong to the pure Teloogoo or *language of the land. It is true, (so mixed have the two languages now become) that Sanscrit derivatives or corruptions may, without impropriety, be occasionally used to denote some of these. This, however, is not common, the great body of Sanscrit words admitted into the language consists of abstract terms, and of words connected with science, religion, or law as is the case, in a great degree, with the Greek and Latin words incorporated with our own tongue : but even such Sanscrit words as are thus introduced into Telogoo are not allowed to retain their original forms, they undergo changes, and assume terminations and inflections unknown to the Sanscrit, and, except as foreign quotations, are never admitted into Telogoo until they appear in the dress peculiar to the language of the land.

This brief notice of the structure of the Telogoo seemed necessary, in order to explain the principles on which the following chapters are founded : the further consideration of the subject I leave to others, as the prolonged discussion of it is foreign to a work of this nature. I am inclined, however, to believe that the Telogoo will be found to have its origin in a source different from the Sanscrit, a source common perhaps to the Telogoo, with the superior dialects of the Tamil and Karnataca. But the introduction of Sanscrit words into this language must have taken place at so remote a period, as to be now almost beyond the reach of inquiry. With the religion of the Bramins, the people of Tilingana could not fail to adopt much of the language of that extraordinary tribe ; their constant intercourse with each other for a long series of years has necessarily confirmed this intermixture of language, and it must be admitted that the Telogoo has been as much improved by adopting an indefinite number of words from the Sanscrit, as our own tongue has been ameliorated by borrowing from the more refined languages of Greece and Rome.

Having concluded the few introductory remarks which I had to offer to the reader in explanation of the plan of my work, I avail myself of this occasion to make my public acknowledgments for the assistance with which I have been favoured in the course of its progress.

To my friend Mr. Stokes of the civil service on this establishment, who did me the favour to peruse the manuscript before it was submitted to the Government, I owe many valuable suggestions ; and I am under particular obligations to my colleagues in the Board of Superintendence for a most laborious and critical examination of the whole work. Mr. Ellis and Archdeacon Mousley are in a special manner entitled to my thanks ; for their criticisms enabled me to correct many imperfections that had otherwise escaped my notice.

In examining the principles inculcated by the best native grammarians, I was assisted by my Teloogoo instructor Woodiagherry Vencatanarrain Ayah, a young bramin of superior intelligence and remarkable acquirements, who, by his own merits alone, subsequently rose to the situation of Head English master at the College of Fort St. George, and lately to the more honorable office of Interpreter to the Supreme Court of judicature at the Presidency. He generally sat by me while I wrote the notes from which this Grammar has been compiled, and I may therefore be said to have availed myself of his aid and advice throughout the work.

I have only further to add that on all intricate points of grammar I have invariably consulted the learned Pundit Putabhi Rama Sastry Head Sanscrit and Teloogoo master at the College, and where I found the native grammarians at variance, have been regulated chiefly by his opinions, in attempting to reconcile their differences, or in selecting that authority to which the preference has been given.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be clearly documented, including the date, amount, and purpose of the transaction. This ensures transparency and allows for easy reconciliation of accounts.

In the second section, the author provides a detailed breakdown of the monthly expenses. These include rent, utilities, groceries, and transportation. Each category is further subdivided into specific items, such as electricity, water, and fuel. This level of detail is crucial for identifying areas where costs can be reduced.

The third section focuses on income sources and how they are allocated. It lists various revenue streams and explains how a portion of the income is set aside for savings and investments. The author also discusses the importance of budgeting and how it helps in managing cash flow effectively.

Finally, the document concludes with a summary of the overall financial health. It highlights the progress made in reducing debt and increasing savings. The author expresses confidence in the current financial strategy and outlines future goals, such as paying off the remaining mortgage and starting a retirement fund.

NOTE TO THE INTRODUCTION,

In support of what I have ventured to advance, in the preceding introduction, on the subject of the structure and derivation of the Teloogoo language, it is peculiarly gratifying to me to be allowed to quote the high authority of my friend Mr. Francis W. Ellis, at the head of the Board of Superintendence for the College of Fort St. George, as contained in the following observations with which he has favoured me. The knowledge which this Gentleman possesses of the various spoken dialects of the Peninsula, added to his acquirements as a Sanscrit scholar, peculiarly qualify him to pronounce a judgment on this subject.

The real affiliation of the Telugu language appears not to have been known to any writer, by whom the subject has been noticed. Dr. Carey in the preface to his Sanscrit Grammar says—"The Hindoostanee and the Tamil, with the languages of Gujarat and Malayala, are evidently derived from the Sanscrit, but the two former are greatly mixed with foreign words. The Bengalee, Orissa, Maratta, Kurnata, and Telinga languages are almost wholly composed of Sanscrit words." In the preface to a Grammar of the Telugu lately published by him he, also, says—"The languages of India are principally derived from the Sanscrit": &c. "The structure of most of the languages in the middle and north of India, is generally the same, the chief difference in them lies in the termination of the nouns and verbs, and in those deviations from Sanscrit orthography which custom has gradually established in the countries where they are spoken. The languages of the south of India, i. e. The Telinga, Karnatic, Tamil, Malayala, and Cingalese, while they have the same origin with those of the north, differ greatly from them in other respects: and especially in having a large proportion of words, the origin of which is unascertained."—To this testimony Dr. Wilkins adds the weight of his authority, when he says in the preface to his Grammar of the Sanscrit—" the Tamil, the Telugu, the Carnatic, the Malabar, together with that" (the idiom) "of the Marratta states and of Gujrat so abound with Sanscrit, that scarcely a sentence can be expressed in either of them without it's assistance."—Mr. Colebrooke, also, in his dissertation on the Sanscrit and Pracrit languages in the 7th Volume of the Asiatick Researches, though he has not given so decided an opinion, yet, by including these under the general term Pracrit, appropriate only to dialects of Sanscrit derivation and construction, and by the tendency of his remarks, appears to favor the received notion of their origin; he states indeed in express terms that the Tamil (which word he writes Támla, deducing it from Támraparnà the Sanscrit name of the river of Tirunelvéli) is written in a character which is greatly corrupted from the present Dévanágari, and that both the "Carnata" and "Telingana" characters are from the same source. In arrangement the two latter, which are nearly the same, certainly follow the Nágari, but in the form of the letters, mode of combination, and other particulars, there is no resemblance; and the Tamil is totally different, rejecting all aspirates, and having many sounds which cannot be expressed by any alphabet in which the Sanscrit is written.

It is the intent of the following observations to shew that the statements contained in the preceding quotations are not correct; that neither the Tamil, the Telugu, nor any of their cognate dialects are derivations from the Sanscrit; that the latter, however it may contribute to their polish, is not necessary for their existence; and that they form a distinct family of languages, with which the Sanscrit has, in latter times especially, intermixed, but with which it has no radical connexion.

The members, constituting the family of languages, which may be appropriately called the dialects of Southern India, are the high and low Tamil; the Telugu, grammatical, and vulgar; Carnátaca or Cannádi, ancient and modern; Malayálma or Malayálam, which, after Paulinus a St. Bartholomæo may be divided into Sanscrit (Grandonico-Malabarica) and common Malayálam, though the former differs from the latter only in introducing Sanscrit terms and forms in unrestrained profusion; and the Tuluva, the native speech of that part of the country to which in our maps the name of Canara is confined.

Besides these, there are a few other local dialects of the same derivation, such as the Codugu, a variation of the Tuluva spoken in the district of that name called by us Coorg; the Cingalese, Mahàrástra and the Oddiya, also, though not of the same stock, borrow many of their words and idioms from these tongues. A certain intercommunication of language may indeed, always be expected from neighbouring nations, however dissimilar in origin, but it is extraordinary that the uncivilized races of the north of India should in this respect bear any resemblance to the Hindus of the south; it is, nevertheless, the fact, that, if not of the same radical derivation, the language of the mountaineers of Rájmahal abounds in terms common to the Tamil and Telugu.

The Telugu, to which attention is here more specially directed, is formed from its own roots, which, in general, have no connexion with the Sanscrit, nor with those of any other language, the cognate dialects of Southern India, the Tamil, Cannádi &c. excepted, with which, allowing for the occasional variation of consimilar sounds, they generally agree; the actual difference in the three dialects here mentioned is in fact to be found only in the affixes used in the formation of words from the roots; the roots themselves are not similar merely, but the same.

The roots of the Telugu Language, like those of the Sanscrit, are mostly the themes of verbs, but they may often be used in the crude form, or with a single affix, as nouns or adjectives, and many of them are used only in the latter acceptance; thus కుప్ప, as a noun, signifies a blow with the fist and is the root of the verb నుద్దహము to strike with the fist; thus also, నడు nadu, with the affix క ca, నడక Nadaca, signifies, as a noun, a step, progress, conduct, manner, and is the root of the verb నడవడము nadavadamu to walk. In this use of the roots, all the dialects differ; the root that is used as a noun only in Tamil and Telugu may serve as the theme of a verb in Cannadi, and vice versa: thus in Tamil the term அக்கறை, accarei is used as a noun in such impersonals sentences as எனக்கேకకறையிலலை yenac' accareiyillei, it is not a want to me—I do not require it; in Cannadi అక్కరియి accariy is the root of the verb అక్కరియిడు accariyudu to be desired—to be endeared to. It frequently happens, also, that a term occurs which cannot be referred to any root of the tongue to which it belongs, though it is readily traced to a radical in one of the cognate dialects; thus in the compound అగపడము agupadadamu, (which signifies in Telugu to take in the sense in which it is used in such sentences as అది ధూమము గానాకు అగపడింది adi dhūmamugà nācu agupadīndi, I take it to be smoke - దానికినర్హమునాక గపడ లేదు dānikin art,hamu nāc' agapada lēdu, I do not take, or comprehend, the sense of it, but in Tamil to take in general, seize, obtain, 35 కురివీఎనకకప్పట్టదు curivi yenac' agapattadu, I have caught the bird) the first member అగ aga or అగు agu has no separate meaning in Telugu, in Tamil அகம் agam signifies the interior and, in both languages, the root పడు padu to suffer.

To shew that no radical connexion exists between the Sanscrit and Telugu, ten roots in alphabetic order, under the letters A, C, P, and V, have been taken from the common d.hātu-málā or list of roots, and with them have been compared ten Telugu roots, under the same letters taken from a Telugu d.hātu-málā compiled by Patāb,hi-rāma Śāstri, the Head Sanscrit and Telugu Master at the College; these will be found in the following lists, the mere inspection of which will shew, that, among the forty Telugu roots, not one agrees with any Sanscrit root. To facilitate a comparison of the several languages treated on, each of which has a distinct alphabet, the Roman character is used throughout:

the orthography is generally that of Sir Wm. Jones, as explained in the 1st Volume of the Asiatic Researches, but the grave accent is used instead of the acute, to mark a naturally long syllable when final or formed by Sand,hi, and K, is occasionally substituted for C, before i and e in words belonging to the southern dialects only : other variations of trifling importance will be observed.

To shew that an intimate radical connection exists between the Telugu and other dialects of Southern India, fifteen roots have been taken in alphabetical order from the Dhātu-māla above mentioned, under the first vowel and first consonant, with which the correspondent roots of the Tamil and Cannādi are compared: the Tamil roots are from a list compiled by the Head Tamil Master at the College, compared with the Sadur Agarādi and other dictionaries and the Cannādi roots are from an old list explained in Sanscrit.

TELUGU.

CANNĀDI.

TAMIL.

Accarey to feel affection for, love.

This root, in Telugu accara and in Tamil accaret, is used as a noun, only in these languages.

Accalu to contract the abdominal muscles.

This root is never used without the formative syllable intsu in Telugu, isu in Can. which gives an active sense to primitive roots, and a causal sense to the derivative thēmes of verbs.

Aggalu to separate.

Accalu as in Telugu.

Agalu as in Telugu-also,
to become extended-to extend - lament.

Agal as in Telugu - also,
to keep at a distance - pass beyond.
Agayu. to call, play.

TELUGU.	CANNADI.	TAMIL.
	Agalu to dig.	Agazh as in Cannadi in which language the Tamil zh is usually converted into í.
Aggalu to become insufferable - be excessive.	Agey to be afraid - be pleased.	Agei to beat - cut - break in two.
Aggu to worship.		Ahgu to decrease. Angar to gape.
Ats to give by compulsion-incur debt.	Atchu as in Telugu. The consonant in this root, which agrees with the first of the second series of consonants in the Sanscrit alphabet, is pronounced tsa and cha in Telugu; cha in Can. and sa , sha , cha , and ja in Tam. according, as it is final or medial, single or double.
	Anju to be alarmed - fear - frighten.	Anju as in Can.
Antu to touch - stick or adhere - anoint the head.	Antu to join - stick together.	Antu to join - adjoin - approach - besit. This root, spelt with the same letters in the three dialects, is in Tamil pronounced Aadu .
Adangu } to be destroyed - submit - be subdued or suppressed. Anangu } Aanugu }	Adagu } to be contained - enclosed - subdued or suppressed - submit-recede. or } Adangu }	Adangu as in Can.
Adaru to shine - shoot at. In the second sense it takes the formative intu .	Adaru to ascend - climb ride.	Adaru to throng - press together - be connected.
Adalu to weep bitterly.
Adu to slap.	Adu to cook. . This root with a final e ade , means the same as in Telugu, and, also it to obtain-move.	Adu to join - be near - be connected - to kill - fight - cook. With a final ei this root means, as in Can. to obtain and, also, to unite.

NOTE. This root is the primitive of all those in the three languages commencing with the letters ad, in which the leading idea of nearness-junction, variously modified, is very apparent: the several modes of forming the second dary root by inserting a nasal before the final syllable, as in Andu, or Antu, or by adding the syllables ei or e, ar, al, gu, angu, &c. as here exemplified, is common to them all. This formation of a number of secondary roots from a primitive by the adjuncts mentioned, is constantly observable under every letter of the alphabet: the primitive is found sometimes in Tam. sometimes in Can. and sometimes in Tel. sometimes it exists in all three, sometimes in none of them.

TELUGU.	CANNADI.	TAMIL.

	Cachini to join together two things of the same kind - pair.	Casi to be moist or damp - to weep - entreat.
	Carchu to bite-wash rice.	Cada to pass beyond.
		Cadavu to pay - fulfill - give attention - reflect - nail up.
	Cattu to tie - build.	Cattu as in Can.
Cattu to tie - build - become pregnant, said of cattle only.
Cadugu to wash off, as dust from the hands - wash out, as stains from a cloth.		This root in Tamil is pronounced
		Cazhavu; da in Tel. and la in Can. are constantly substituted for the Tamil Zh ζ and roots of which the final is gu in the former end in the latter in vu ; thus the root meaning to stroke gently - caress is in Tam.
		Tazhuvu in Tel. Tadugu &c.
Cadangu } or } Canangu }	Cadangu as in Tel.	This root is not in Tam. but it is evidently the same in meaning and derivation with the two following,
} to swell - boil or bubble.	In both languages this verb is primarily used of water, and secondarily of the affections of the mind, in expressions similar to the sea swells, his anger boils, his wealth overflows.	the last of which, Cadu, is the primitive of all those commencing with Cad in the three languages.

Canalu to become angry - fade.

Canu to see - to bring forth a child.

Cappu to cover.

CANNADI.

Candu as in Tel.

Canam to become rancid - to acquire a bad taste or smell by smoke or keeping.

This root is used as a noun in Telugu in the same sense.

Canalu to kindle as fire - to become angry.

Cappu to dig a pit - excavate - hollow out.

TAMIL.

Candū as in Tel. & Can.

It has this meaning in Tam. when the last syllable is written rū but pronounced dū; when written with the same final consonant as in Tel. and Can. it signifies to be spoiled - to perish generally.

Canal and Candal } to become angry.

Used as a noun, Canal means fire.

In the first sense, to see, this root in the present and future of the Can. and Tam. is written with a long a and with the nasal of the third series of consonants Can and Canu; in the past it is short Canden-Candenu, as in Tel: the second sense is peculiar to the latter language; but Candū a calf in Tamil is evidently derived from it.

This root is not used in Tam. either in its Tel. or Can. sense, but it is evident that from it in the latter acceptation is derived the Tamil terms, Capparu a hollow bason carried by beggars, and Cappel a ship.

But though radical connection may be proved to exist between languages, their actual connection, as regards terms used for the expression of ideas, may not be intimate and it becomes necessary, therefore, to establish this point, to enter further into detail and compare the words of the three cognate dialects, as well as the roots whence they are derived. Māmidi Vencaya, the author of the Āndhra Dipaca, an excellent Dictionary of the Telugu, has, in the preface to this work, introduced a concise analysis of the language, the substance of which, as affording the means of making this comparison, is translated in the following paragraph.

“The modes of derivation in the Āndhra language are four; they are Tatsaman, Tadbhavan, Dēsyam and Grāmyam.

NOTE. Apabramsá means, literally, corrupted language; but the author says the word is not to be taken in this sense, but as the proper name of the dialect, and to this purpose quotes a verse from Appacavi, one of the commentators on the Nannayab,hattiyam, who states the same, and adds it was the speech of the goddess Saraswati in her youth, and that it’s terms, therefore, are without exception, pure. Words which have passed through this dialect to the Telugu are, however, more frequently used by the ‘Súdra tribes than by the Bráhmans.

The proportion of corrupt, or, more appropriately, permuted terms in Telugu of the several derivations above noticed, may be stated as follows; Sanscrit Tadb,havam one half; Prácrit, one quarter; Sauraséni one tenth; Mágad,hi one twentieth; the Paisáchi, Chúlícà, Apabramsá together one tenth. Mr. Colebrooke, in his dissertation on the Sanscrit and Prácrit languages, admits but of three distinctions; these two and the Mágad,hi, or Apabramsá, which he considers the same. The six Prácrits here enumerated, however, are six distinct dialects, each formed, as to terms, according to it’s own rules of permutation, but all following the idiom, collocation and, with special exceptions, the general grammar of the Sanscrit: in the Shadbáshà-chandricà by Lacshmid,hara, a joint grammar of the six Prácrits, after general rules applying to all, the Prácrit ἡ ἀρχαία (Pracṛitam mahārāstr' śdb,havam) is deduced immediately from the Sanscrit, the Saurasēni from the Pracṛit and Sanscrit and so on; the Māgadhī, Paisāchi, Chūclīca - Paisāchi, and Apabramsā, each declining a degree in purity and the last varying more than any of the rest from the parent stock; this, however, the author does not allow to be, as Mr. Colebrooke considers it, "a jargon destitute of regular Grammar," for he says—Apabhramsas tu bhūshāsyaḍ ab,hirādi girāncayah - cavi prayōg'ānerhetvān n'āpasabdās sa tu cwachit, Apabramsā is the language spoken in Ab,hīra and other countries, and, as it is used by the poets, it is not in any respect corrupted—and he proceeds, accordingly, to detail its grammatical rules.

The work here noticed is confined to these dialects, as they now exist in the Nātačas, and treats, therefore, only of Tatsamam and Tadb,havam terms of Sanscrit origin; it is expressly stated, however, that each possessed its proper Dēsyam, or native, terms, and it is probable, as many of these dialects prevailed in countries far distant from each other, that each was connected with Dēsyam words of various derivations, in conjunction with which they produced spoken languages differing considerably from each other; this in fact is declared to be the case with respect to Paisāchi in the following passage - Pisācha dēsa niyatam Paisāchi dweitayam viduh - Pisācha desāstu vrūdd,hair uctāh-Pāndya Cēcaya Chāhlica Sahya Nēpāla Cuntalāh Sud,hēsha B,hōta Gānd,hāra Hoiva Canōjanās tat,hā - Etē paisācha desās syus tad dēsyas tad guno bhavati. The two Paisāchi dialects are said to prevail in all the countries here mentioned, commencing with Pāndyam at the southern extremity of India, and extending to Canoj (Canōjāna) in the north, and Siam (Sayha) to the east, and it is added. These are the Paisāchi countries, and the Dēsyam terms of each have their own particular quality.

"Dēsyam, in other words And,hra, or Telugn, is of two kinds; the language which originated in the country of Telingana and Anya-dēsyam, or the language of foreign countries intermixed with it.

"OF TERMS WHICH ORIGINATED IN TRILINGAM.

"Previously to shewing what part of the language originated in Trilingam, the following stanzas from the Adharavana Vyácaranam are here inserted, to describe the country to which this name applies."

A quotation from the Adharavana Vyácaranam is omitted: the author explains that part which relates to the boundaries of Trilingam as follows:

"As it is here said, in the country between Srisailum, the station of Bhímés-wara at Dracharānam, the greater Cálés'waram and, as the fourth, the mountain of Mahéndra, in these holy places were three Lingams, and the language which originated in the country known by the name of the Trilinga Dés'am, is that now under consideration; this is the Atsu or pure Telugu, and is thus described in the Appacavíyam.

VERSE.

"All those words which are in use among the several races who are aborigines of the Country of Andhra, which are perfectly clear and free from all obscurity, these shine forth to the world as the pure native speech of Andhra (Suddha Andhra Dés'yam.)

"OF THESE THE FOLLOWING ARE EXAMPLES.

Pálu	milk.	Nela	the moon, a month.
Perugu	curdled milk.	Vésavi.....	} sultry weather.
Ney	clarified butter.	and
Rólu	a mortar.	Vésaugi.....
Rónali	a pestle.	Gúdi	a temple.
Utti	a long net for holding pots &c.	Madí	a field.
Pudami	the earth.	Puli	a tyger.
"Padātuca	a woman.	Tsali	cold.
Pasídi-paindi	gold.	Madúgu	a natural pool or lake.
Bangáru	gold.	U'ru	a village.
Cođucu	a son.	Magavandú	a man.
Cóđalu	a daughter in-law.	'Andadi	a woman.
Tala	the head.	Aluca	vexation-displeasure.

"OF TERMS INTRODUCED INTO TELUGU FROM FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

"The following verse is from the Appacavíyam.

"O Césava, the natives of Andhra having resided in various countries, by using Telugu terms conjointly with those of other countries, these have become 'Andhra terms of foreign origin.

"The people of 'Andhra, otherwise called Trilingam, have, as Appacavi states above, frequented other countries and mixed their language with that of these several countries; of such Anya-désyam terms the following are examples.

The examples are of Anya-désyam terms in which aspirates, not belonging to the thirty letters proper to the Telugu, occur: such as, b, halà an eulogistic exclamation; avad, háru an exclamation of entreaty; t, havu a place-station; d, húca a haughty, high spirited man: of those which have a final long vowel; such as, aná the sixteenth of a Rupee; navalà an excellent woman; códi a flag; jirà armour; and, lastly, of difficult words, inappropriately ranked among Any-adésyam terms; such as, calanu battle; toyveli a woman; ménu the body; ullamu the mind. Of the list given by the author as examples of the several kinds of Anya-désyam terms, the whole of the words in the first are of uncertain derivation: those in the second are either Hindustáni or they are terms the last syllable of which has been casually lengthened; thus códi, is the same as códi and navalá is either of Sanscrit derivation from nava new, or a native term from the Tamil navam affection. Most of those in the last list are common to the southern dialects; thus calanu, in Tamil cal, is derived from the root calá to join, common to the three dialects; toyveli, in Tamil taiyel, from tai to beautify, ménu, in Tamil méni, from mél upward-outward, and ullumu from ul inward-mind.

" OF TERMS AND FORMS OF RUSTIC OR VULGAR SPEECH.

"Terms which cannot be subjected to the rules of Grammar, and in which an irregular increment or decrement of letters occur are called Grámyam; they are corruptions, and are described in the following verse from the Appacaviyam.

VERSE.

"Such Tenugu words as are commonly used by rustic folk are known as Grámyam terms; these lose some of their regular letters and are not found in poetry, unless, as in abusive language, the use of them cannot be avoided, for example,

Vastádà Hari Somulu

Destádà golladanti dītāca caruṇaṇ

Tsústádà caungili nīd'

Istádà tsepamannaṇ iṇi grāmyōctul."

In this verse vastádà for vatstsunnándà; testádà for tetstsutsunnándà; tsústádà for tsútsutsunnádà; istádà for itstsutsunnándà and tsepamu for tseppumu, are Grāmyam terms

In the preceding extracts, the author, supported by due authority, teaches, that, rejecting direct and indirect derivatives from the Sanscrit, and words borrowed from foreign languages, what remains is the pure native language of the land: this constitutes the great body of the tongue and is capable of expressing every mental and bodily operation, every possible relation and existent thing; for, with the exception of some religious and technical terms, no word of Sanscrit derivation is necessary to the Telugu. This pure native language of the land, allowing for dialectic differences and variations of termination, is, with the Telugu, common to the Tamil, Cannadi, and the other dialects of southern India: this may be demonstrated by comparing the Désyam terms contained in the list taken by Vencaya from the Appacaviyam, with the terms expressive of the same ideas in Tamil and Cannadi. It has been already shewn that the radicals of these languages, mutatis mutandis, are the same, and this comparison will shew that the native terms in general use in each, also, correspond.

It would have been easy to have selected from the three dialects a far greater number of terms, than these, exactly agreeing with each other; but it is considered preferable to follow a work of known authority, and to which no suspicion of bias to any system can attach: the author, though a good Sanscrit scholar, was ignorant of all the dialects of southern India, his native tongue excepted.

Aluca vexation - displeasure.	Alappu. The only difference is the termination.

From the preceding extracts and remarks on the composition of the Telugu language, as respects terms, it results that the language may be divided into four branches, of which the following is the natural order. Dés'yam or Atsu-Telugu pure native terms, constituting the basis of this language and, generally, also, of the other dialects of southern India: Anya-dés'yam terms borrowed from other Countries, chiefly of the same derivation as the preceding: Tatsamam, pure Sanscrit terms, the Telugu affixes being substituted for those of the original language: Tadbhavam, Sanscrit derivatives, received into the Telugu, direct, or through one of the six Prácrits, and in all instances more or less corrupted. The Grámyam (literally the rustic dialect from Gránam Sans. a village) is not a constituent portion of the language, but is formed from the Atsu-Telugu by contraction, or by some permutation of the letters not authorized by the rules of Grammar. The proportion of Atsu-Telugu terms to those derived from every other source is one half; of Anya-dés'yam terms one tenth; of Tatsamam terms in general use three twentieths; and of Tadbhavam terms one quarter.

With little variation, the composition of the Tamil and Cannadi are the same as the Telugu and the same distinctions, consequently, are made by their grammatical writers. The Telugu and Cannadi both admit of a freer adoption of Tatsamam terms than the Tamil: in the two former, in fact, the discretion of the writer is the only limit of their use; in the high dialect of the latter those only can be used, which have been admitted into the dictionaries by which the language has long been fixed, or for which classical authority can be adduced; in the low dialect the use of them is more general—by the Bráhmins they are profusely employed, more sparingly by the Súdra tribes. The Cannádi has a greater and the Tamil a less proportion of Tadbhavam terms than the other dialects; but in the latter all Sanscrit words are liable to greater variation than is produced by the mere difference of termination, for, as the alphabet of this language rejects all aspirates, expresses the first and third consonant of each regular series by the same character, and admits of no other combination of consonants than the duplication of mutes or the junction of a nasal and a mute, it is obviously incapable of expressing correctly any but the simplest terms of the Sanscrit; all such, however, in this tongue are accounted Tatsamam when the alteration is regular and produced only by the deficiencies of the alphabet.

But, though the derivation and general terms may be the same in cognate dialects, a difference in idiom may exist so great, that, in the acquisition of one, no assistance, in this respect, can be derived from a knowledge of the other. As regards the dialects of southern India this is by no means the case, in collocation of words, in syntactical government, in phrase, and, indeed, in all that is comprehended under the term idiom, they are, not similar only but the same. To demonstrate this and to shew how far they agree with, or differ from, the Sanscrit, the following comparative translations of examples taken from the section on syntax in Dr. Wilkins Sanscrit Grammar have been made into Tamil, Telugu, and Cannádi; from these, also, will appear the relation these languages bear to each other in the minuter parts of speech and in casual and temporal terminations.

The construction of the Sanscrit sentence is as follows. The figures throughout refer to the collocation of the Sanscrit.

1. A noun in the 1st case plural governing 2 a verb in the 3rd. per. plu. pres. of sétè he sleeps. 3 a noun in the 2d case neu. used adjectively, composed of swa own and iram motion. 4 the 3d per. plu. pres. of the reiterative form, medial voice, of rauti he roars. 5 a conjunction. 6 a derivative from naraca by the taddhita affix án with the meaning of the 7th or locative case, being in a place. 7 the same as 4 from gáyati to sing. 8 the same as 5. 9 a compound formed of gitah a song and gnyah part. past act. (capratvya) from jánáti to know. 10 the same as 4 from mrityati to die. 11 a compound from rujā disease fem. and jitah past part. pas. (ctapratéya) from jayati to conquer.

The construction of the Telugu sentence is ;

1. Sans. a noun in the first case plural. 3 an adverbial phrase, formed from swé^hchch,ha, of Sanscrit derivation, being from swa own and ichch,hà desire, and gà, changed from cà by sandhi, the inseparable part. from cávadamu to become. 2 the 3rd pers. plu. of the compound present, formed by nidrintsutsu, the gerund of the present tense, derived from nidrā Sans. sleep, and unnáru, the third per. plu. pres. of undádamu to be-exist. 6 Sans. a noun in the seventh or locative case. 6. a compound formed by the aorist part. of undadamu and the plu. pro. vadu he- that man. 5 a conjunction ; it is inseparably attached to the word it conjoins. 4 an adverb qualifying the following verb. 4 the same as 2 from the Telugu verb aravadamu to roar. 9 the same as 1. 7 an adverb. 7 the same as 2 from the Telugu verb padadamu to sing. 11 Sans. a noun in the 3d, or instrumentive case. 11 a Telugu compound from cotta the inf. of cottadamu to beat, badda, by sandhi for padada, the past part. of padadamu to suffer, used to form the passive voice, and the plu. of vadu. 8 the same as 5. 10 Sans. an adverb. 10 the same as 2 from the Tel. verb tsavadamu to die.

The construction of the Cannadi is exactly the same as the Telugu, one or two of the compounds only differing.

3 is composed of Sans. adverb yatha as and ich,ha. The verbs marked 2,4,7 and 10 are not compounds. 6 the 7th case is formed by the adjunct alli place, united to naracada the genitive form of naracam. 7 is a compound used adverbially from ad,hica excessive, a Sans. crude noun, and agi the gerund of the past tense agavadu to become. The compound marked 11 is from the verbal noun hodayel the beating, instead of the inf. as in Tel.

The construction of the Tamil is ;

1 as in Tel. 3. the gen. plu. of the pronoun tan himself. 3 the gen. of manadu, from the Sans. mannas mind, will. 3. the dat. of padi a measure, used as a preposition and signifying according to. 2 a hybrid compound formed from nitterei, the same as nidra Sans. and pannudel to do-make, the Tamil seldom allowing a simple verb to be formed from a Sanscrit word with a long final vowel. 6 as in Tel. 6 a compound formed by ulla, indefinite part. of the defective verb ul to be-have, and avergal the plu. of the pro. aven he- that man. 5 as in Tel. 4 the neg. part. of nilludel to stand-stay. 4 this with 7 and 10 are simple verbs, as in Cannadi; not compounds, as in Tel. 9 an attributive noun from padudal to sing. 7 the inf. of migudel to increase, with the conjunction um used adverbially. 7 as in Cannadi. 11 as in Telugu. 11 a compound from oducca the inf. of oduccudel to oppress and pal'ta the same as in Tel. and Can. 8 as in Tel. 10 the neg. part. of curēidel to lessen. 10 as in Can.

In the preceding sentence the Sanscrit differs in every point from the southern dialects; in the following, the variation, except in the formation of cases, is not so great.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE SANSKRIT.

1 a noun sub. neu. in the 4th or dative case. 2 the same in the 2d, or ac. governed by the following verb. 3 the third person sing. pres. medial voice, governing the several accusatives in the sentence. 4 noun sub. masc. in the 1st or nom. 5, 6, 7 and 8 the same as 1 and 2 respectively. 9 a noun of quality agreeing with narah; this word méd,hávì, has the force of an adjective, though it is actually a substantive. 10 the same as 2. 11 and 12 the same as 1 &c.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE TELUGU.

9 a compound having the force of an adjective, formed by affixing, to the Sanscrit word, aina the past part. of cávađamu to become. 4 as in the Sans. formed by affixing the Tel. termination udu. 1 as in Sans. except that, in place of being declined, the case is formed from the sixth in cu by the adjunct orucu for the sake of; when orucu or ósaram, which has the same meaning, are added to this case the drüttam or nunnation, if interposed between the theme and affix is dropped; thus these compounds, though derived from danamunucu, become danamuc' orucu and dánamuc' ósaram. 2 as in the Sans. 5,6,8,7, 11 and 12, as in the Sanscrit, with the Tel. terminations and affixes; the two last are connected by the conjunction nu and, repeated after each. 10 as in the Sans. it takes the drüttam before the following d,ha. 3 the third person sing. pres. of d.harintsadamu to dress - assume, from the Sanscrit.

NOTE. The compound dative, answering to the Tádarthya chaturt, hi of the Sanscrit and to the noun governed by the proposition for in English, is formed in the three dialects from the fourth case in cu by the addition of the same or similar adjuncts; in Tel. by ai, orucu and ósaram; in Can. by ági and óscaram, and in Tamil by ága and ósaram: ai and ági, are the gerunds and ága is the inf. derived from the root á be - become; ósaram in Tel. signifies a side, inclination, bias, but this and orucu, from oray to join - obtain, intimately correspond with the English term sake, as, like the latter, they are used only in the formation of this dative, the meaning of which may always be appropriately expressed by the phrase for the sake of.

The Canadí construction is exactly the same as the Tel. the datives are formed by adding óscara for the sake of to the fourth case in cu. 11 and 12 ági, the gerund of the past tense of ágavadu to become, is added to these datives, and the conjunction copulative nu is changed to yu, to mark their special connection with the following word.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE TAMIL.

9 a compound having the form of an adjective from arivu knowledge and ul'lu the part of the defective ul' to have. 4 as in Sans. 1 the dative case formed by adding ága, the inf. of ádel to become, to the dative of declension in cu. The sentence does not differ, otherwise than as here noticed, from the Telugu.

In the following short sentence and all similar constructions the Sanscrit agrees exactly with the southern dialects.

Again, in constructions like the following, when the sati saptami, or ablative case absolute, is used, as in Latin, or when the relative pronoun occurs, the Sanscrit idiom is totally different from that of the southern dialects; in these there is no relative pronoun, but the interrogative may, as these examples will shew, be used for it.

In the Sanscrit sentence 3-4 and 5 have the form of the 7th or locative case and are in the grammatical connection, denominated the ablative case absolute;

in Tel. this meaning is expressed by the gerund of the present tense of the verb nasintsadamu, united with the inf. of undadamu to be, and followed by the inseparable gerund of Cavadamu to become; literally the destroying becoming to be. The Can. is the same except that instead of the inf. the verbal noun the being, is used. The Tamil differs; in this the future part. of the verb compounded of nasam Sans. destruction and adeidel to obtain-arrive is followed by the 7th case of poz, hadu time, and the literal meaning, therefore, is in the time in which (when) destruction shall have reached. Again 1 and 2, the relative and its antecedent, is in each of the southern dialects expressed by the interrogative pronoun yevadu with ò, the sign. of dubitative interrogation, added, either to it, or to the verb it governs, followed by the words respecting which the doubt is expressed, or the question asked, so that the sense is who may it be that is not destroyed? he. The relative, however, may be as well, if not better, expressed, by any of the participles followed by the word which in the Sanscrit connection, would be the antecedent; thus this example is properly in Telugu translated by ³ samastamaina ⁴ bh, utamaulu ⁵ nasintsutsundagá ¹⁻²⁻⁶ nasintsaniváñdu the last term being composed of nasintsani the negative of, nasintsadamu united with the indicative pronoun váñdu.

The preceding translations have been made into what may, not inappropriately, be called the Sanscrit dialect of the southern tongues; the terms employed being chiefly from that language, and, when they could be used without affectation, the same as in the original passages: in the translations of the following sentence, the pure native terms of the three dialects only are used-

The observations made on the preceding example, respecting the construction of the relative and antecedent in Sanscrit, and the modes of supplying it in the southern dialects, may be made on this. The original, in the work whence it is taken, exemplies the government of the fourth or dative case by the several verbs which therein occur; in Telugu and Cannadí these verbs do not govern this case, but the upapada dwitiya of the Sanscrit with the upaserga prati; this, in these languages, is expressed by the accusative governed by gurinchi or curitu-mark, determine, used as a preposition: in Tamil these verbs may have the same government, or as in the translation into this language, they may govern the dative, as in the Sanscrit, with the preposition for as explained in the note on the foregoing example.

In translating this last sentence into the southern dialects, the difficulty has rather been in the selection of appropriate terms whereby to express the shades of meaning which the verbs, in the original, convey; in general, however, it will be found difficult to express any sentiment clearly and precisely in Telugu or Cannadí, without using Sanscrit words in a greater or less proportion, while in Tamil, in the higher dialect (Shen Tamiz'h) especially, this may always be done with facility. Thus in the present examples, smarah, a name of the Indian Cupid, but signifying, the cause being put for the effect, love, is appropriately translated in Tamil nasel sexual love : in the other two dialects, however, there is no such native word, the Sanscrit cáman being used for it; tamacamu, the word substituted in Telugu, means lust merely, and soccu in Cannadí desire in general. Again, asapta the third person of the past tense lang of sapati he curses, cannot be rendered strictly into any of the three dialects, except by a term from the same root; tittádamu in Telugu, and bayvadu in Cannadí, mean to vilify-abuse, either of these, v being substituted for the b of the last, may be used in Tamil, but túridel is preferred, as it is more frequently applied when abuse by women is meant. Again hnuti in Sanscrit means to dissemble this is exactly rendered by bonkadamu in Tel. and Can. but poccam in Tam. though derived from the same root, scarcely extends to this meaning, nor is it in common use.

To enable a comparison to be made of the superior dialects of the southern languages with each other, and with the Sanscrit, the following versions of an English sentence have been made; they are necessarily in verse as this is the appropriate style of the three dialects and, and with the preceding observations, will sufficiently establish the positions maintained at the commencement of this note, relative to the affiliation of the Telugu.

CHAPTER FIRST.

TELOOGOO ALPHABET.

THE letters in the Teloogoo, as in most other Indian alphabets, are apt, on a first view, to appear unnecessarily numerous. Some syllables even seem admitted into the alphabet, as simple characters. The diphthongs are represented by separate signs, not, as in English, by the coalition of two vowels. There is one set of symbols for initial unconnected vowels; another for the same vowels when joined with consonants to form syllables; and in both of these, the long vowels are distinguished from the short. Among the consonants also, the aspirated letters are represented by distinct symbols, not by a combination, as in our own language; and the harsh are distinguished from the soft letters. But those who may at first question the utility of so many letters in the Teloogoo, will perhaps relinquish most of their objections, when they find that the variety of sound in this language is greater, and better represented, than in English. On the length of a vowel, on the harsh or soft pronunciation of a consonant, depends, in a thousand instances, the meaning of a word; and, consequently, it is of greater importance, in Teloogoo, that each different shade of sound should be accurately marked; than in our own language, in which, comparatively, few words materially resemble each other.

2 Notwithstanding the Teloogoo alphabet may be thought to contain some superfluous characters, it will readily be admitted that, in consistency, it is superior to our own. The sound attached to each letter remains constantly inherent in it: the coalition of words may cause one character to be changed for another, or may require the elision or the insertion of letters; but no association whatever can render any letter mute, nor can any change, or combination, give to one or more characters the sound belonging to another. The student, therefore, after once acquiring the correct sound of the Teloogoo letters, immediately pronounces every word with accuracy, and very little practice enables him to read with fluency and precision:—while a foreigner, who attempts to acquire a correct English pronunciation, scarcely ever arrives at the full attainment of his object. The proper pronunciation of our words, indeed, depends more upon the combination of our letters, than upon any fixed sound inherent in each separate character: and, in this respect, a person commencing the study of our language, for a long time, labors under the difficulties experienced by those, who are left to discover the meaning of the principal words in a sentence, without any other aid than what the context affords.

3 All Native Grammarians concur in reducing the number of letters in the Teloogoo alphabet to thirty seven; by excluding from it forty four characters which they acknowledge to belong to the language, but will not admit into the alphabet. They reject nineteen letters as peculiar to words of Sanscrit origin; fifteen small connected vowels, as only abbreviated forms of the large initial unconnected vowels; eight characters, as merely marks for certain consonants when doubled; and two, as contracted signs for certain letters which they have retained. But, in giving a general view of the Teloogoo alphabet, I shall insert all the letters which they have rejected; for they belong to the language, as much as those which they have admitted; and the whole are equally unknown to an English reader. Inclusive of these, the Teloogoo alphabet will be found to consist of no less than eighty one different symbols.

Of these eighty one letters, the initial vowels రు roo, రు roo, and లు loo, 4
 the ten aspirates ఖ h, hu, గ g, h, చ ch, h, జ j, h, త t, h, ధ d, h, ధ d, h, ప p, h, and బ b, h, the nasals గు gnu or nyu, and the consonants శి sh, శి sh, క్ష ksh, and ల l, are the nineteen characters stated by Teloogoo Grammarians to be peculiar to words of Sanscrit origin. To these, the connected vowels ధ roo, and ధ roo, should also be added. For, had not all the connected vowels been rejected from the alphabet, as marks instead of letters, a place would have been originally assigned to these two characters, in the list of symbols peculiar to Sanscrit derivatives.

Although the letter శి sh, is, as above stated, peculiar to Sanscrit, modern 5 authors admit, that, Sanscrit derivatives excepted, all Teloogoo words which have the letter స s, followed by the connected vowels యి ee, యి ee, or యి ee, may change the స s, into శి sh; hence, చేసి chēsi, or చేశి chēshi, having done.
 చేసెను chēsēnoo, or చేశెను chēshēnoo, he, she or it, did. సిగ్గు siggoo, or శిగ్గు shiggoo, shame.

The short initial vowels యి ee, యి ee, and their corresponding connected vowels 6 యి ee, యి ee, (excluded by Grammarians as being merely marks) together with the consonants ట ts, డ dzu, లు lu, రు rru, and న n, are to be found in words of the pure Teloogoo only.

The other letters of the alphabet are common to all Teloogoo words, whether 7 derived from the Sanscrit, or otherwise.

- 8 The letter ks/h has been included in the Alphabet; but, as it is a compound of $s k$ and sh , it is rejected by some authors.

INITIAL UNCONNECTED VOWELS.

- 9 The fifteen initial vowels, అ u , ఆ a , ఇ i , ఈ ee , ఊ o , ఊ oo , ఋ roo , ౠ roo , ౡ loo , ఎ \check{e} , ఏ \bar{e} , ఐ ue , ఒ \check{o} , ఓ \bar{o} , and ఔ uo , are emphatically termed by Teloogoo Grammarians ప్రాణములు lives, or living letters; because they are supposed to possess, within themselves, a perfect and independent existence or sound. They are purely initial, and are always written separately, unconnected with consonants or other characters. Like our capital letters, the initial vowels are to be found at the commencement of a phrase or sentence only, and never, in grammatical compositions at least, at the beginning of each word; except when words are written by themselves, as in a dictionary or vocabulary; for in a correct Teloogoo sentence, each word coalesces with the following one; the whole becomes a chain of continued links; and there is no beginning, or place for an initial vowel, except at the commencement of the sentence itself.
- 10 In naming these characters, the Sanscrit word కారము karumoo is affixed to each; thus, అ కారము ukarumoo u, ఇ కారము ikarumoo i, and so on.
- 11 The initial vowels are written on a line with the consonants, never either below, or above them.

CONNECTED VOWELS.

- 12 When combined with consonants to form syllables, the abovementioned vowels take quite a different shape. In this new form they are inseparable from consonants; and, from their constantly preserving a servile connection with some of these characters, Teloogoo writers have been induced to view them, in this shape, rather as abbreviated forms of the initial vowels abovementioned, than as independent letters. They are here again exhibited, opposite the initial vowels which they respectively represent; and the particular appellation given to each is attached to it.

అ u in it's connected form becomes. ✓ u which in Telooḡoo is named. తలకట్టు

The connected vowels ✓ u, → a, ° i, ° ee, ° ē, ° ē, ° ṛ, ° ṛ, and ° uo, are written above the consonants to which they are attached; ° oo ° are written to the right of them; ృ roo, and ౡ roo, are placed partly to the right side of consonants, partly below them; and of ° ue, the upper part is written above, the lower part below the consonants.

When the initial vowels ఒ ṛ, ఓ ṛ, are represented in their connected forms, 14 by a compound of the letters → ē, and ° oo, ° oo; thus, ° ṛ, ° ṛ, the → ē is written above, and the ° oo, ° oo, to the right side of the consonants.

The connected vowel ల loo, is always written below the consonant to which 15 it is attached.

CONSONANTS.

With the view to facilitate the acquirement of the Telooḡoo alphabet, the 16 connected vowels have been separated from the consonants, to some of which they must invariably be joined. For the same reason, in arranging the consonants, in the order in which they are usually placed by Grammarians, they are exhibited distinct from the connected vowels.

17 The consonants have not peculiar appellations, like the connected vowels; but are named in the same manner as the initial vowels; viz. by affixing to them the Sanscrit word కారము karumoo; thus, బకారము bukarumoo bee, చకారము dukarumoo dee, &c. To distinguish the letter o r from అ rru, the term అకారము rrukarumoo is applied to the latter only; the o r retains its original Sanscrit name, రేఫ rēp,hu.

18 The ten consonants శి k,lu, ఙ gnu, జ dzu, జ ju, ఞ nyu, ట tu, ఢ nu, బ bu, ల lu, and అ rru, have the sound of the first vowel u, inherent; and are therefore represented in English characters by syllables; thus k,lu ju &c. but all the other consonants specified above, in order to obtain utterance, must be joined to some of the connected vowels. It is of much importance to the reader clearly to understand, that neither the consonants, nor the connected vowels, exactly correspond with what European authors call a letter. They have been separated from each other, merely with the view to facilitate the progress of the early student : but this separation of them will lead to false ideas, unless it be at the same time borne in mind that, in Teloogoo, they are never so separated, and are not significant symbols except when compounded with each other. Indeed the consonants and connected vowels form together a set of inseparable syllabic characters, generally compared by Teloogoo writers to animated bodies; the life, or vowel, giving existence or articulation to the consonant, which, on separation from it, becomes a mere dead symbol, void of every sound. As Teloogoo words are composed chiefly of these syllabic characters, terminating with a vowel, a final consonant is seldom found in the language. When it does occur, the consonant cannot, as in English, stand alone. Without any sign, the ten letters before mentioned represent syllables ending in the vowel u, and the other consonants represent no articulation whatever. In the case of a final consonant, therefore, it is necessary to affix to it the sign $\bar{\text{F}}$, to denote that the sound is retained, but obstructed. Thus, final k, k/h, or g, must be written $\bar{\text{K}}$ $\bar{\text{KH}}$ $\bar{\text{G}}$ never K KH G without any sign, as before exhibited.

To form syllables, the connected vowels are added to the consonants, in the following manner.

ku	ka	ki	kee	koo	krō	hroo	klaw	kē	kō	kū	kuo
క	కా	కి	కీ	కు	కూ	కృ	క్లౌ	కే	కో	కు	కుఱ
k,hu	k,ha	k,hi	k,hee	k,hoo	k,hroo	k,hraw	k,hroo	g	g	g	g
ఖ	ఖా	ఖి	ఖీ	ఖు	ఖూ	ఖృ	ఖ్రౌ	గ	గ	గ	గ
gu	ga	gi	gee	goo	groo	gloo	gē	gō	gū	guo
గ	గా	గి	గీ	గు	గూ	గృ	గ్లౌ	గే	గో	గు	గుఱ

It is not requisite to add the \checkmark u, to the ten letters mentioned in No. 18; because the sound represented by that letter is already inherent in them.

In adding to the consonants the connected vowels \checkmark o, \checkmark oo, \checkmark ro, and \checkmark roo, which are placed to the right of these letters, it is necessary previously to write the connected vowel \checkmark u, above the consonants; except above those in which the sound of that character is inherent: because this sign, which is termed తలకట్టు bound to the head, invariably retains its place at the top of the consonants to which it can be attached, unless its situation is occupied by another symbol.

- 22 For the same reason also, in adding to the consonants గు g, h, యు j, h, ము m, యి y, and హు h, the long vowel ా a, which is affixed to the latter part of these letters, the √ affixed to the former part, is not removed; thus, మూ ma, యూ ya, &c: but as the consonant హు h already terminates with a symbol resembling ా a, when that vowel is added to this letter, it is written thus, హా the mark √ being substituted for ా a.
- 23 Instead of adding the long vowel ి ee, to the consonants, గు g, h, యు j, h, షు sh, and ను s, the short vowel ి i, with the symbol ా, is frequently used to represent its sound; thus, we may write either సీ see or సొ see. In such cases, the symbol ా, which is named దీర్ఘము long, is to be considered as lengthening the short vowel ి i, rather than as representing the long vowel ా a; indeed this sign, in two other instances, is used to lengthen the short vowels; as ా oo, from ఁ o, and ా roo, from ఁ ro.
- 24 In adding the long vowel ి ee, to the letter ము m, it must always be written in the manner above mentioned; thus, మీ mee, never మీ: in adding it to the consonant హు h, it is written thus హీ hee, or హి. The vowel ి i, or ి ee, can never be added to the consonant యి y: to express, in Teloogoo letters, the sounds yi, or yee, we write the consonant యి y; in the former case, without the √ u, తలకట్టు, and in the latter, with the ా దీర్ఘము, and under it we place its double form యి y, thus నెయ్యి nēyi, ghce, ఇయ్యిత చెట్టు, Iyeeta chēttō, this date tree.
- 25 In adding the short vowel ఁ o or ా o, to the consonants గు g, h, యు j, h, ము m, and యి y, it is invariably written in the latter form, never in the former shape; thus, మొ mō, యొ yō, &c. and in adding to these consonants the long vowel ఁ o or ా o, it is also written in the latter form only; but, in this case, the last part of these consonants themselves are considered as representing the ఁ of ా; and, therefore, instead of adding ా to the consonant, the ా or దీర్ఘము

ఘ only is added ; thus, మో mō యో yō &c. This latter rule is occasionally applicable to the consonants న s, and హ h, which, joined with long ా ā, are frequently written thus హో sō, హో hō.

The letters న n, & న s, and వ v, & వ p, when separated from the connected vowels, are respectively represented by the same characters ; but, like the other consonants before mentioned, they are invariably accompanied by some connected vowel, and they are distinguished from each other, by the different modes in which the connected vowels are added to them ; న n, and వ v, are always united with the vowels ; thus న nu, వ vu, వో vo, but న s, and వ p, have the connected vowels written separately from them ; as in the syllables న su, వ pu, వో puo.

Thus also the shape of the letter ర r, as given in the foregoing list of the consonants, is the same as that of ర n or m, hereafter noticed ; the latter, however, is never joined with any of the connected vowels ; as అం untē, a part of the verb అను unoo, to say. పాపం papum, sin, &c. while the former is always found with some of them united to it, in the following manner ; ర ru, రో rā, రో rō, &c. The student, therefore, can have little difficulty in distinguishing the one from the other.

Though native Grammarians, in enumerating the letters of the alphabet, consider య ts to be different from చ ch, and డ dzu to be distinct from జ ju, they are respectively represented by the same characters ; and, in fact, they are only two letters, each possessing two distinct sounds, which has induced Grammarians to consider them as four separate characters.

Following the arrangement of the Sanscrit, the twenty-five first Telooگو consonants have been classed by native writers in five Vurgus or classes, each containing five letters, as arranged above in horizontal lines. (see No. 16.)

The fifth consonant of each Vurgu or Class is a nasal ; and, in Sanscrit derivatives, if a nasal immediately precede another consonant, without the intervention of a vowel, it must be that particular nasal only which belongs to the same Vurgu as the consonant itself ; for instance, in such words, if a nasal immediately precede any of the 4 first letters in the 3d Vurgu it must be $\text{ఁ} \underline{m}$ only, if it precede any of the 4 first letters in the 4th Vurgu, it must be $\text{ఁ} \underline{n}$, and, if it precede any of the 4 first letters in the 5th Vurgu, it must be $\text{ఁ} \underline{m}$, and not any other nasal. But this rule does not apply to corruptions from the Sanscrit, or to words of the pure Teloogoo, or of the common dialect. The nasal before a consonant, without an intervening vowel, is, in such words, represented either by the sign of the letter $\text{ఁ} \underline{n}$, viz. $\text{ఁ} \underline{n}$, or by the character $\text{ఁ} \underline{n}$ or $\text{ఁ} \underline{m}$, or $\text{ఁ} \underline{n}$, hereafter mentioned.

- 31 Besides this division of the first 25 consonants into Vurgus or Classes, according to the principles of Sanscrit Grammar, there is a classification of the consonants which is peculiar to the Teloogoo itself, and an intimate acquaintance with this arrangement of the alphabet, which pervades every part of the language, is of the highest importance to a correct grammatical knowledge of the Teloogoo. The chapter which follows, on the changes of the letters, (perhaps the most difficult and intricate part of the Grammar,) will be absolutely unintelligible, unless due attention be paid to this classification. It is as follows.
- 32 The first perpendicular line in the foregoing arrangement of the consonants (No. 16,) containing the first letter in each of the five Vurgus, viz. $\text{ఁ} \underline{h}$, $\text{ఁ} \underline{ts}$ or $\text{ఁ} \underline{ch}$, $\text{ఁ} \underline{t}$, $\text{ఁ} \underline{t}$, and $\text{ఁ} \underline{p}$, forms the first class; and these letters are denominated $\text{ఁ} \underline{ఁ} \underline{ఁ} \underline{ఁ} \underline{ఁ}$ or hard letters.
- 33 The third perpendicular line in the above arrangement of the consonants (No. 16,) consisting of the third letter in each Vurgu, viz. $\text{ఁ} \underline{g}$, $\text{ఁ} \underline{dzu}$ or $\text{ఁ} \underline{ju}$, $\text{ఁ} \underline{d}$, $\text{ఁ} \underline{d}$, and $\text{ఁ} \underline{b}$, which are termed $\text{ఁ} \underline{ఁ} \underline{ఁ} \underline{ఁ} \underline{ఁ}$ or soft letters, constitutes the second class.
- 34 The third class includes all the remaining consonants in the foregoing classification (No. 16.) The consonants in this class are termed $\text{ఁ} \underline{ఁ} \underline{ఁ} \underline{ఁ} \underline{ఁ}$, or fixed letters; from their not being liable to those changes, to which, as hereafter explained, the letters of the other two classes are subject.
- 35 The letters $\text{ఁ} \underline{n}$ or $\text{ఁ} \underline{m}$, $\text{ఁ} \underline{n}$, and $\text{ఁ} \underline{h}$, which conclude the list of consonants in the view of the whole alphabet given in page 4, are omitted from the foregoing arrangement of the consonants in page 8; because the remarks which follow that arrangement do not apply to them. In contradistinction to all the other consonants, these three letters are never joined either to the connected vowels, or to any other characters whatever.

DOUBLE FORMS OF SOME CONSONANTS.

When a consonant is doubled, the one character is placed under the other, and the lower of the two is written without any of the connected vowels, the subsequent vowel being attached to the upper one only; thus, పెద్ద pēddu, great. This rule however does not apply to the following consonants, of which each has its respective double form. viz.

s	k	in it's double form is written ...	క
త	tdo.....	త
న	ndo.....	న
మ	mdo.....	మ
య	ydo.....	య
ర	rdo.....	ర
ల	ldo.....	ల
వ	vdo.....	వ

These eight consonants, when doubled, are written first in their original shape, and their second form is then written below them; thus, అక్క ukku, an elder sister, కత్తి kutti, a knife. అన్న unnu, an elder brother. అమ్మ ummu, a mother, a respectful female appellation. అయ్య uyyu, sir, a respectful male appellation. కర్ర kurru, a staff. ఇల్లు illoo, a house. అవ్వ uvvu, a grand mother.

If one consonant follow another without the intervention of a vowel, the last is written below the first; and if the last be one of those abovementioned which has a double form, it is written in it's second or double form, not in it's original shape; thus, అష్ట ushtu, eight. ఆత్మ atmu, the soul.

When the double form of య y, namely య, follows another consonant, the subsequent vowel, if a, o, or oo, may be attached either to the consonant, or to the య; thus న్యా nya, or న్యా nya, న్య nyoo, or న్య nyoo, న్యా nyoo, or న్యా nyoo. The same rule applies if the subsequent vowel be long య or య య; but, when this vowel is joined to the య y, the latter form only is used, and the య of య being omitted, the య దీఘము alone is affixed to the య, the preceding ఎత్వము being written above the consonant; thus, న్యా nyō or న్యా nyō, or న్యా nyō. In all other cases where య or other double forms are used, the subsequent vowel is attached to the consonant only, never to the double form; thus, ర్య ryee &c.

S I G N S.

- 40 The consonants have two auxiliary signs, viz. య r and య n: the former is used to represent the letter ర r, and the latter the letter న n, when these letters precede another consonant without the intervention of a vowel; but, though pronounced before the consonant, య r, is written after it; thus, అకుయడ urkondā, the sun. The య n also represents న n, at the end of a word, thus పోయెయ pōyen, he she or it went.

P R O N U N C I A T I O N.

It is not difficult to communicate, to an English reader, the proper articulation of those Telooḡoo characters, of which the pronunciation corresponds exactly with the familiar sound attached to some English letter; but it is scarcely possible to convey, in writing, a just conception of sounds altogether foreign to the ear. Grammar, by instructing us in the theory of a language, may enable us to read it with intelligence, and to write it with correctness; but no book can teach the practical use of a language, and the voice of an instructor is necessary, to communicate the full force and tone of a letter, representing some articulation altogether unknown to his pupil. A few concise rules, however, regarding the proper pronunciation of the most difficult Telooḡoo letters, may assist the student; but, without the aid of a native instructor, they will fail to afford satisfactory information. I shall accordingly attempt to explain, in the Roman character, the sound attached to each; and, in doing so, shall avail myself of the system of Dr. Gilchrist, not less because it is the best with which I am acquainted, than because most of those into whose hands this work may fall will probably have acquired a knowledge of it, by the perusal of some of that Gentleman's numerous and valuable publications, on the Hindoostanee, which is the universal language of the Mussulmans throughout the Peninsula.

V O W E L S.

The duration of the sound of the vowels is divided into హ్రస్వ short, దీర్ఘ long, and ప్లత continuous, the first occupying one, the second two, and the last three moments of time ; and these measures of sound apply both to the initial and connected forms of the vowels. The vowels అ u, ఇ i, ఊ o, ఋ ru, ఎ ē, and ఒ ō, have each three measures of sound ; namely, the short, the long, and the continuous ; the vowel లో lo has no intermediate sound, but the extreme short and continuous sounds only ; and the vowels ఐ ue, and ఔ uo, are both long, and continuous, but not short. The short and long vowels are considered so different as to be represented by distinct letters, but it has not been thought necessary to distinguish the continuous measure of sound by separate characters.

The initial అ, and its connected form వ, have the sound of u, as in tun, sun, 42 or of the o in come, done. This sound must not be confounded with the other sound given to u in English, as in cure, sure, &c.

The initial ఆ, and its connected form ఌ, have the sound of a, as in all, call, tall, do. . . . ఇ. . . . do. . . . ా do. short i, as in fit, kill.

do. . . . ఈ. . . . do. . . . ి do. long ee, as in feet, keel.

do. . . . ఊ. . . . do. . . . ు . . . do. short o, as in wool.

do. . . . ఋ. . . . do. . . . ౠ . . . do. long oo, as in moon, boon.

do. . . . ఋ. . . . do. . . . ౡ . . . do. short ru, as in rook.

do. . . . ళ. . . . do. . . . ౢ . . . do. long roo, as in room.

do. . . . లో. . . . do. . . . ల్లో . . . do. short lo, as in look.

do. . . . ఎ. . . . do. . . . ే . . . do. short ē, as in they, or as ay in may say &c.

do. . . . ం. . . . do. . . . ె . . . do. long ē, as in the same words lengthened.

do. . . . ఒ. . . . do. . . . ె or ే do. short ō, as in note.

do. . . . ం. . . . do. . . . ె or ే do. long ō, as in no, lo.

do. . . . ఐ. . . . do. . . . ఌ . . . do. ue, as the word eye, or as the uy in [buy.]

do. . . . ఔ. . . . do. . . . ౠ . . . do. uo or ou in thou or of ow in how.

- 43 Each of the long vowels should be pronounced full and broad, and the voice should dwell upon them twice as long as upon the short vowels, which should be sounded as short as possible.
- 44 When the sound of the vowel ^a i comes after another vowel, it is expressed by the consonant య y, (written without the u,) and that of ^s y by the character య్ ; thus, రాయ rai, a stone. బోయ్ bōee a palanqueen-bearer.
- 45 The long vowel ఏ and its connected form ఁ ē in some cases, which must be learned by practice, as they can scarcely be embraced by any rule, instead of the pronunciation before mentioned as that generally attached to them, take a sound nearly approaching to య ya, and some what resembling the final sound produced by the bleating of sheep; hence, perhaps మేక mēku a sheep; thus also, నేల nēlu, the ground, and నేరము nērumō, a crime are pronounced nearly as if written న్యాల nyalu, న్యారము nyarumō; and, in the common dialect, they are often so erroneously written.
- 46 The sound above assigned to the vowels రు roo, రూ roo, & లు loo, as well as to their connected forms, ౠ roo, ౡ roo, and ౢ loo, is that which properly belongs to these characters in the Telogoo language; and which is invariably given to them by all the natives in the northern provinces of the Peninsula. In the middle provinces, the r and l are pronounced with the tongue more curved towards the roof of the mouth, and the oo less distinctly, with an inclination to the sound of the French u, and to the southward, these letters assume the sounds of ri-ree and lee given to them by Sanscrit Grammarians.

C O N S O N A N T S.

- 47 It is chiefly in the pronunciation of the consonants that difficulty is experienced. క h,ku, గ g,h, చ ch,h, జ j,h, ఠ t,h, డ d,h, ఢ t,h, ణ d,h, ఫ p,h, భ b,h, the ten aspirated consonants, peculiar to Sanscrit derivatives, are not, at the commencement of a word, familiar to an English ear; but they occur frequently in our language in the middle of compound terms; the sound of the h flowing, in an easy gentle manner, immediately after that of the k, g, d, &c. which precedes it, without the least articulation intervening; thus, the sound of ఖ k,ku may be exemplified by that of the kh in ink,horn.

do. . . . ఘ g,h. . . . do. . . . g,h in dog,herd.

do. . . . ఛ ch,h. . . . do. . . . ch,h in church,hill.

do. . . . ఠ t,h. . . . do. . . . t,h in that,house.

do. . . . డ d,h. . . . do. . . . d,h in ad,here.

do. . . . బ b,h. . . . do. . . . b,h in ab,hor.

do. . . . ప p,h. . . . do. . . . p,h in up,hill, and so on.

క k, and it's double form క్ష k, have the sound of the English k, as in king. 48

గ g, has the hard sound of g as in go,gun, &c. never it's soft sound as in 49 ginger &c.

ఙ gnu has the peculiar nasal sound of gn, as in the French words ignorance, 50 digne &c.

చ and జ have each two sounds. చ is pronounced either hard, as ch in beach; 51 or soft, as ts in beats: and జ is sounded either hard, as j in jar; or soft, as dz in torridzone. The soft sounds ts and dz are peculiar to the Teloogoo; and therefore, when చ or జ occur in words of Sanserit origin, they are invariably to be pronounced hard; thus, చంద్రుడు chundraṇḍu the moon, జడుడు juduṇḍu, a fool, never can be pronounced tsundraṇḍu dzuduṇḍu. In Teloogoo, both the hard and soft sounds are to be found; but the rule is simple for ascertaining which of the two is to be given to these letters; for if చ or జ be followed by the connected vowels ^२ i, ^३ ee, ^४ ē, ^५ ē, or ^६ ue they are respectively pronounced hard, as ch, and j; thus, చేత chētu, by, జెట్టి jēṭṭi, a wresler; but if followed by any other vowel, they always take the soft sounds ts and dz, as in చక్కెర tsukkēru, sugar. తోట tsōṭa, a place. జోడు dzōḍu, a pair.

ఞ nya, sounds like n before y, or as ni in the word onion. 52

ట t డ d and ణ n are the harshest possible sounds of t, d, and n, formed by 53 curving back the tongue, and forcibly striking the under part of it, against the roof of the mouth.

- 54 త్త t ద్ద d and న్న n must be pronounced very soft, the tongue being protruded, in an easy manner, almost between the teeth; the sound of t in tube, of d in duke, and of n in no, will convey some idea of the proper pronunciation of these letters.
- 55 The pronunciation of త్త t ద్ద d and న్న n is more soft, and that of ట్త t ద్ద d and ణ్న n much harsher, than the sound of the English letters t d and n : but all endeavours to convey in writing an accurate idea of the correct pronunciation of these letters must, I fear, prove very inadequate to the purpose.
- 56 ప్ప p , has the sound of p , as in pure.
బ్బ b , has the sound of b , as in bold.
మ్మ m , and its double form మ్మ m , have the sound of m , as in man.
య్య y ,do. య్య y ,do.of y , as in yet.
ర్ర్ r ,do. ర్ర్ r ,do.of r , as in river.
ల్ల l ,do. ల్ల l ,do.of l , as in billow.
వ్వు v ,do. వ్వు v ,do.of v , as in vain.
- 57 శ్శ sh has a very soft smooth sound, between that of the s in the word sing, and of the sh in shine, but approaching more to the former, than to the latter sound.
- 58 ప్ప sh , is the hardest sound of sh , as in push, bush &c.
- 59 స్స s , has the sound of s , as in sister; never as in dismal, his, rosy &c.
- 60 హ్హ h , has the sound of h , as in hair. When this letter immediately precedes another consonant, as in the word హ్హమ్మ, it ought, according to the orthography, to be pronounced before it: but in Teloo^goo so harsh a sound cannot be admitted, they therefore place the sound of the హ్హ after that of the following consonant, and pronounce the word abovementioned Brumhu, instead of Bruhmu.
- 61 ళ్ల l partakes of the sound of both l and r , and is formed by the under part of the tongue curved back against the roof of the mouth: so far, as regards the language of which we treat, this letter is to be considered as peculiar to the pure Teloogoo; for though it occurs in the Sanscrit Védas, it is not to be found in any other Sanscrit work. It is common however to all the spoken dialects of the Peninsula.

క్ష ksh Is a compound of s k and sh. It is rather a harsh sound resembling the ct in the English words fiction fraction &c. &c. 62

ఱ rru is formed by a strong vibration of the tip of the tongue on that part of the roof of the mouth which is next the upper teeth, as in pronouncing the words real, run, the voice dwelling forcibly on the first letter. 63

The letter o n or m never occurs except at the termination of a syllable; concluding the final syllable in a word it always represents the sound of m, as in mum; in every other situation it is pronounced n, as in none; except in Sanscrit derivatives, when it precedes a consonant included in any of the five Vurgus, it is then to be considered a mere abbreviation of the particular nasal which terminates the Vurgu to which the consonant belongs, and is to be pronounced accordingly. 64

ఱ n occurs only in pure Teloogoo words; and like o n or m, is found always at the end of a syllable, it represents a very obscure nasal sound, which is perhaps peculiar to the language, and can therefore be only imperfectly illustrated by comparison with a slight indistinct pronunciation of the final n in the French words bon, non, &c. This letter is found only in studied composition; but, though omitted in common writings, the sound of this curious nasal may be discovered in the pronunciation of even the most ignorant natives. 65

The o n or m is denominated పూణిఁనుస్వారము full uncoswarum and the ఱ అధాఁనుస్వారము half uncoswarum. These are of two kinds, either radical in the word, or inserted or added by some grammatical rule. The o n or m never can be changed into ఱ n; but if ఱ n be preceded by a short vowel, in order to render the quantity of this vowel long, the ఱ n may be changed into o n or m; thus, మండు mundoo medicine never can become మఱడు; but కలఱ kulungi, possessing, may become కలఱి; and రాముఱు Ramooṅḍoo, Rama, may become రాముఱు.

67 % h is peculiar to Sanscrit derivatives. In the middle of a word, it is pronounced like a strong aspirated h final ; as అంతఃపుర, untuhpooru, but, at the end of a word, it takes after it the sound of the vowel which terminates the preceding syllable ; thus, అంతః is pronounced untuhu, not untuh as above. In Teloo goo, it seldom occurs except in the middle of compound words derived from the Sanscrit ; and therefore in general possesses only the first of the two powers here explained.

68 A clear, distinct, and correct pronunciation, and an easy deliberate manner of speaking, are acquisitions of importance in all intercourse with the Natives, by whom they are highly valued as marks of good breeding. Europeans are too apt to speak the Teloo goo in an abrupt, hurried, and consequently vulgar manner, and to disregard the great distinction between the long and short vowels, and the harsh and soft consonants ; we are in consequence often unintelligible, or at least very obscurely understood by the Natives, who are either too obsequious, or too timid, to explain their perplexity ; and we are thus induced to blame their ignorance or stupidity, when our own attention alone is in fault.

O R T H O G R A P H Y.

69 Founded on the principles above explained, nothing can be more nicely defined than the correct orthography of each Teloo goo word. The writers on this language, indeed, seem to delight in a refined minuteness and multiplicity of rule, unknown to European authors ; and the last deviation from their established maxims would be considered an unpardonable error in any studied composition or literary work. But, in the colloquial use of the language, grammatical rule is more or less disregarded, even by the most learned persons ; and as the Natives in familiar correspondence, or official business, write as they would speak, many irregularities in orthography are observable in common writings. The most general are the following.

70 The consonant య y, without any connected vowel, is improperly used instead of the initial vowel ఇ i.

The consonant య y, with the connected vowel అ a, viz. యా, is incor- 71 rectly used, instead of the initial vowel ఈ ee.

The consonant య y, with the connected vowel ా, viz. యా, is used for the 72 initial vowel ఎ e.

The letter య y, with the connected vowel ా̄, thus యా̄, is used instead 73 of the initial ఏ ē.

The consonant వ v, with the connected vowel ఁ, viz. వు, is incorrectly 74 used instead of the vowel ఉ.

The consonant వ v, with the connected vowel ా, thus వా, is improperly 75 used instead of ఊ oo.

The consonant వ v, with the connected vowel ా̄ or ా̄, thus వా̄ or వా̄, is 76 used for ఒ ō.

The consonant వ v, with the connected vowel ా̄ or ా̄, thus వా̄ or వా̄, 77 is used instead of ఓ ō.

The vowel అ u, with య y above mentioned, thus అయి, is improperly 78 used, at the commencement of Sanscrit words, for the vowel ue ఐ; but the use of అయి at the commencement of a pure Teloogo word is not incorrect.*

The vowel అ u, with వు above mentioned, viz. అవు, is incorrectly used at 79 the beginning of Sanscrit words for ఊ uo; although it's use at the commencement of pure Teloogo words is proper.

The initial vowels, ఱ్ఱ ra & ఱ్ఱ్ఱ roo, and their connected forms ఱ్ఱ ra 80
& ఱ్ఱ roo, which are peculiar to Sanscrit derivatives, are often confounded with the syllable రు, or with the double form of ర r (viz. రు r) and the connected vowel ఁ a, thus, క్రుష్ణ krōshnu is erroneously written krōshnu క్రష్ణ, and vice versa.

CHAPTER SECOND.

OF THE ELISION, INSERTION, AND PERMUTATION, OF LETTERS.

Possessing the refined and inexhaustible Sanscrit, as the established medium 81 for the communication of knowledge, to the few among whom it's dissemination is thought to be lawful ; Teloogoo writers have had little inducement to give much attention to the cultivation of their own language. Their literature consists almost entirely of poetry ; and their Poets, desirous only to please the ear, or to flatter the vanity of the reigning Prince, seem to have deemed the improvement of their style a secondary consideration. The cadence of their verses, and the tones of the words composing them, have occupied almost their exclusive attention. The consequence has been a neglect of the more important qualities of composition, and a studied conciseness of expression, which, though not inelegant in itself, has frequently the effect of rendering their sentences obscure. At the same time, by a judicious union of the sweetness of the original Teloogoo, with the majestic sounds of the sonorous Sanscrit, they have succeeded in giving to the language a pleasing variety of modulation, which distinguishes it from all others current in the Peninsula.

Another principal cause of this euphony is the extraordinary care that has 82 been taken to prevent any incongruity of sound arising from the conjunction of dissimilar letters. The numerous rules, for this purpose, are scattered, in a confused manner, through the works of many Grammarians ; and, as the following is the first attempt to reduce them to methodical order, it may hereafter, perhaps, be found susceptible of great improvement.

I shall endeavour to explain, 1st the alterations which take place in letters at the beginning and end of words; and 2ndly, the changes which occur in the middle of words. But it is proper, in the first place, to apprize the Reader, that the following rules are by no means rigidly observed, except in studied compositions. In the common or colloquial dialect, many of the changes will occasionally be found: it is true that they are not there adhered to systematically, but even in that dialect they are seldom entirely neglected. The Student, however, may find it more convenient to refer occasionally to this chapter as he advances, than, at the very commencement of his labours, to enter into some of the most perplexing niceties of the language.

OF THE ALTERATION OF LETTERS AT THE COMMENCEMENT AND END OF WORDS,

- 83 In treating of this subject, the whole of the words in the Teloogoo language are divided into two classes; one termed కళలు kululo, the other ప్రకృతులు dracotuprukrootcoloo.
- 84 The class termed కళలు kululo includes, 1st the singular and plural nominatives of all nouns and pronouns, (except నేను I and తాను he she or it) and the oblique case, or what I have termed the inflexion, of all nouns and pronouns, both in the singular and plural number.
- 2dly. The postpositions యొక్క or యొక of, కూర్చి or నుంచి towards, on account of, పట్టుడి through, చేసి from, పట్టి through, విషయము respecting, నిమిత్తము on account of, కోసము or కోసరము for, on account of, నుండి or నుంచి from, away from.
- 3dly. The final significant letters ✓ or → expressing interrogation, ⇐ or ⇑ denoting emphasis, and ె or ె expressive of doubt.
- 4thly. Indeclinable particles, like అట, కద, మఱి, ఏలా, ఇంచుక, అంత, &c.
- 5thly. All Interjections, and vocative cases.
- 6thly. The words, ఇప్పుడు now, అప్పుడు then, ఎప్పుడు when?

7thly. Every part of the verb; except the first and third persons in the singular, and the third person neuter in the plural, of the first forms of the past and future tenses, and of the affirmative aorist; the first person singular of the negative aorist; the infinitive; and the present verbal participle terminating in చు; and, when followed by vowels only, the indifinite relative participle ending in డి or ఘ, or the root when used for this participle.

The Negative verbal participle, which always ends in క్, is classed both in 85 the కళలు kululoo, and the ద్రుత ప్రకృతులు drootuprukrootooloo.

The nominatives నేను I, తాను he she or it, and the several parts of the verb 86 mentioned above, as exceptions; together with all the other words in the language, not included in the foregoing specification of the కళలు kululoo, form the numerous class denominated ద్రుత ప్రకృతులు drootuprukrootooloo.

Every Teloogoo word, whether included in the class of కళలు kululoo, or 87 ద్రుత ప్రకృతులు drootuprukrootooloo, naturally terminates in some one of the connected vowels. I shall first point out the changes which occur when any of these words is followed by another commencing with an initial vowel; and shall then explain the alterations that take place, when any of them is followed by another beginning with a consonant.

In Teloogoo, two vowels never can come in contact; therefore, when a 88 word terminating in a connected vowel is followed by another commencing with an initial vowel, there is either the change termed by Grammarians Sund,hi, or a consonant is inserted between the two words; unless the initial vowel be one of the Sanscrit letters రు roo, యు roo, and లు loo, which at the beginning of a word, are to be considered the same as consonants.

The consonants inserted, when Sund,hi does not occur, are య y if the for- 89 mer of the two words be included in the class termed కళలు kululoo, and న n if it belong to the ద్రుత ప్రకృతులు drootuprukrootooloo; but, which ever of these two consonants is inserted, it changes the following initial vowel into it's connected form, and, coalescing with it, forms, in conjunction with it, one syllable.

- 90 Sund,hi is the elision of the connected vowel terminating the first word, and of the initial vowel commencing the following word, and the substitution of the connected form of the latter vowel in lieu of both; as shewn in the examples hereafter given.
- 91 Sund,hi never takes place unless the first word terminates in one of the three short connected vowels \checkmark u, $^{\circ}$ i, or \cup o, except in a few particular instances noticed hereafter.

FINAL. \checkmark

- 92 It may be adopted as a general rule that a word terminating in \checkmark followed by another commencing with an initial vowel, may at option have Sund,hi; thus, మేసిన that grazed, and ఆవు a cow, make మేసినావు the cow that grazed, by dropping the final \checkmark in మేసిన and the initial ఆ in ఆవు, and substituting for both the connected form of ఆ viz. ా; which, uniting with the preceding న n, makes the syllable నా, by means of which the two words coalesce. But as the Sund,hi of final \checkmark is optional, and మేసిన is included in the class of కళలు kululoo, మేసిన and ఆవు, when Sund,hi does not take place, become మేసిన యావు, by the insertion of య between the two words, and the change of ఆ in the latter to it's connected form ా, which, uniting with య, forms the syllable యా, by means of which the words coalesce, as above stated.

EXCEPTIONS.

- 93 Words of the class termed ద్రుతప్రకృతులు drootuprukrootooloo, ending in \checkmark , never admit of Sund,hi. By rule 89, therefore, న n is always inserted after such words, when the following one begins with an initial vowel. The word ఇంక more, is excepted; for adding to it ఏమి what? we may say, either ఇంక నేమి what more? by inserting న n, or ఇంకేమి by Sund,hi.
- 94 Vocative cases ending in \checkmark , and the nominative case singular of pure Teloogoo nouns denoting women, and terminating in \checkmark , do not admit of Sund,hi, when followed by a word commencing with an initial vowel. Being of the class named కళలు kululoo, such words assume య y as explained in rule 89; thus, నెలత a woman and ఇచ్చెను he she, or it gave, make, నెలతయ

చెప్పెను a woman gave, never నెలఁచి చెప్పెను - కృష్ణుఁడ O Krishna! and ఇ క్ష-డరమ్ము come here, make కృష్ణుఁడయి క్ష- డరమ్ము O Krishna! come here ; never కృష్ణుఁడి క్ష- డరమ్ము.

FINAL. °

A word terminating in ° followed by another beginning with an initial 9.
 vowel, does not, in general, admit of Sund,hi ; thus కత్తి a knife, and ఎక్కడ where ; cannot by Sund,hi become కత్తెక్కడ, but make కత్తియొక్కడ where is the knife? by inserting యి in the manner above explained, కత్తి being included in the class named కళలు kululo.

EXCEPTIONS.

In the first form of the perfect tense of verbs, the second person singular 96 ending in తి or తివి, the first person plural terminating in తిమి, and the second person plural ending in తిరి, when followed by a word commencing with a vowel, invariably have Sund,hi ; thus నేవించితివి thou servedst, and అమరుల the gods, make నేవించితివమరుల thou servedst the gods, by dropping final °, and initial అ, and substituting, in lieu of both, the connected form of అ viz.
 వ, which, joining with the preceding ఎ v, forms the syllable వ, by means of which the two words coalesce.

In the same tense, the first person singular terminating in తి, and the third 97 person plural ending in రి, may, or may not, have Sund,hi, at pleasure ; thus,
 మొక్కితి I have saluted, and అచ్యుతుని the Unperishable, make మొక్కి- తచ్యుతుని I have saluted the Unperishable (Vishtnoo) వచ్చిరి they came, and అమరులు the Gods, make వచ్చిరమరులు the Gods came ; the Sund,hi, however, being optional, these phrases may have another form. We may say మొక్కి తి నచ్యుతుని I have saluted the Unperishable (Vishtnoo) వచ్చిరియమరులు the Gods came ; here న n is inserted in the first phrase, because మొక్కితి is included in the మ్రుతప్రకృతులు drootuprukrootooloo ; and యి y in the second sentence, because వచ్చిరి is of the class named కళలు kululo.

The pronouns అది that, అవి those, ఇది this, ఇవి these, ఏది which? ఏవి 98 which? ఏమి what? the word మఱి again, more, and the postposition కి to, have optional Sund,hi; thus, అది and ఏమి make అదేమి or అదియేమి what is that? అవి and ఏవి make అవేవి or అవియేవి which are these? in the same manner we may say, చేసినదేమి or చేసినదియేమి what has been done? మతేమి or, మతియేమి what more? రామునికచ్చెను or రామునికినిచ్చెను he, she or it gave to Rama. In all these phrases, except the last, when Sund,hi does not take place, యి y is inserted; because each of the first words are included in the class termed కళలు kululo; but in the last sentence, న n is inserted after కి, because it is of the class named ద్రుతప్రకృతులు drootuprukrootooloo.

- 99 Words ending in యి, if followed by the word అయిన added to adjectives, or by ఎంత how much? have Sund,hi at option, thus; మేటి and అయిన make మేటయిన or మేటియయిన chief. In the same way, we say పిండెంత or పిండియెంత how much flour?

FINAL.

- 100 It may be taken as a general rule that words ending in యి, followed by others beginning with an initial vowel, invariably have Sund,hi; as రాముడు Rama, and ఇచ్చెను he, she, or it gave, become రాముడిచ్చెను Rama gave. Innumerable other instances might be given.

EXCEPTIONS.

- 101 The accusatives నన్ను me; నిన్ను thee, తన్ను him, her, or it, మమ్ము us, మిమ్ము you, తమ్ము them, the postpositions కొరకు for, కు to, అందు in; the words ఎందు in which, ఇంచు in this, అంచు in that, and the particle చు added to the roots of verbs to form the present verbal participle, have also Sund,hi, when followed by an initial vowel, but it is entirely optional; thus నన్ను me, and ఏలుము rule thou, make నన్నేలుము or నన్నునేలుము rule thou me, అనుచు speaking, ఇట్లనియె thus he, she, or it said, make అనుచిట్లనియె or అనుచునిట్లనియె speaking, he, she, or it thus said, చెప్పుచు saying, and ఉన్నాడు he is make చెప్పుచున్నాడు or చెప్పుచునున్నాడు he is saying. In these phrases, when Sund,hi does not take place, the first words being all ద్రుతప్రకృతులు drootuprukrootooloo, న n is inserted between them and the words which follow.

The first and third persons singular in the affirmative aorist, the indefinite 102 participle in ఉ, or the root used for that participle; and nouns in the accusative singular ending in య when deprived of their drootuprukrootica affixes, never admit of Sund,hi; as వత్తు I come, have come, or will come, and ఇప్పుడు now, make వత్తునిప్పుడు I come, have come, or will come now. వచ్చు he comes, has come, or will come, and ఇప్పుడు now, make వచ్చునిప్పుడు he comes, has come, or will come now. పోషించు that protects, ఈశ్వరుని the god, and తలచినాను I have meditated, make పోషించునీశ్వరునిదలచినాను I have meditated on the protecting God. రాము the accusative of రాముడు Rama, deprived of its drootuprukrootica affixes, and ఈక్షించెను he, she, or it saw, make రామునీక్షించెను he, she, or it saw Rama.

All words ending in any of the short vowels, invariably have Sund,hi, when 103 followed by ఎడు full, అంత as much as, ఏసి at the rate of, and ఆకు a leaf; or by the words అన్న an elder brother, అమ్మ a mother, అక్క an elder sister, అయ్య a father, అత్త a mother-in-law, అప్ప a father, అవ్వ a grand mother &c. when added to proper names to express familiarity or kindness; thus, చేర the hand, held so as to contain any thing, and ఎడు full, make చేరెడు a handfull; పోక an areca nut; and అంత as much as, make పోకంత as large as an areca nut; ఎనిమిది eight, and ఏసి at the rate of, make ఎనిమేదేసి at the rate of eight; సుబ్బి Soobee, the proper name of a woman, and అమ్మ mother, make సుబ్బమ్మ friend Soobee! తాటి a Palmyra (in the inflected case) and ఆకు a leaf, make తాటాకు a Palmyra-leaf.

Nouns of Sanscrit derivation, even ending in the short connected vowels య, 104 ి, or య, which in the nominative singular do not adopt the Telooگو terminations ఉడు, ము, or వు, never admit of Sund,hi; thus, హంస, a swan, and ఏది which? make హంసయేది which is the swan? దుర్బహు durb,ha, a kind of sacred grass, and ఏది which? make దుర్బహుయేది which is the durb,ha? హరి the God Vishtnoo, and ఏచెను he, she, or it went, make హరియేచెను Vishtnoo went. In all these instances, the first word is included in the class of కళలు kululoo, and therefore, as Sund hi does not take place, య is inserted between it and the following word, according to rule 89.

105 Words ending in any of the long vowels never have Sund hi, nor do the short vowels $\text{= } \text{ఱ} \text{ } \text{ృ}$ or ౄ admit of Sund hi, except when followed by the words specified in rule 103. When followed by any other words beginning with an initial vowel, words of such terminations, if they be ద్రుతప్రకృతులు drootu-prukrootooloo insert న n, and if కళలు kululo య.

As the first word in each of the following phrases belongs to the class termed కళలు, య is inserted between it and the word which follows.

నవలా a woman, and ఏది where? make నవలాయేది where is the woman? య being inserted between నవలా and ఏది changes the following initial vowel ఏ of ఏది to its connected form యే, and uniting with it, forms one syllable యే, by means of which the two words coalesce; పల్లకీ a Palanqueen, and ఎక్కిన he, she, or it mounted, make పల్లకీయెక్కిన he, she, or it mounted the Palanqueen; వన్నె coloured, and ఒలై a garment make వన్నెయొలై a coloured garment; రే night, and ఎండ lustre, make రేయెండ moonshine; మై the body, and ఒరపు beauty, make మైయొరపు personal beauty; రో money, and ఈవి donation, make రోయీవి the donation of money; స్టా the moon, and ఉదయిం చెను he, she, or it arose, make స్టా యుదయిం చెను the moon arose.

The first word in each of the following phrases being of the class named ద్రుతప్రకృతులు drootuprukrootooloo, న n is inserted between it and the word which follows.

తిన్నఁగా slowly, and ఏఁగెను he, she, or it went, make తిన్నఁగానేఁగెను he, she, or it went slowly; న n being inserted between తిన్నఁగా and ఏఁగెను changes the following initial vowel ఏ of ఏఁగెను into its connected form నే, and uniting with it, forms one syllable నే, by means of which the two words coalesce; the accusative విధాతృ the Creator, and ఈక్షిం చెను he, she, or it saw, make విధాతృనీక్షిం చెను he, she, or it saw the Creator; జేజే God, in the accusative case, and ఈక్షిం చెను he, she, or it saw, make జేజేనీక్షిం చెను he, she, or it saw God; ముత్త the Goddess of learning, (in the accusative case), and అడిగెను he, she, or it asked, make ముత్తొనడిగెను he, she, or it asked the Goddess of learning; క్షో the moon (in the accusative case) and ఆలోకించి having seen, make క్షోనాలోకించి having seen the moon. It must here be particularly observed that the accusatives abovementioned are, in the first place, for the sake of example, deprived of their drootuprukrootica affixes.

When a word, both ending and beginning with a vowel, is repeated, there 106 is Sund,hi; thus, అన్న an elder brother, when repeated, becomes అన్నన్న brother! brother! ఏమి what, in the same manner, becomes ఏమేమి what! what!

The pronoun ఆది she or it, when added, in composition, to other words, 107 frequently loses the initial అ; thus, కౌపు a husbandman, a labourer, and ఆది she, become, in composition, కౌపుది a female labourer, by the elision of అ in ఆది; but in consequence of కౌపు ending in న, Sund,hi also may take place, according to rule 100, and the two words in question will then become కౌపుది; in the same way, కోమటి a man of the Comtee cast, and ఆది she, make కోమటిది a woman of the Comtee cast, but as the elision of అ is optional, we may also say కోమటియది by inserting య according to rules 95 and 89.

Inflexions ending in న నా or య, though included in the class of కళలు 108 kululoc, affix న n when followed by postpositions, or prefixed in composition to other nouns commencing with an initial vowel, thus, రాము. Rama, and ఎదుట opposite, make రామునెదుట opposite Rama, పాము a serpent, and ఎములు bones, make పామునెములు a serpent's bones.

Having thus endeavoured to explain the changes which take place, when a 109 word terminating in a connected vowel is followed by one commencing with an initial vowel, I shall proceed to state those which occur, when a word ending with a connected vowel is followed by one commencing with a consonant.

If a word beginning with a consonant be preceded by another included in 110 the class termed కళలు kululoo, there is no elision or insertion of letters and permutation takes place in the following instances only.

- 111 Nouns in the nominative case, even when used accusatively, and all parts of the verb ending in డ, డు, and డి together with the words అప్పుడు then, ఇప్పుడు now, ఎప్పుడు when ? preceding a word beginning with any of the hard letters క చటతప, change them respectively to గసడదవ ; thus, కలిమి wealth, preceding పోదు she or it will not go, changes the ప p of పోదు into వ v, and we say కలిమివోదు riches will not disappear ; in the same manner, పోవుచున్నాడు he is going, and కల్లరి a robber, make పోవుచున్నాడుకల్లరి the robber is going ; పోవుచున్నది she, or it is departing, and చెలిమి friendship, make పోవుచున్నదిచెలిమి friendship is departing ; అప్పుడు then, and చనియెను he, she, or it went, make అప్పుడుచనియెను he, she, or it then went ; ఇప్పుడు now, and పోయెను he, she, or it went, make ఇప్పుడుపోయెను he, she, or it now went.
- 112 But Sanscrit derivatives, preceded by pure Telooḡoo words, are excepted from this rule, and are not subject to any change ; because the nature of such words is considered so different, as to prevent their coalescing in orthography ; thus, చొర a master, and కరుణించెను he, she, or it was pleased, make చొరకరుణించెను the master was pleased ; never చొరగరుణించెను - వీడు he, this man, and పుణ్యాత్ముడు a virtuous man, make వీడుపుణ్యాత్ముడు this is a virtuous man. Nevertheless, if two words both of Sanscrit derivation come together, the general rule holds good ; because, in that case, both the words are of the same kind, we therefore say రాముడుగరుణించెను never రాముడుకరుణించెను Rama was pleased.
- 113 When two pure Telooḡoo substantives are joined together by a copulative conjunction, not expressed, but understood, and the latter word begins with any of the hard letters క చటతప, these letters are severally changed to గసడదవ ; thus, కాలు a leg, and చేతులు hands, make కాలుసేతులు legs and hands ; అన్న an elder brother, and తమ్ములు younger brothers, make అన్నదమ్ములు elder and younger brothers.

* Although క may be changed into గ - చ into స - ట into డ - త into ద and ప into ఘ, the reverse of this rule does not hold good, these letters are not interchangable : గ cannot by any means become క, nor స, చ &c. The first series may be converted into the second, but the second can never be converted into the first.

If a word commencing with any of the five hard letters క చ ట త ప, be pre- 114 ceded by another included in the class termed ద్రుతప్రకృతులు drootupru- krootooloo, both permutation and insertion of letters invariably take place ; but if the latter word begin with any other consonant, there is insertion only, and it is optional.

When a word included in the ద్రుతప్రకృతులు drootuprukrootooloo precedes 115 another word commencing with any of the five hard letters క చ ట త ప, it invariably changes these characters respectively, into the soft letters గ జ డ ద బ, and if it end in ^o ⁱ or ^u it is requisite to insert ని between the two words, or ను if it terminate in any other letter ; but if it already end in ని or ను, these terminations cannot again be affixed, for the repetition would be monotonous :
at the same time, if the ద్రుతప్రకృతులు drootuprukrootooloo end in a short vowel, either o or c may be substituted for the ని or ను, but only c if it terminate in a long vowel ; thus, దేవతల (the accusative plural of దేవత God) deprived, for the sake of example, of all it's drootuprukrootica affixes, and కొలిచితిని I served, make దేవతలనుగొలిచితిని or దేవతలంగొలిచితిని or దేవ తలఁగొలిచితిని I served the Gods, by changing the initial s of కొలిచితిని into
ఁ, and inserting ను between the two words, or in consequence of the ల in దేవతల being short, substituting either o or c for ను.

Any of the ద్రుతప్రకృతులు drootuprukrootooloo preceding a word commencing 116 ing with a consonant different from the five hard letters, without causing permutation, may at option affix ని if it end in ^o ⁱ or ^u, or ను if it end in any other vowel ; but if it already terminates in ని or ను these affixes are not again to be added, because the repetition would be monotonous: either n or ñ may be affixed, in lieu of ని or ను, provided the consonants త డ ఢ ద ధ డ are not the initials of the following word ; and if the following word begins with గ జ బ మ త డ ఢ ద ధ డ, in place of ని or ను, we may at option affix o or c,

* క is converted into గ - చ into జ - ట into డ - త into ద and ప into బ, but, as before observed of another rule, the reverse of these changes does not hold good.

provided the drootuprukrootooloo terminate in a short vowel, but if it end in a long vowel, we may insert ḥ only ; thus, deprived for the sake of example of all drootuprukrootica affixes, the accusative అరి an enemy, and గెలిచితిని I won or conquered, make అరిని గెలిచితిని by affixing ni in consequence of అరి ending in ṛ ; or అరిన్ గెలిచితిని or అరిణ గెలిచితిని by affixing n or ṅ ; or అరిం గెలిచితిని or అరిఁ గెలిచితిని by affixing o or ḥ ; or as the whole of these affixes are optional, we may say simply అరి గెలిచితిని I conquered the enemy : thus also deprived, for the sake of example, of all drootuprukrootica affixes, the accusative రాక్షసుల Giants, and ఖండించినారు they killed, make రాక్షసులను ఖండించినారు by affixing nu, or రాక్షసులన్ ఖండించినారు or రాక్షసులఁ ఖండించినారు by affixing n or ṅ ; or as the whole of these affixes are optional, we may say simply రాక్షసుల ఖండించినారు they killed the Giants ; but we cannot here affix o or ḥ, and say రాక్షసులం ఖండించినారు or రాక్షసులఁ ఖండించినారు, because ఖ follows, and the affixes o or ḥ precede the letters గ జ బ మ ర డ ధ ద ధ ఱ only : deprived of all its drootuprukrootica affixes, the 3d person in the first form of the past tense of వచ్చు to come viz వచ్చె he, she, or it came, and డాంభికుఁడు, a coxcomb, make వచ్చెను డాంభికుఁడు by affixing nu, or వచ్చెన్ డాంభికుఁడు or వచ్చెఁ డాంభికుఁడు by affixing o or ḥ ; or, as the whole of these affixes are optional, we may say simply వచ్చె డాంభికుఁడు a coxcomb came, but we cannot affix n or ṅ, and say వచ్చెన్ డాంభికుఁడు or వచ్చెఁ డాంభికుఁడు, because these affixes never precede the consonants ర డ ధ ద ధ ఱ.

- 117 Certain masculine nouns in ḥ form their accusative singular either by changing ḥ into ni or by dropping ḥ altogether ; thus, Nom : రాముఁడు Rama, Accus : రాముని or రాము : in the latter case, it must be observed, as an exception to rules 115 and 116, that to such accusatives in ḥ the drootuprukrootica affix ni is to be added, instead of the affix nu ; thus, రాము , one of the accusatives of Rama, and గొలిచితిని I served, make రాముని గొలిచితిని never రామును గొలిచితిని I served Rama.

Nouns ending in ^o యము change this termination optionally into ^o ము or 118 వ్యము; thus, ముత్యము a pearl, కడియము a bracelet, మిరియము pepper, &c. make ముత్యము or ముత్యము - కడియము or కడ్యము - మిరయము or మిర్యము, this rule is also applicable to nouns in ^o య.

OF THE CHANGE OF LETTERS IN THE MIDDLE OF WORDS.

The changes which take place in the middle of words are few and easy, and consist chiefly of contractions which occur naturally in a quick pronunciation.

Present verbal participles ending in చు preceded by ను, optionally drop 119 the ^o of ను, or sometimes change the ను into ^o, thus, అనుచు saying, కనుచు seeing, వినుచు hearing, make అన్ను - కన్ను - వన్ను, or - అంచు - కంచు - వించు - చనుచు going, స్రానుచు entering, and some other verbal participles do not change ను into ^o, but they frequently drop the ^o in ను.

Verbal Roots of more than two syllables, of which ను - లు - డు - రు or 120 లు are medials, frequently drop the ^o of these syllables; thus, పెనుచు to plait, to twist, often becomes పెన్ను and ఏడుచు to weep, to cry, ఏడ్చు; but if, in such roots, one short syllable only precede డు రు or లు, no elision of the ^o takes place; thus, తుడుచు to wipe, cannot become తుడ్చు, nor నడుచు to walk, నడ్చు.

The words ఇపుడు now, అపుడు then, ఎపుడు when? optionally drop the ^o 121 of the middle syllable, and become respectively ఇప్డు - అప్డు - ఎప్డు.

Nouns of three syllables, of which the middle one is ను లు or డు, frequently 122 drop the ^o of these syllables; thus, చిబ్బుక a parrot, కాలువ a water-course, make చిల్లు - కాల్య; and this elision of ^o takes place even in other words; thus, కారుపోతు a buffalo కెాలుపులి a species of tiger, sometimes become కార్పేతు - కోల్పులి.

ఱ in the middle or end of a word is often changed into వ; thus, ప్రోగు 123 an ear-ring, పగడము coral, become also ప్రోవు - పవడము.

- 124 Many Teloogoo words which have \cup r in the first syllable, frequently lose it in the vulgar dialect; thus, ప్రోగు or ప్రోపు an ear-ring, is commonly both written and pronounced పోగు or పోపు.
- 125 The reader need not be surprized if, in the course of his studies, he should meet with some examples in opposition to the foregoing rules, supported by good authority. On no part of Grammar are the opinions of Teloogoo authors so much at variance, as with respect to the changes attempted to be explained in this chapter: the ingenuity and subtilty with which each combats the arguments of his opponent, have gained for every celebrated writer on Grammar some adherents; and as authors rigidly observe the precepts of the particular Grammarians whom they select for their guide, a comparison of almost any two books will exhibit some discrepancies not to be reconciled. Every endeavour has been used to select those opinions which are most generally received at present, but the subject itself is so intricate, and the opinions of native Grammarians respecting it so contradictory, that a foreigner who attempts to illustrate it must necessarily feel diffident of success.

CHAPTER THIRD.

The words of the Teloogoo language, formed of the letters treated of in 126 the foregoing pages, are classed by Sanscrit Grammarians under four distinct heads. 1st. దేశ్యము Déshyumoo, or, as it is more emphatically termed, అచ్చ దేశ్యము Utsu Déshyumoo, the pure language of the land ; 2d. తత్సమము Tutsumumoo, Sanscrit words assuming Teloogoo terminations. 3d. తద్భవము Tudbhuvumoo, Teloogoo corruptions of Sanscrit words, formed by the substitution, the elision, or addition of letters ; and 4th. గ్రామ్యము Grámyumoo, Provincial terms, or words peculiar to the vulgar. To these we may also add the అన్య దేశ్యము, Unyu Déshyumoo, or words from other countries, sometimes given as a subdivision of the first Class, and comprizing, according to the definition of ancient writers, words adopted from the dialects current in the Canarese, Mahratta, Guzerat, and Dravida provinces only, but now also including several of Persian, Hindoostance, and English origin.

In each of the three following Chapters, which treat of substantive-nouns 127 and pronouns, of adjective-nouns and pronouns, and of the verb, the దేశ్యము will be distinguished from the తత్సమము words : but all observations regarding the తద్భవము and అన్య దేశ్యము words will be found in the Chapter respecting substantives ; because the words of the two last mentioned classes consist chiefly of substantives ; and the reader, reasoning from analogy, will find it easy to apply the rules given under that head, to adjectives, and verbs.

- 128 The (అ) వ్యంజము, or provincial terms, are contractions or corruptions of pure Teloogoo words, rather than a separate class of vocables ; I have therefore deemed it better to offer, in the course of the work, such remarks respecting them as occasion has suggested, than to collect the rules regarding them under any separate head.

1ST OF THE POSTPOSITIONS.

Before entering on the subject of declension, a few preliminary observations are necessary, respecting that very useful class of words, by means of which the various cases of the substantive nouns and pronouns, in this language, are formed.

- 129 English substantives are declined by prefixing to them, in the singular and plural numbers, certain particles, termed prepositions. The cases of Teloo goo nouns and pronouns are formed in the same manner, except that the particles follow the noun, instead of preceding it ; hence, I have termed them postpositions. In Teloogoo, we would not say with swords, by men, of me ; but కత్తులతో - మనుష్యులచేత - నాయొక్క swords with, men by, me of.
- 130 When a preposition accompanies an English word which is liable to inflexion, the word cannot stand in the nominative case ; it must assume it's inflected or oblique form : we cannot say of I, to I, &c. but of me, to me, &c. In the same manner, in Teloogoo, notwithstanding some nouns have nearly the same form in the inflexion, as in the nominative case, yet as all nouns and pronouns may be said to admit of inflexion, it may be laid down as a general rule, that when followed by postpositions, they cannot continue in the nominative case ; by some of the postpositions, they are converted into their oblique form ; by others, either into this simple inflected state, or into the dative ; and by a few, derived from verbs, they are changed into the accusative case. The following is a list of the principal Teloogoo postpositions.

CONVERTING THE PRECEDING WORD INTO IT'S OBLIQUE FORM.

- యొక్క - యొక.....of; the sign of the genitive case.
 కి - కు.....to, for; the sign of the dative case.
 లో.....in; the sign of the local ablative.
 చే - చేత.....by, by means of; the sign of the instrumental ablative.
 తో - తోడ - తోడుత.....with, along with; the sign of the social ablative.
 న.....in, by, with.
 లోపల.....within, inside.
 న్న - నలన.....by, by means of, from.
 కొరకు - కై.....to, for.
 నిమిత్తము.....for, on account of, about.
 కోసము - కోసరము.....on account of, for.
 విషయము.....respecting.
 అందు.....in.
 వలే.....like.
 గుండా.....through.
 నుండి - నుంచి.....from, away from.

- అటు - అటుత.....with, along with.
 పొంటె.....with, together with, for.
 పారుడి.....by, from.
 మై - మెయి.....by, by means of.

CONVERTING THE PRECEDING WORD EITHER INTO IT'S OBLIQUE FORM OR INTO THE DATIVE CASE.

- బయట.....out-side.
 పైన.....upon, above.
 కింద.....below, under.
 సందున - మధ్య - నడమ.....between.
 దగ్గర - ఒద్ద.....near.
 ముందర.....before.

వెనక behind, after.

CONVERTING THE PRECEDING WORD INTO THE ACCUSATIVE CASE.

కూచి - నుంచి . నుంచి towards, on account of.

131 Under the following rules, the whole of these words may be added to any noun or pronoun, placed in the particular case which the postposition is stated above to require.

132 The postpositions కి - కు, the signs of the dative case, are not used promiscuously with any inflexion; కి is added only to inflexions terminating in ా ి or ూ ; thus, inflexion హరి Vishtnoo, dative హరికి to Vishtnoo; inflexion శ్రీ The Goddess of prosperity, dative శ్రీకి to the Goddess of prosperity; and కు to inflexions ending in any other letter, inflexion కట్టె a stick, dative కట్టెకు to a stick, inflexion దొర a ruler, dative దొరకు to a ruler, inflexion మగువ a woman, dative మగువకు to a woman: but it is requisite to insert the syllable న between కు and all inflexions ending in ు ృ or ౄ; as, inflexion రాము Rama, dative రామునకు to Rama, inflexion అందము beauty, dative అందమునకు to beauty.

133 The postposition న is added only to the inflexions of nouns denoting inanimate things ending in ు; thus, we may say కాగితమున in the paper, because the inflexion కాగితము ends in ు; but we cannot add న to కోక a female garment, for it ends in ృ, nor to గుట్టము a horse, because it is an animate object.

134 Inflexions always terminate in some vowel, and the postpositions అందు, అటు, అటుత, ఎదుట, and ఎదురుగా commence with vowels; but, by the rules already given, two vowels cannot come in contact; a singular inflexion, terminating in ు ూ or ృ, although included in the class termed ku luloo, when followed by these postpositions, affixes ౄ n; thus, రాము నెదుట opposite Rama &c. (rule 108)- When these postpositions, however, follow a singular inflexion ending in any other vowel, or plural inflexions which always end in ౅, such inflexions being of the class named కళలు ku luloo, ె is inserted between them and the postpositions in question, which, in consequence, become respectively యందు - యలు - యలుత - యెదుట and యెదురుగా; thus, వొరలయందు in rulers; at the same time, as all plural inflexions end in ౅, and therefore have inherent the connected vowel ే, which before an initial vowel, may, by the rules before given, have Sund,hi at option, we may also say వొరలందు in rulers &c. &c.

మై or మెయి and చేసి are never subjoined to any words except verbal nouns, 135 or noun denoting inanimate things; and పట్టి is used only after abstract nouns.

The nature and use of the foregoing words will be more fully explained in 137 the Syntax, where it will be shewn that many of them, though used as postpositions, are in fact parts of nouns, or forms of verbs. I have no doubt that the whole are derived from the same sources: at the same time, without a further knowledge of the ancient dialect than we now possess, it would be difficult to trace the origin of some pure Telooḡoo derivatives, such as యొక్క the sign of the genitive, and కు or కి the signs of the dative case. This difficulty has led some to treat these, and similar words, rather as affixes inseparable from substantives, than as a separate class of vocables. But, whatever may be the history or etymology of these words; whether they are derived from nouns or verbs now obsolete, or are themselves original terms, there is no doubt that, in use, they are distinct from all others in the language; and precisely equivalent to our English prepositions. This, I think, justifies my classing them as a separate part of speech, and giving them the appellation by which I have endeavoured to distinguish them.

- 138* The articles a and the may be considered as inherent in the noun ; మనిషి according to the context, may mean either a or the person.
- 139 The indefinite article a is sometimes expressed by the numeral ఒక, vulgarly written వళి, meaning one ; as, వళిమనిషి one or a person.
- 140 There is not any separate word to represent the definite article the. In the concise and nervous idiom which characterizes the Teloogoo, this article, together with the relative pronoun who, which, that, is incorporated with the verb, in that curious part of it termed the relative participles, which possess the combined force of the definite article, the relative pronoun, and the verb ; thus, in the sentence నన్ను జూచినమానిషి the person who saw me ; five English words are expressed by three Teloogoo terms, నన్ను signifies me మానిషి person, and జూచిన has the power of the, who, saw.

3d. OF THE DECLENSION OF SUBSTANTIVE NOUNS.

- 141 The substantive nouns have two numbers ; the singular ఏకవచనము, and the plural బహువచనము ; and three genders, the masculine పుల్లిగము, including the gods and men only ; the feminine స్త్రీలింగము, compizing the goddesses and women ; and the neuter నపుంసకలింగము, including inanimate things, and all animals, except the human species.
- 142 The cases are properly three only ; the nominative, the inflexia, and the accusative ; but, in the following general remarks applicable to all nouns, the usual arrangement of six cases is observed.

S I N G U L A R.

- 143 It has already been mentioned that there are few words in the Teloogoo language which terminate in a consonant, among the nouns there is not one. In the nominative case singular, they all terminate in some of the following vowels \checkmark — ఁ ః ః ః ః ః or ః ; thus, దొర a ruler, నవ్వా a woman, కల్లరి a robber, అందము beauty, శాలు a shawl, కట్టె a stick, కై th. hand &c.
- 144 The Inflection singular varies with the declension, as explained hereafter.

The Genitive singular of all nouns is the same as the inflexion singular; but 145 in books, and in conversation with Bramins, we occasionally find the postposition యొక్క or యొక of, added to the inflexion, to form the genitive.

The Dative singular is formed by adding కి to inflexions in ా ి or ౠ - నమ్ 146 to inflexions in ు ు or ృ, and కు to inflexions in all other terminations.

All nouns in the Accusative singular are the same as in the singular inflexion; 147 except that the inflexion is of the class termed కళలు kululo, and the accusative of that named ద్రుతప్రకృతులు drootuprukrootooloo. That the reader may always bear in mind this distinction, the inflexion will hereafter be written in it's simple state, but to mark the accusative, the affix ని will be added to all inflections in ా ి or ౠ, (except to inflections formed by changing the termination of the nominative into that syllable), and the affix న్ to all those ending in any other letter, (except to those mentioned in rule 117) and an &c will be further added to all, to denote that although the affixes ని or న్ are universal in the common dialect, and in correct language may, with propriety, be used before any consonants, yet others may be substituted in lieu of them, under the rules for drootuprukrootooloo ద్రుతప్రకృతులు, contained in the preceding chapter.

The Vocative singular is either the same as the nominative singular, or is 148 formed by merely lengthening the final vowel of that case; unless the nominative end in ు, when that vowel is changed into ృ or ౠ.

The Ablative singular is formed by adding to the singular inflexion the 149 postpositions ల్ - చేత - ల్ &c. or న to the inflexion of nouns denoting animate things ending in ు.

PLURAL.

The Nominative plural is formed, in various modes, from the nominative 150 singular, according to the declension to which the substantive belongs. It always ends in లు.

The Inflexion plural is formed by changing లు of the nominative plural into ు. 151

The Genitive plural of all nouns is the same as the inflexion plural; but 152 in books and in conversation with Bramins, we occasionally find the postpositi-ons యొక్క or యొక of, added to the inflexion to form, the genitive.

- 153 The Dative plural is formed by adding కు to the inflexion plural in ల.
- 154 The Accusative plural is the same as the inflexion plural, both ending in ల; but the inflexion is included in the kululoo, and the accusative in the ద్రూప్రకృతులు drootuprukrootooloo. To remind the reader of this material distinction, the inflexion will hereafter be written in it's simple state, without any of the additions peculiar to the ku,luloo; but ను, with an &c. will be added to all plural accusatives, for the reasons mentioned in treating of the accusative singular: ని is never affixed to plural accusatives, because they always end in ల, never in ం or ె.
- 155 The Vocative plural is formed by changing the final ల of the nominative plural into ం or ె.
- 156 The Ablative plural is formed by adding to the plural inflexion the postpositions. లో - చేత - తో &c.
- 157 The Vocative particles, ఓరి - ఓసి - ఓయి and ఓ, are often prefixed to the vocative case: the first is used in calling men of inferior rank only; the second in calling females inferior to oneself, among whom a wife is always included by the natives; and the third in calling men of equal rank with oneself; these three are prefixed to the vocative singular only: the last is prefixed to the vocative both in the singular and the plural number, and is used indifferently in calling superiors, inferiors, or equals.
- 158 It is of great importance that the reader should constantly bear in mind that, in nouns denoting inanimate things, the nominative is generally used for the accusative, and the accusative for the ablative, but that this is not the case with nouns denoting animate objects.
- 159 By the addition of the various postpositions to the different cases which they govern, the reader may form any number of other cases at pleasure.
- 160 The nouns belonging to the దేశ్యము, or language of the land, are more numerous than those of any other class; and, as the rules which regulate their declension extend also to nouns of the three other denominations, it seems proper to treat of them first.

OF REGULAR దేశ్యము NOUNS.

The regular nouns of this class are divided into three declensions. The first 161 includes all masculine nouns, the nominative singular of which terminates in $\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$; the second, all feminines or neuters of more than two syllables, having the nominative singular in $\check{\text{ము}}$ - ఁము - or ఁము ; the third, nouns of all genders not included in either of the two foregoing declensions. The general rules, already given, explain the mode in which the different cases are formed from the nominative singular, the inflexion singular, or the nominative plural. It will be sufficient, therefore, to show how these three cases are formed in each declension.

FIRST DECLENSION IN $\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$.

Many nouns denoting masculine agents have the nominative singular in 162 $\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$; but, as the letter C is unknown to any, except the learned, the C preceding $\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ is usually omitted in writing, and the nominative of this declension is consequently made to terminate simply in $\hat{\text{ఱ}}$. The obscure nasal sound of C before $\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ will notwithstanding be found in the pronunciation of even the most illiterate persons.

The singular inflexion of nouns belonging to this declension is formed by 163 changing the final $\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ of the nominative into ని ; thus, nom. $\text{మగ}\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ a husband, inflexion మగని . nom. $\text{తమ్ము}\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ a younger brother, inflex. తమ్ముని . But, with the exception of $\text{తమ్ము}\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ a younger brother, and $\text{అల్లు}\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ a son in law, all nouns of this declension, which have the vowel u preceding $\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ of the nominative singular, may also form the singular inflexion by merely dropping the termination $\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$; the inflexion of $\text{మగ}\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ a husband, is మగని only, never మగ ; because u does not precede the $\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ of the nominative case; but, with the two exceptions abovementioned, all words which have u before $\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ of the nominative have two forms in the inflexion; thus, nom. $\text{బల్లి}\text{మ}\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ a strong man, inflex. బల్లిమని or బల్లిమ .

The nominative plural is formed by changing $\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ of the nominative singular 164 into లు ; thus, nom. sing. $\text{మగ}\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ a husband, nom. plu. మగలు husbands, nom. sing. $\text{తమ్ము}\text{C}\hat{\text{ఱ}}$ a younger brother, nom. plu. తమ్ములు younger brothers.

The other cases of this declension are formed according to the general rules given above; and, for the sake of illustration, a word of this declension is subjoined, declined according to the usual arrangement of six cases.

S I N G U L A R.

- N. తమ్ముఁడు.....a younger brother.
 G. తమ్ముని or తమ్మునియొక్క*of a younger brother.*
 D. తమ్మునికి.....to a younger brother.
 Acc. తమ్ముని &c.....a younger brother.
 V. తమ్ముఁడా.....o younger brother.
 Ab. తమ్ముని - లో - చేత - తోin, by, or with a younger brother.

P L U R A L.

- N. తమ్ములు.....younger brothers.
 G. తమ్ముల or తమ్ములయొక్క*of younger brothers.*
 D. తమ్ములకు.....to younger brothers.
 Acc. తమ్ములను &c.....younger brothers.
 V. తమ్ములారా.....o younger brothers.
 Ab. తమ్ముల - లో - చేత - తోin, by, or with younger brothers.

165 By rule 163, all words, except తమ్ముఁడు and అల్లుఁడు, which, in the nominative singular, have the vowel \cup preceding the final termination ఁడు, may in the inflexion singular have two forms: such words, therefore, have likewise two forms in the genitive, dative, accusative, and ablative singular, which are formed from the inflexion; thus, nom. sing. బల్లిడుఁడు a strong man, inflex. sing. బల్లిడుని or బల్లిడు. gen. sing. బల్లిడునియొక్క or బల్లిడుయొక్క dat. sing. బల్లిడునికి or బల్లిడునకు, by the addition of కి to బల్లిడుని, or నకు to బల్లిడు, see rules 132 & 146. acc. sing. బల్లిడుని &c. or బల్లిడు &c. see rule 117. abl. sing. బల్లిడుని - లో - చేత - తో or బల్లిడు - లో - చేత - తో; and even తమ్ముఁడు and అల్లుఁడు, which, in the other cases, are exceptions to this rule, in the dative singular, take two forms : viz. తమ్మునికి or తమ్మునకు - అల్లునికి or అల్లునకు. The plural however has no change of this kind.

In the inferior dialect, డి is substituted for ని in all the singular cases of 166 this declension, except the accusative, which is made to terminate in న్ని instead of ని ; thus, nom. sing. తమ్ముఁడు, inflexion sing. తమ్ముడి, dat. sing. తమ్ముడికి accus. sing. తమ్ముణ్ని &c. but these forms are never to be found in correct writings.

EXCEPTIONS.

Some words, of this declension, form the nominative and inflexion plural, by 167 changing the final ఁ of the nominative singular into ఁఱు and ఁఱ, or into ఁఱ్లు and ఁఱ్లు, instead of forming them regularly, by changing ఁ into లు and ల respectively ; thus, గండఁడు a robust man, makes in the nominative plural గండఁఱు - ఒక్కఁడు one man, makes in the nom. plu. ఒక్కఁఱు - అల్లుఁడు a son-in-law, makes in the nom. plu. అల్లుఁఱు, and this rule applies to many other words of the same kind.

SECOND DECLENSION INCLUDING FEMININE OR NEUTER NOUNS, OF MORE THAN TOW SYLLABLES, IN ఁము - ఁము or ఁము.

There is a numerous class of neuter words of more than tow syllables end- 168 ing, in the nominative singular, in ఁము, and several in ఁము and ఁము : but పెండ్లాము a wife, is almost the only feminine noun of this declension.

The inflexion singular is the same as the nominative singular ; thus, nom. 169 sing. గుఱము a horse, inflex. sing. గుఱము.

The nominative plural is formed either by adding లు to the nominative singu- 170 lar ; or by changing the termination ము of the nominative singular into లు, and lengthening the preceding vowel, if not already long ; thus, nom. sing. గుఱము a horse, nom. plu. గుఱములు or గుఱాలు horses.

The other cases are formed according to the general rules already given. 171 Subjoined is an example of this declension, according to the usual arrangement of six cases.

SINGULAR.

- N. గుఱ్ఱము.....a horse.
 G. గుఱ్ఱము or గుఱ్ఱముయొక్క.....of a horse.
 D. గుఱ్ఱమునకు.....to a horse.
 Acc. గుఱ్ఱమును &c.....a horse.
 V. గుఱ్ఱమా.....o horse.
 Ab. గుఱ్ఱము - లో - చేత - తో.....in, by, or with a horse.

PLURAL.

- N. గుఱ్ఱములు or గుఱ్ఱాలు.....horses.
 G. గుఱ్ఱముల or గుఱ్ఱములయొక్క..... } of horses.
 గుఱ్ఱాల or గుఱ్ఱాలయొక్క..... }
 D. గుఱ్ఱములకు or గుఱ్ఱాలకు.....to horses.
 Acc. గుఱ్ఱములను &c. }
 గుఱ్ఱాలను &c.... }horses.
 V. గుఱ్ఱములారా or గుఱ్ఱాలారా.....o horses.
 Ab. గుఱ్ఱముల - లో - చేత - తో }
 గుఱ్ఱాల - లో - చేత - తో }in, by, or with horses.

172 All nouns in this declension, besides the dative singular as given above, may also form that case by changing ము of the nominative into ని, lengthening the preceding vowel, if not already long, and affixing the postposition^{కి} instead of కు ; thus, nom. sing. గుఱ్ఱము a horse, dative sing. గుఱ్ఱమునకు or గుఱ్ఱానికి nom. sing. లంచము a bribe, dative sing. లంచమునకు or లంచానికి.

173 The postposition న added to the singular inflexion of nouns ending in ఁ denoting inanimate things, is either affixed in the regular manner to inflexions of this declension, or the ము of the inflexion is changed into న, and the preceding vowel, if not already long, is lengthened ; thus కాగితమున or కాగిదాన in paper.

The nominative singular of nouns in this declension is often, in books, found 174 changed, from ము, to మ్ము or ంబు; thus, nom. sing. గుఱ్ఱము a horse, is often found written గుఱ్ఱమ్ము or గుఱ్ఱంబు. This rule, however, does not apply to nouns which have the long vowel \bar{a} preceding the final ము; పెండ్లాము a wife, can never become పెండ్లామ్ము or పెండ్లాంబు.

In the inferior dialect, all the singular cases in this declension, (except the 175 accusative), ending in ము, constantly change that termination into ం; thus, in conversation we frequently hear గుఱ్ఱం gourrum used for గుఱ్ఱము gourrumo; but this practice is contrary to the genius of the language, which requires all words to terminate with a vowel.

The accusative, in the inferior dialect, is formed by changing ము of the no- 176 minative singular into న్ని, and lengthening the preceding vowel, if not already long; thus, nom. sing. గుఱ్ఱము a horse, acc. sing. గుఱ్ఱాన్ని nom. sing. లంచము a bribe, acc. sing. లంచాన్ని.

The following, with all other neuter or feminine nouns, of mor than two 177 syllables, ending in చము, ాము, or ాము, are declined like గుఱ్ఱము.

గడ్డము.....	the chin, a beard.	అంపము.....	a saw.
అమ్మకము.....	sale.	జగడము.....	a fight, a battle.
పెండ్లాము.....	a wife.	తగరము.....	tin.
వ్యాజ్యము.....	a dispute.	కాపురము.....	residence.
సున్నము.....	lime, chalk.	తొండము.....	an elephant's trunk.
తాళము.....	a key.	నెపము.....	an accusation.
వీగము.....	the lock of a door.	నేరము.....	a crime.
సీసము.....	lead.	పందెము.....	a wager.
గంటము.....	an iron style.	కేడము.....	a shield.
బియ్యము.....	raw rice	కల్లెము.....	a bridle.
చక్కచదనము.....	beauty.	తెక్కెము.....	a flag.
బెల్లము.....	jaggory.	బల్లెము.....	a spear.

THIRD DECLENSION.

178 This declension includes all other regular nouns, of every gender, not comprized in the two foregoing declensions ; it comprizes, therefore, all regular neuters in డు, all regular nouns in ము of two syllables only, or of more than two syllables when the ము is not preceded by వ or ా ; in short, it comprizes every regular noun whether masculine, feminine, or neuter, provided it be not a masculine in డు, or a feminine or neuter, of more than two syllables, in వము, ాము or ాము.

179 The inflexion singular is always the same as the nominative singular ; thus, nom. sing. బిడ్డ a child, inflex. sing. బిడ్డ. nom. sing. కత్తి a knife or sword, inflex. sing. కత్తి.

180 The nominative plural of nouns of this declension is formed by adding లు to the nominative singular, except to those ending in short ా which change the final ా into ంలు ; as, nom. sing. బిడ్డ a child, nom. plu. బిడ్డలు children ; but as the noun కత్తి a knife or sword, ends in ా, it makes కత్తులు swords, in the nominative plural, never కత్తిలు.

181 The following is an example of this declension, declined according to the usual arrangement of six cases.

SINGULAR.

N.	బిడ్డ	a child.
G.	బిడ్డ	or బిడ్డయొక్క	of a child.
D.	బిడ్డకు	to a child.
Acc.	బిడ్డను &c.	a child.
V.	బిడ్డా	o child.
Ab.	బిడ్డ - లో - చేత - తో	in &c.	do.

PLURAL.

N.	బిడ్డలు	children.
G.	బిడ్డల	or బిడ్డలయొక్క	of children.
D.	బిడ్డలకు	to children.
Acc.	బిడ్డలను &c.	children.
V.	బిడ్డలారా	o children.
Ab.	బిడ్డల - లో - చేత - తో	in &c.	do.

IRREGULAR PLURALS OF THE THIRD DECLENSION.

183 Many nouns ending in టి, టు, ట్రి, ట్టు, డి, or డ్డు, which are regular both in the singular and plural, frequently drop the ఁ of the penultimate syllable in the plural number: thus, కోమటి a person of the Comtee cast, makes the nom. plu. కోమటులు or కోమట్లు; and if a double consonant precede the ఁ thus dropped, it is reduced to a single consonant in the nominative plural; thus, చెట్టు a tree, చెట్టులు or చెట్లు trees, బుడ్డి a bottle, nom. plu. బుడ్డులు or బుడ్లు bottles. గుడ్డు an egg, nom. plu. గుడ్డులు or గుడ్లు eggs &c.

184 Some nouns in డి or డు, regular in both numbers, form also an irregular plural, by changing the డి or డు of the nominative singular into ఱ్లు; thus, nom. sing. పొడి powder, regular nom. plu. పొడులు, irregular nom. plu. పొళ్లు.

185 All nouns in this declension ending in డి or డు, which have the letter c or o immediately preceding these terminations, besides the regular plural, may have two irregular forms, viz. by changing the డి or డు of the nominative singular into either ఱ్లు or ఱ్లు; thus, nom. sing. బండి a carriage, nom. plu. బండులు, irregular nom. plu. బండ్లు or బంళ్లు.

186 Many nouns having the termination of the nominative singular in లి or లు, in addition to the regular plural, form an irregular one in the manner mentioned in rule 184; thus, మొసలి an alligator, makes in the nom. plu. either మొసలులు or మొసళ్లు but nouns of two short syllables ending in లి or లు have the regular plural only, పులి a tiger, makes పులులు tigers, never పుళ్లు.

187 The noun పెండిలి marriage, makes in the nom. plu. పెండిండ్లు, or పెండింళ్లు or పెండిండులు marriages.

188 Some nouns, having the nominative singular in ను, change that syllable in the nom. plu. into కులు; thus, కొలను a tank, nom. plu. కొలకులు; others change the ను into యులు; thus, గోనను the name of a tree, nom. plu. గోనయులు; others change the ను into లు in the nom. plu. as, మిను a fish, nom. plu. మినులు fishes, and others have the regular plural by adding లు to the nom. sing. thus, మేను the body, nom. plu. మేనులు bodies, కౌను the waist, nom. plu. కౌనులు waists.

The noun రేయి night makes the nom. plu. రేలు, and the noun ఆవు a cow, 189 makes in the nom. plu. either ఆవులు or ఆలు.

IRREGULAR దేశ్యము NOUNS.

As it is hardly possible to form any general rules for the declension of the 190 irregular దేశ్యము nouns: a list of most of them is subjoined, shewing the nominative singular, the inflexion singular, and the nominative plural of each. Except in the formation of these cases, the whole follow the general rules for declension laid down in rule 143 &c.

Most of the following nouns change the last syllable of the nominative sin- 191 gular into టి or యిటి to form the inflexion singular, and into ండ్లు or ళ్లు to form the nominative plural, some of them also form the nominative plural, in the regular manner by adding లు to the nominative singular.

† when the noun పొద్దు affixes the postposition న, thus పొద్దున, it means in the morning.

- 198 కల్లు when it denotes the liquor extracted from the Coccoanut, Palmyra, or Date tree, is a regular noun of the 3d. declension ; but when it denotes a stone, it becomes in the sing. inflex. కంటి , and in the nom. plu. కండ్లు.
- 199 ఎడు measure is used only in composition with other nouns, and in the inflexion becomes ఎటి ; thus, ఎడు compounded with బార a fathom, makes the nominative singular బారెడు the measure of a fathom, a fathom's length, and the inflexion singular బారెటి.
- 200 Most of the irregular దేశ్యము nouns, which have the inflexion different from the nominative singular, by changing the final vowel of that inflexion into o, form, in a manner peculiar to themselves, an inflected local or instrumental ablative ; they have also the regular form by the addition of the postpositions లో - చేత &c. thus, inflexion కంటి the eye, inflected ablative కంట, regular ablative కంటి-లో-చేత &c. in or by, the eye ; and many of these inflected ablatives are used as adverbs or postpositions ; thus from the inflexion బైటి comes బైట in a plain or outside ; from మొదటి, మొదట in the beginning, or at first, from లోపలి, లోపల in the inside, or inside.

201 The student will find it of great advantage to commit to memory the following list of nouns, denoting the several degrees of consanguinity and affinity, peculiar to the people of Telingana.

తండ్రి	a father... ..	{ a mother... .. తల్లి
		{ a step mother... .. నవతితల్లి
పెత్తండ్రి	a father's elder brother... ..	his wife... .. పెత్తల్లి also a mother's young sister.

తాత	a grand father... ..	a grand mother... .. అమ్మ
మామ	a father in law... ..	a mother in law... .. అత్త
మేనమామ	a mother's brother... ..	his wife... .. మేనత్త
		also a father's sister.

బంధు	}	if older than if older than oneself.	{ the son of a mother's brother, or of a father's sister, a man's brother in law. }	}	మఱుఁది
		if older than the husband.	also a woman's brother in law.	}
బంధు	}	if older than oneself.	the daughter of a mother's brother, or of a father's sister.			మఱుఁదలు
		if younger than oneself.			}

వది నె also denotes the elder sister of a wife or husband, or an elder brother's wife.

మఱుఁదలు also denotes the younger sister of a wife or husband, or a younger brother's wife.

- అన్న an elder brother an elder sister..... అక్క
- తమ్ముఁడు a younger brother a younger sister..... చెల్లెలు
- మగఁడు - పెనిమిటి a husband a wife పెండ్లాము
- బిడ్డ..... a child
- కొడుకు a son a daughter కూతురు
- మనమఁడు a grand son a grand daughter మనమరాలు
- అల్లుఁడు a son in law a daughter in law కోడలు
- మేనల్లుఁడు { the son of a man's sister or of a woman's brother. } { the daughter of a man's sister or of a woman's brother..... } మేనకోడలు

- సవతి the wives of the same husband to each other.
- తోడికోడలు the wives of two brothers to each other, joint daughters-in-law.
- సడ్డుకుఁడు the husbands of two sisters to each other.
- వియ్యంపురాలు mothers in law to each other.
- వియ్యంకుఁడు fathers in law to each other.

All the words in the above list preceding తాత a grand father, and అమ్మ 202 a grandmother, and following తమ్ముఁడు a younger brother, and చెల్లెలు a younger sister, together with the words మఱుఁది - మఱుఁదలు - మేనత్త and మేనమామ, though expressing degrees of relationship, are never used in addressing the person to whom they refer ; in speaking to such relations, the males are called నాయన - అన్నయ్య - కక్క - బాబు, and the females అమ్మ - పెద్దమ్మ or పిన్నమ్మ &c.

203 A native never addresses his wife by name, nor by the term denoting the degree of her affinity to him : but, in speaking to her, makes use of ఓసి and other words, equivalent to our phrases " I say, Hear you." &c. It is considered a great indelicacy, approaching almost to indecency, even to mention the name of one's wife or husband to any person.

204 Such nouns in the foregoing list, denoting females, as have the nominative singular in లు, form the singular inflexion by changing that termination to ి, and the nom. plu. by changing it to ంలు or ండు.

OF NOUNS TERMED తత్సనుములు OR SANSKRIT DERIVATIVES.

205 All Sanscrit * nouns may be adopted into this language ; but they appear in it under a new form, by assuming terminations and cases peculiar to the Teloogoo.

206 In explaining the derivation of Teloogoo nouns from the Sanscrit, Native Grammarians divide all the nouns in the sanscrit language into two classes, మహత్తులు, the superior, and అమహత్తులు the inferior. The మహత్తులు or superior class includes nouns of the masculine gender, and the అమహత్తులు or inferior class comprises those of the feminine, and neuter gender, as defined in rule 141.

207 The Sanscrit derivative is formed from the crude Sanscrit noun, and crude nouns, in the Sanscrit language, generally terminate in the vowels ✓ — १ 5
 ॐ ॐ ॐ, or in the consonants చ్ జ్ త్ ద్ ధ్ న్ ప్ భ్ మ్ ర్ క్ శ్ ష్ స్ హ్

208 If the crude Sanscrit noun becomes a nominative singular in Teloogoo by affixing the termination ండు, it is declined like the nouns of the first regular దేశ్యము declension. If, in order to form the nominative singular, it assumes the Teloogoo affix ము, it follows the rules for the second regular దేశ్యము declension ; and if it is modified in any other manner, or is not changed at all, it is declined like the nouns of the third regular దేశ్యము declension. It will suffice, therefore, to shew how the nominative singular in Teloogoo is formed from the crude Sanscrit noun; for, when that is known, this general rule will guide the student in declining it.

* The rules respecting sanscrit derivatives and corruptions apply to adjectives, as well as to substantives, borrowed from that language.

OF CRUDE SANSKRIT NOUNS ENDING IN VOWELS.

1st OF THOSE IN ✓

Crude Sanscrit nouns ending in short ✓ form the nominative singular, 209 in Teloogoo, by changing that termination into ుఁడు, if they be of the మహాత్తులు superior class, and by merely affixing ము if they be of the అమహాత్తులు inferior class; thus, in the మహాత్తులు or superior class, రామ The God Rama makes the nom. sing. in Teloogoo రాముఁడు భాస్కర the sun literally light-maker.do. భాస్కరుఁడు హిమకర the † moon literally snow-rayed... . . .do..... హిమకరుఁడు రాముఁడు &c. are declined precisely in the same manner as తమ్ముఁడు &c. see rule 164; and, as all Sanscrit derivatives ending in ఁడు have the vowel ు preceding ఁడు of the nominative singular, every noun of this description takes the two forms explained in rule 165.

thus, also in the అమహాత్తులు inferior class. *

- వన a garden, a forest makes the nom. sing. in Teloogoo వనము
- పర్వత a mountain...do..... do... పర్వతము
- గృహ a dwelling...do...do..... గృహము
- గజ an elephant...do...do..... గజము
- పాప sin...do...do..... పాపము
- కమల a lotus...do...do..... కమలము

వనము &c. are declined exactly in the same manner as . . . గుఱుము see rule 172.

EXCEPTIONS.

The noun మిత్ర a friend, together with words used in composition to 210 imply eminence, as సింహ a lion వ్యాఘ్రు a tiger &c. are considered included both in the superior and the inferior classes. Thus, we may say either మిత్రుఁడు or మిత్రము a friend, పురుషసింహము or పురుషసింహుఁడు a man-lion, a noble person, పురుషవ్యాఘ్రము or పురుషవ్యాఘ్రుఁడు a man-tiger, a fierce person.

† The sun and moon are included in the మహాత్తులు or superior class, because they are considered, or at least personified, by the Hindoos, as male divinities.

211 The noun అపత్య offspring makes అపత్యము, never అపత్యుఁడు, and the word శరణ denoting, either a house, or a protector, refuge &c. when it has the latter meaning, takes in Teloogoo three forms, శరణము or శరణు or శరణుఁడు; but, when it means a house, it has the first form only.

212 The nouns యోధ an experienced person, and దూత a messenger, a spy, included in the మహాత్ములు or superior class, together with all nouns of the female gender, and the words కుశ a kind of holy grass, usually named durb, ha, చీర a woman's garment, హంస a swan, కోకిల the Indian nightingale, చరిత్ర or చరిత్రు a history, భ్రమ delirium, confusion, అభిలాష desire, విజృంభణ exaggeration, or enlargement, కుండ an earthen pot, with some other nouns of the అమహాత్ములు or inferior class, do not affix the terminations mentioned in the above rules, but, remaining unchanged, are declined according to the rules for the third regular దేశ్యము declension.

2d OF THOSE IN 2

213 Crude Sanscrit nouns of all genders ending in short ०, when brought into Teloogoo, do not undergo any change; and, therefore are all declined like దేశ్యము nouns in ०, of the 3d. declension.

హరి The God Vishnoo makes the nom. sing. in Teloogoo.....హరి

మతి Mind.....do..... ,.....do.....

మణి A precious stone.....do.....do.....మణి

3d OF THOSE IN ०

214 Crude Sanscrit nouns in short ०, when adopted into Teloogoo, either undergo no change, or they form the nominative singular by affixing either వు or ఁడు if they be included in the మహాత్ములు or superior class, but వు only if they be of the అమహాత్ములు or inferior class; thus, in the మహాత్ములు or superior class,

శురు	A spiritual guide	{ makes the nom. sing. } { in Teloogoo..... }	శురు or శురువు or శురుడు
విష్ణు	The God Vishnoodo.....	విష్ణు or విష్ణువు or విష్ణుడు
భాను	The sundo.....	భాను or భానువు or భానుడు
విధు	The moondo.....	విధు or విధువు or విధుడు
శత్రు	An enemydo.....	శత్రు or శత్రువు or శత్రుడు

శురుడు &c. follow the rules for the 1st. declension.

శురువు &c. and శురు &c. are declined like nouns of the 3d. declension.

Thus, also, in the అనుహత్తులు or inferior class.

తను	the body	makes the nom. sing. in Teloogoo	తను or తనువు
మధు	wine, honeydo.....	మధు or మధువు
అంశు	a raydo.....	అంశు or అంశువు
అంబు	waterdo.....	అంబు or అంబువు
ధేను	a cowdo.....	ధేను or ధేనువు

తను &c. and తనువు &c. follow the rules for the 3d declension.

4th OF THOSE IN య

Crude Sanscrit nouns, ending in short య, form the nominative singular in 215 Teloogoo by changing that termination into వ; thus, (భ్రాతృ) a brother మాతృ a mother &c. make (భ్రాత) and మాత respectively, which are, of course, declined like nouns of the 3d declension.

EXCEPTIONS.

The nouns విధాతృ the Creator, సవితృ the sun, దాతృ a giver, and నేతృ 216 a leader, with a few others, admit of another form, by affixing డు; thus, we may say either విధాతృడు or విధాత the Creator &c.

5th OF THOSE IN య AND య.

The crude Sanscrit noun రై money ending in య makes the nom. sing. in [Teloogoo రో

.....do.....	గో	a cowdo.....	గోవు
.....do.....	నౌ	a shipdo.....	నావ or నావి
.....do.....	క్షో	the moon	has no change, the Teloogoo nom. sing.	[being also క్షో

No other crude Sanscrit nouns ending in ॒ or ॒॑ are ever found in Teloogoo works. It is, therefore, unnecessary to lay down any rules respecting them.

6th OF THOSE ENDING IN LONG VOWELS.

217 Except monosyllables, all crude Sanscrit nouns ending in the long vowels ॒॑ or ॒॑ , when adopted into Teloogoo, change these long terminations into the corresponding short vowels, ॒ and ॒ .

All nouns ending in long vowels, thus converted to short vowels, are considered as originally terminating in these short vowels; and, accordingly, form the nominative singular in Teloogoo, agreeably to the rules already given for crude Sanscrit nouns ending in short ॒ or ॒ respectively.

EXAMPLES.

విశ్వపా The protector of the world, being changed into విశ్వప, makes the [nom. sing. in Teloogoo విశ్వపఁడు see 209.

218 ట్టై the earth, భూ an eye brow, స్త్రీ a woman &c. being monosyllables, never shorten the last vowel; when adopted into Teloogoo, they remain the same as in Sanscrit, and are declined like the nouns of the 3d. regular దేశ్యము declension.

OF CRUDE SANSKRIT NOUNS ENDING IN CONSONANTS.

219 Crude Sanscrit nouns ending in the consonants ॒ ॒ ॒ ॒ ॒ ॒ and ॒ form the nominative singular, in Teloogoo, either by changing ॒ and ॒ to ॒ - ॒ and ॒ to ॒ - ॒ to ॒ - ॒ and ॒ to ॒ or ॒ - and ॒ to ॒ for all genders-or, if masculine, by affixing ॒ , and if neuter, by adding ॒ .

EXAMPLES.

The nouns యుక్ష్ appetite, &c. సమిక్ష్ a sacrificial stick, make either యుక్తు and సమిక్తు or యుక్ and సమిక్ - క్రుక్ష్ rage makes క్రుక్.

दृशेँ an eye, & दिशि a side, or quarter, make दृक्षु and दृश, or दिक्षु and दिश.

रुम् anger, & त्विम् splendour, make रुब् and रुष, or त्विब् and त्विष.

221 Crude Sanscrit nouns ending in ई change it to त्तु, to form the nominative singular in Teloogoo ; thus, विद्यते the sky, विद्युत् lightning, मरुत् wind, गरुत् a feather, &c. make विद्यत्तु - विद्युत्तु - मरुत्तु - गरुत्तु which are, of course, declined according to the rules for the 3rd. declension.

EXCEPTIONS.

222 The nouns भगवत् the Deity, and హనుమాత్ Hunooman, have respectively the following irregular forms. భగవంతుఁడు - భగవానుఁడు - హనువుంతుఁడు - హనుమానుఁడు - హనుమ.

జగత్ the universe makes జగత్తు or జగము.

నీవృత్ a village or country makes నీవృత్తు or నీవృతము.

223 Crude Sanscrit nouns in ఁ drop the final consonant, and then form the nominative singular in Teloogoo according to the rules for crude Sanscrit nouns ending in the particular vowel with which they terminate.

EXAMPLE.

అర్చమఁ the sun by dropping ఁ is changed to అర్చమ and then becomes in [Teloogoo అర్చముఁడు see 209.

హేమఁ gold . . . do . . . do . . . హేమ do . . . do హేమము see 209.

కరిఁ an elephant . . . do . . . కరి do . . . do కరి see 213.

శూలిఁ { the trident bearer, } do. శూలి do . . . do శూలి see 213.
 { the God Siva }

EXCEPTIONS.

ఆత్మఁ the soul, the supreme being, becomes in Teloogoo ఆత్ముఁడు or ఆత్మము or ఆత్మ

రాజఁ a king do రాజు

బ్రహ్మఁ { when denoting Brumha, one of the three } { attributes of the divinity, personified in } do . . . బ్రహ్మ
 { the Indian Trinity, becomes }

బ్రహ్మఁ when denoting the supreme being himself, becomes either బ్రహ్మము or బ్రహ్మ.

Nouns ending in 'మ' have also an irregular form.

EXAMPLE.

లఘిమ lightness, smallness, makes లఘిమ or లఘిమము.

Crude Sanscrit nouns ending in ప్ మ ర్ వ are rarely adopted into the Teloo^goo. 224

Crude Sanscrit nouns terminating with న్ form the nominative singular in Teloo^goo, either by affixing ను or ను ; or, after dropping the final consonant, by following the rules for crude Sanscrit nouns ending in the particular vowel with which they terminate. Masculine nouns in వ్ న్ admit of a fourth form, by assuming న్డు without dropping the final న్. 225

EXAMPLES.

Masculine.

ఊర్ధ్వ తేజస్ makes in Teloo^goo ఊర్ధ్వ తేజస్సు or ఊర్ధ్వ తేజసు or ఊర్ధ్వ తేజుండు or ఊర్ధ్వ తేజసుండు an anchorite.

Feminine.

హేమ తేజస్ do. . . . do. . . హేమ తేజస్సు or హేమ తేజసు or హేమ తేజ [a female resplendent as gold.

Neuter.

- మనస్ do. . . . do. . . మనస్సు or మనసు or మనము the mind.
- శిరస్ do. . . . do. . . శిరస్సు or శిరసు or శిరము the head.
- ఊరస్ do. . . . do. . . ఊరస్సు or ఊరసు or ఊరము the breast.
- వక్షస్ do. . . . do. . . వక్షస్సు or వక్షసు or వక్షము the breast.
- యశస్ do. . . . do. . . యశస్సు or యశసు or యశము fame.
- తపస్ do. . . . do. . . తపస్సు or తపసు or తపము penance.
- తమస్ do. . . . do. . . తమస్సు or తమసు or తమము darkness.
- తేజస్ do. . . . do. . . తేజస్సు or తేజసు or తేజము lustre.
- ఆయుస్ do. . . . do. . . ఆయుస్సు or ఆయుసు or ఆయు or ఆయువు the total period of life.

EXCEPTIONS.

పయస్ water or milk, అయస్ iron, హవిస్ a sacrificial fire-offering, రక్షస్ a giant, ఛేతస్ the mind, మహస్ lustre, సరస్ a lake, అంహస్ sin, పాఠస్ water, అంభస్ water, ఆగస్ transgression, and a few others, affix only the syllable ను as పయస్సు - అయస్సు &c.

When the noun వయస్ signifies a bird it makes వయస్సు, but when it signifies the total period of life, or youth, or age, &c. it makes either, వయసు or వయస్సు - అప్సరస్ a nymph, makes అప్సరస, or అప్సరస్సు; వేదస్, the Creator, Brumha, makes వేద.

OF NOUNS TERMED తద్భవములు OR CORRUPTIONS OF THE SANSKRIT.

- 227 Besides the regular Sanscrit derivatives, there is in Telooḡoo a class of words named తద్భవములు, or corruptions of the Sanscrit. These are formed from the crude Sanscrit noun by the substitution of one letter for another; by the elision, the insertion, or addition of letters; by subverting the order of the letters, or by doubling some of them. After these changes in the original letters of the crude Sanscrit noun, some of the Sanscrit corruptions affix Telooḡoo terminations, in the same manner as the Sanscrit derivatives, and others take no affixes. In either case, the rules already given for the declension of the దేశ్యము nouns apply equally to the తద్భవము. It will, therefore, be sufficient to submit a few explanations respecting the manner in which the nominative singular is formed from the crude Sanscrit noun; at the same time, these, from the nature of the subject, must be necessarily very undeterminate.

OF THE CORRUPTION OF THE VOWELS IN CRUDE SANSKRIT NOUNS.

- 228 If the first syllable, in the original crude noun terminate in the vowels \circ or \cup , these vowels are often, in Telooḡoo, changed to $\bar{\ }^{\circ}$ or $\bar{\ }^{\cup}$. thus; దిశా a quarter of the world, makes దెస - వికటు a pungent taste, makes వెగటు - తువర an astringent taste, makes తొవర.
- 229 If the first syllable in the original crude noun end with $\bar{\ }^{\cup}$ or $\bar{\ }^{\circ}$ these letters are respectively changed to $\bar{\ }^{\circ}$ and $\bar{\ }^{\cup}$.

EXAMPLES.

వ్యసనsorrow.....	makes.....	వెసనము
వ్యథpain.....	do.....	వెత
వ్యయexpenditure.....	do.....	వెయము
త్యాగliberality.....	do.....	తేగము
స్వాయjustice, propriety.....	do.....	నేయము
ఖ్యాతిfame.....	do.....	కేతి

The same rule applies to \check{v} or \check{y} terminating a syllable in the middle or 230 end of the original crude noun, provided the preceding syllable be short; in this case, however, the consonant preceding \check{v} or \check{y} is doubled; thus,

విద్యాlearning, art... .. makes విద్య
 కన్యాa young girl do... .. కన్యై
 వ్యత్యాసdifference do... .. వ్యత్యేసము

\check{v} or \check{y} terminating the first syllable in the original crude noun, are 231 changed to \check{v} or \check{y} ; thus,

జ్వరfever makes జ్వరము
 స్వరthe sound of the voice, a note do... .. స్వరము
 ధ్వనిa sound... .. do... .. ధ్వని
 ద్వాదశీ the 12th day of the increase or decrease of the moon do. .. దోదశి

The vowel \check{u} in the original crude noun is sometimes changed to \check{u} , 232 \check{u} or \check{u} ; thus,

శృంగారbeauty..... makes... .. సింగారము
 మృగa beast do... .. మృకము
 బృహస్పతివార ..Thursday do... .. బ్రేస్తవారము
 ఋక్షa star do... .. రిక్ష

THE CORRUPTION OF CONSONANTS IN CRUDE SANSKRIT NOUNS.

The consonants \check{c} , \check{ch} , are often changed to \check{c} ; thus, 233

శుక్రthe planet Venus.. .. makes... .. చుక్ర
 శర్కరాsugar do... .. చక్కెర
 కంఠa plate made of bell metal do... .. కంఠము

The consonants \check{c} , \check{ch} , and \check{ch} , in the original Sanscrit, are frequently 234 changed in Teloogoo to \check{c} ; as,

కాశa cash (the coin so named) makes... .. కాసు
 అంకుశan elephant hook do... .. అంకుసము
 మోషdanger, deceit do... .. మోసము
 భాషాlanguage... .. do బాస

- 235 ణ is sometimes changed to న్; as,
 పూర్ణిమా the day on which the moon is full...makes.....పున్నమ
 గుణ... ..disposition, quality... .. do గొనము
- 236 య, at the commencement of nouns, is frequently changed, in Teloo^{oo}, to జ; as,
 యమ Yama, the God of death makes జముడు
 యాసు three English hours do జాము
- 237 క్ష, preceded by another syllable, is changed in Teloo^{oo} to చ్చ or క్ష్; thus.
 పక్ష a side makes పక్ష్
 లాక్ష lac do లక్ష్
 అక్షర a letter or charactor do అక్ష్రము
 భిక్ష alms do బిచ్చము
 లక్షణ rule, definition do లచ్చనము
- 238 క్ష preceded by the vowel వ, is generally changed to న్; and preceded by ౧, to న్; thus,
 యజ్ఞ a sacrifice makes జన్నము
 యజ్ఞోపవీత the sacerdotal thread. do జన్నిదము
 ఆజ్ఞ a command, order, or adjuration...do ఆన ఆజ్ఞప్తి command, permission do ఆనతి but it is sometimes changed to ణ; thus, రాజ్ణి a Queen, makes రాణి
- 239 హ is changed in గ.
 సింహ a lion makes సింగము
 కంహ a crane. do కొంగ
- 240 The consonants of each vurga are interchangeable.

EXAMPLES.

ముఖ. a face makes	మొగము
ఛాయా. colour do	చాయ
వీత a seat do	వీట
ఘటికా a Hindoo hour do	గడియ
అటవీ a forest do	అడవి
కథా a history, a story. do	కత
మతి the mind do	మది
పక్షి a line do	బంతి
తాంబూల beetle nut do	తమలము

The consonants క హా మ్ న్ or మ్, when connected with other consonants 241 without the intervention of a vowel, are generally dropped, and the consonant with which they may be connected is sometimes doubled; thus,

- ప్రయాణa journeymakes... ..పయనము
 చిహ్నa mark..... do.... ..చిహ్నె
 గోష్ఠa cow-house.....do... ..కోట్టము
 అగ్నిfire.....do..... అగ్ని
 రుక్మa piece of money.....do... ..రూక

Some of the changes among the తద్భవము nouns are so little obvious, that 242 the reader may occasionally be inclined to doubt the existence of any connexion between the adulterated word and that stated to be it's original. Great deference, however, is due by a foreigner to the concurrent testimony of native authors on this head; and when it is considered that most of the తద్భవము words have, in all probability, passed into Teloogoo, through the medium of the Pracrit, or other corrupt dialects of the Sanserit, and have been naturalized in it for ages, the little resemblance now to be found between some of the original words, and their corruptions, ought not, alone, to invalidate the established etymologies of successive Grammarians.

OF NOUNS TERMED అన్యదేశ్యము OR FOREIGN.

In treating of the declension of the అచ్చదేశ్యము - తత్సమము and తద్భ 243 వము nouns, the peculiarities of the (అ)మ్యము or common dialect, have been duly pointed out. It remains, therefore, only to offer a few observations respecting foreign nouns.

The great facility with which the Teloogoo adopts and naturalizes foreign terms, must already have attracted the notice of the Student. The intercourse of the people of Telingana with the neighbouring provinces, has led to the introduction of a few terms from the Orissa, the Mahratta, the Guzerat, the Canarese or Carnataca, and the Dravida or Tamil: but, except from the Tamil and Canarese, with which the Teloogoo is radically connected, it has not borrowed extensively from any of these languages. Since the Mahommedan conquest of the Deccan, numerous technical revenue terms, and words connected with official business, derived from the Arabic, Persian, or Hindee, have been introduced into Teloogoo, through the medium of the Hindoostanee; but the use of many such words begins now to be superseded by that of corresponding English terms.

244 Nouns of foreign derivation are subject to the same rules as the దేశ్యము nouns of the third declension; thus, the Hindoostanee words.

కబురు..... news.

ఖజానా..... a treasury.

ములుకు..... a country, a district.

ఛేసలా..... arrangement, settlement.

మిలాఖతు..... a visit.

పిఠూరీ..... a disturbance, an intrigue.

తజ్జీ..... trouble, annoyance.

కసుబా..... the chief town in a district.

సవారీ..... { a carriage of any kind, a palankeen &c. &c.

సవాలు..... a question.

జవాబు..... an answer.

అజ్జీకా..... a petition &c.

and the English words.

నెంబరు..... a number.

ఇంకీ..... ink.

పనా..... a pen.

పెన్సలు..... a pencil.

డిక్రీ..... a decree.

సమ్మను..... a summons &c.

are declined like బిడ్డ a child.

4th. OF THE DECLENSION OF SUBSTANTIVE PRONOUNS.

245 The rules of politeness among the Hindoos, although very different from those in use among European nations, are so firmly established, and so scrupulously observed by the people, that the least deviation from the proper mode of address should be studiously avoided. Particular attention is therefore necessary to the correct use of the Teloogoo pronouns.

246 All the pronouns belong to that division of the Teloogoo termed దేశ్యము or language of the land.

247 There are no relative pronouns in Teloogoo: the idiom of the language renders the use of them superfluous; as will be fully explained hereafter. The substantive pronouns have two numbers; the singular, and the plural.

248 The speaker, and the person addressed, being present, their sex is supposed to be obvious: the distinction of gender is therefore confined to the pronouns of the third person, in treating of which, we shall explain the peculiar manner in which it is marked.

The substantive pronouns, like the substantive nouns, may be said to have 249 properly only three cases; viz. the nominative, the inflexion, and the accusative; but they are here declined according to the arrangement adopted in the declension of the nouns. The vocative case is wanting in all the Telooگو pronouns.

The genitive or possessive case, without యొక్క, is likewise the inflexion, 250 which, with the addition of the postpositions, forms the different compound cases. The inflexions of the pronouns are of course included in the class termed కళలు kululoo, while the accusative cases belong to the మ్రతప్రకృతులు dratuprukrutaloo; but, in addition to this general distinction, it will be observed, that the pronouns of the two first persons have the inflexion entirely different from the accusative.

THE PRONOUN OF THE FIRST PERSON.

Singular.

Plural.

N..... నేను I
 G..... నా - నాయొక్క . of me
 D..... నాకు to me
 Acc... నను or నన్ను me
 Ab. . . . నా - లో - చేత - తో in &c. me

మేము..... We
 మా - మాయొక్క of us
 మాకు..... to us
 మము or మమ్ము us
 మా - లో - చేత - తో .. in &c. us.

Men of rank, speaking of themselves, generally use the plural మేము We, 252 for the singular నేను I: indeed, arrogance often induces inferior natives to apply the plural to themselves; but this is understood to be very improper when they address a superior. The Ratsawars and Velmawars in the Northern Circars, a bold warlike race of men, scarcely ever deign to speak of themselves in the singular number; even to a Bramin, their acknowledged superior in cast.

In the superior dialect, ఏను and ఏము are sometimes used for నేను and మేము. 253

THE PRONOUN OF THE SECOND PERSON.

Singular.

Plural.

N... నీవు thou
 G... నీ - నీయొక్క of thee
 D... నీకు to thee
 Acc... నిను or నిన్ను thee
 Ab... నీ - లో - చేత - తో .. in &c. thee

మీరు..... you
 మీ - మీయొక్క of you
 మీకు to you
 మీము or మీమ్ము you
 మీ - లో - చేత - తో in &c. you

- 255 Although both the singular and plural inflexions of this pronoun end in ^ఱ, they take, in the dative cases, ^{కు} instead of ^{కి}, in opposition to the general rules 132 - 146 & 153.
- 256 Addressing inferiors, or conversing familiarly with equals, నీవు thou, the nominative singular of this pronoun, may be used ; but, when we speak to superiors, or even to equals or inferiors, with any degree of kindness or respect, the plural మీరు you, is the only proper term of address. To be called నీవు thou, by a person decidedly his inferior, is an insult not to be borne by the most meek Hindoo, he will resent it as studied disrespect, couched in the most bitter terms of reproach.
- 257 When much deference is paid to men of superior age, rank, or learning, the speaker uses the words తాము or తమరు they, దేవరవారు or స్వామి Lord, Which correspond with the English phrases, Sir, My Lord &c. &c.
- 258 In the superior dialect ఈవు and ఈరు are sometimes used for నీవు and మీరు.
- 259 The pronouns of the first and second persons have their respective plural numbers, మేము and మీరు, as given above, corresponding precisely with our words we and you. But the first of these two pronouns in Teloogoo has likewise another plural, applying to both persons jointly, which, from the want of a corresponding term in English, we are obliged also to translate we. This plural is declined as follows.

N.....	మనము	we
G.....	మన .. మన యొక్క	of us
D.....	మనకు	to us
Acc.....	మనల or మనముల	us
Ab.....	మన - లో - చేత - లో	in &c. us

There is a very material difference between మేము we, and మనము we : మేము is the plural of the first person only, it refers exclusively to those who speak ; but మనము is a plural, used by the first person, but applying to the first and second persons conjointly ; it refers exclusively to neither, but includes both those who speak and those who are addressed, each of whom may be either one, or more persons. For example, if two gentlemen, meeting several Bramins, were to enquire who they were, they would not use the joint plural of the first and second persons and answer మనము బ్రాహ్మణులము we (who speak and are addressed) are Bramins; for, in that case, they would be understood to affirm that the gentlemen also were Bramins. Using the plural of the first person, they would say మేము బ్రాహ్మణులము we (who speak) are Bramins.

THE PRONOUNS OF THE THIRD PERSON.

The Teloo goo pronouns of the third person may be divided into two classes; 260 the definite, and the indefinite; the first referring to one or more particular defined objects, and the second referring to a number or collection of objects less defined. The first class consists of the demonstratives, and of the interrogative pronoun derived from them. The second class comprizes the collectives, and their interrogative.

The distinction of gender is confined to the pronouns of this person, and the 261 mode in which it is defined in the singular number, is different from the mode in which it is marked in the plural. In the singular, the masculine gender is distinct from the feminine and neuter, which are both represented by the same word. In the plural, the masculine and the feminine are the same, and the neuter is distinct from both. It is of importance that this peculiarity should be strongly impressed on the memory of the Student, for it will be found to pervade the verbs and adjectives, and materially to affect the construction of the language.

DEFINITE PRONOUNS.

DEMONSTRATIVE PRONIMATE.

Singular.

	M.	F. & N.
N.	వీడు.....	ఇది.....	he, she and it, this.
G.	వీని or వీనియొక్క.....	దీని or దీనియొక్క.....	of him, her and it, this.
D.	వీనికి.....	దీనికి.....	to him, her and it, this.
Acc.	వీని.....	దీని.....	him, her and it, this.
Ab.	వీని .. లో - చేత - తో.	దీని .. లో - చేత - తో.	in &c. him, her and it, this.

Plural.

M. & F.

N.

- N. వీరు... .. ఇవి... .. they, these.
 G. వీరి or వీరియొక్క ... వీటి or వీటియొక్క of them, these.
 D. వీరికి' వీటికి to them, these.
 Acc. వీరిని వీటిని them, these.
 Ab. వీరి..లో - చేత - తో' . . . వీటి..లో - చేత - తో' . . . in &c. them, these.
 ఇది and ఇవి are vulgarly written యిది and యివి.

263

DEMONSTRATIVE REMOTE.

Singular.

M.

F. & N.

- N. వాడు.....అది. he, she and it, that.
 G. వాని - వానియొక్క ... దాని - దానియొక్క...of him, her and it, that.
 D. వానికి.....దానికి.....to him, her and it, that.
 Acc. వాని.....దాని.....him, her and it, that.
 Ab. వాని..లో - చేత - తో' ..దాని..లో - చేత - తో' in &c. him, her & it, that.

Plural.

M. & F.

N.

- N. వారు.....అవి.....they, those.
 G. వారి - వారియొక్క ... వాటి - వాటియొక్క...of them, those.
 D. వారికి..... వాటికి... .. to them, those.
 Acc. వారిని... .. వాటిని... .. them, those.
 Ab. వారి..లో - చేత - తో' ..వాటి..లో - చేత - తో' in &c. them, those.

264 It will be observed that the change of ^s ee to — a and of ఇ i to అ u, in the first syllable of these pronouns, is the only difference between them.

265 Besides the plurals వీరు and వారు, these two pronouns, like some of the regular దేశ్యము nouns, occasionally take irregular plurals; thus, వీరు often becomes వీఁడు or వీఁడు and వారు is changed into వాఁడు or వాఁడు. In this case, they make the inflexion plural వీఁడల or వీఁడ్రు, and వాఁడల or వాఁడ్రు; and the accusative plural వీఁడలను or వీఁడ్రును, and వాఁడలను or వాఁడ్రును.

In the common dialect, the accusatives వీని and వాని are respectively written 266 వీణ్ని and వాణ్ని.

The singular numbers of the foregoing demonstrative pronouns, and their 267 irregular plurals, are never used, except when inferiors or equals are spoken of: when persons of very high rank are the subject of conversation, the plurals వారు and వీరు, are used to express the English words he or she. But if the speaker alludes to a person only in a trifling degree respected by him, instead of the pronoun వీడు, he uses ఇతఁడు to denote a male, and ఈబిడ or ఈపె to denote a female; and instead of the pronoun వాఁడు - అతఁడు for the masculine, and ఆబిడ or ఆపె for the feminine gender; or if he alludes to a person considerably superior to him, yet not of very high rank, instead of వీడు he uses ఈయన to denote a male, and ఈమె to denote a female, and instead of వాఁడు, ఆయన for the masculine, and ఆమె for the feminine gender. These pronouns have no plural number, ఇతఁడు and అతఁడు are declined like nouns of the first declension; thus.

- N..... అతఁడు he.
- G..... అతని - అతని యొక్క of him.
- D..... అతనికి to him.
- Acc..... అతని him.
- Ab..... అతని... లో - చేత - తో in &c. him.

ఈయన - ఈబిడ - ఈపె and ఈమె and ఆయన - ఆబిడ - ఆపె and ఆమె are declined like nouns of the third declension; thus,

- N. ... ఆయన he.
- G. ఆయన - ఆయన యొక్క ... of him.
- D..... ఆయనకు to him.
- Acc..... ఆయనను him.
- Ab..... ఆయన... లో - చేత - తో in &c. him.

Instead of వీటి and వాటి, in the neuter plural of the demonstrative pronouns, 268 we sometimes find వీని and వాని used in books.

INTERROGATIVE.

Singular.

M.

F. & N.

- N. ఎవ్వఁడు ఏది who? which?
 G. ఎవ్వని - ఎవ్వనియొక్క... దేని - దేనియొక్క... of whom? which?
 D. ఎవ్వనికి దేనికి to whom? which?
 Acc. ఎవ్వని..... దేని whom? which?
 Ab. ఎవ్వని...లో - చేత - తో.. దేని..లో - చేత - తో ... in &c. whom? which?

Plural.

M. & F.

N.

- N. ఎవ్వరు..... ఏవి..... who? which?
 G. ఎవ్వరి..ఎవ్వరియొక్క...వేటి...వేటియొక్క..... of whom? which?
 D. ఎవ్వరికి.....వేటికి..... to whom? which?
 Acc. ఎవ్వరిని... వేటిని... whom? which?
 Ab. ఎవ్వరి..లో - చేత - తో..వేటి..లో - చేత - తో in &c. whom? which?

269 Instead of ఏది, the word ఎవ్వతె, which follows the rules for the first declension, is often used, in the singular, to denote a female.

270 The initial ఎ & ఏ of the interrogative pronoun is constantly converted, in the common dialect, into యె & యే.

271 In the common dialect, వీడి - వాడి and యెవ్వడి are used, in the singular number of the definite pronouns, instead of వీని - వాని and ఎవ్వని; except in the accusative, which is made to terminate in నీడు instead of ని.

INDEFINITE PRONOUNS.

272 As the pronouns of this class refer to a number of objects, they have no singular, but are all of the plural number.

COLLECTIVES.

M. & F.

N.

- N. ఇందఱు.....ఇన్ని..... so many.
 G. ఇందఱి - ఇందఱి యొక్క...ఇన్నిటి - ఇన్నిటియొక్క... of so many.

 Acc. ఇందఱిని..... ఇన్నిటిని... so many.
 Ab. ఇందఱి..లో - చేత - తో..ఇన్నిటి..లో - చేత - తో ... in &c. so many.

The initial అ of this pronoun is constantly written ఱ, in the common dialect. 273

M. & F.

N.

N. అందఱు.....అన్ని.....all.

G. అందఱి...అందఱియొక్క.....అన్నిటి...అన్నిటియొక్క...of all.

D. కొందఱికి.....కొన్నిటికి.....to a few.

Acc. కొందఱిని.....కొన్నిటిని.....a few.

Ab. కొందఱి...లో - చేత - తో...కొన్నిటి...లో - చేత - తో...in &c. a few.

INTERROGATIVE.

M. & F.

N.

N. ఎందఱు.....ఎన్ని.....how many?

G. ఎందఱి...ఎందఱియొక్క...ఎన్నిటి...ఎన్నిటియొక్క...of how many?

D. ఎందఱికి.....ఎన్నిటికి.....to how many?

Acc. ఎందఱిని.....ఎన్నిటిని.....how many?

Ab. ఎందఱి...లో - చేత - తో...ఎన్నిటి...లో - చేత - తో...in &c. how many?.

The initial ఎ of this pronoun is, in the common dialect, converted into ఱ. 274

None of the foregoing pronouns of the third person can be used more than 275 once in a sentence, with reference to the same person or thing. If I say, వాడు he, వానితండ్రి తో with his father, వచ్చి వాడు has come, I should not be understood to express that he (the third person) has come with his own father, but that he (the third person) has come with the father of a fourth. If I ask వీడవీ నియింటికిపోయినాడా did he go to his house? I ask whether he (the third person) went to the house of another, not whether he went to his own house.

276 This peculiarity in the use of the pronouns of the third person, has given rise to the reflective pronoun తాను, which is the same for all genders, and is always used with reference to some nominative of the third person preceding it.

Singular.

N.....	తాను.....	he, she, or it.
G.....	తన-తనయొక్క.....	of him, her, or it.
D.....	తనకు.....	to him, her, or it.
Acc.....	తను or తన్ను.....	him, her, or it.
Ab.....	తన....లో - చేత - తో ..	in &c. him, her, or it.

Plural.

N.....	తారు or తాము or తమరు they.
G.....	తమ or తమయొక్క.....	of them.
D.....	తమకు.....	to them.
Acc.....	తము or తమ్ము.....	them.
Ab.....	తమ....లో - చేత - తో.....	in &c. them.

we say వాడుతనతండ్రితోవచ్చినాడు he came with his (own) father. వీడు తనయింటికిపోయినాడా did he go to his (own) house?

277 The pronoun ఏమి commonly written యెమి, what? is defective: its inflexion is ఏమిటి, or ఏటి, but it is seldom used, except in the nominative or dative case; thus, nom. sing. ఏమి, what? dat. sing. ఏటికి, or ఏమిటికి, to or for what? why?

278 The words ఇందు-అందు-ఎందు, when standing alone, are not to be considered pronouns, but adverbs, respectively denoting in this place, in that place, and in what place? but when the postpositions కు - లో - చేత - వల్ల - కంటె-న, and a few others, are affixed to them, they are indeclinable pronouns, respectively denoting this, that, what? as ఇందులో in this, అందుచేత by that, ఎందుకు to or for what? wherefore?

CHAPTER FOURTH.

ADJECTIVES.

OF దేశ్యము ADJECTIVES.

The దేశ్యము adjectives are indeclinable, varying neither in gender, in number, nor in case; but dependent for these distinctions upon the substantive nouns or pronouns, to some of which they are invariably prefixed. The following list, containing a few of the most common, will shew that they generally terminate in the short vowels $\check{\text{a}}$ or u .

చల్ల.....	cold.	గట్టి.....	strong, hard.
చిన్న.....	small.	మెత్త.....	soft.
పెద్ద.....	great.	మురికి.....	dirty.
పిన్న.....	little.	తడి.....	damp, wet.
తెల్ల.....	white.	గుడ్డి.....	blind.
నల్ల.....	black.	చేఁచు.....	bitter.
ఎఱ్ఱ.....	red.	అందము.....	beautiful.
పచ్చ.....	yellow.	పొడుగు.....	tall, long.
చాడ.....	bad.	వదులు.....	slack.
పాత.....	old.	వెడల్పు.....	broad.
కొత్త.....	new.	బళువు.....	heavy.
మగ.....	male.	తీపు.....	sweet.
ముసలి.....	aged, old.	పులుసు.....	sour.
పొట్టి.....	short, small.	నిజము.....	true.
మంచి.....	good.	చురుకు.....	sharp.

280 A number of దేశ్యము adjectives, ending in \checkmark and denoting qualities which are the peculiar objects of sight, taste, or touch, when prefixed to substantive nouns or pronouns, may, at pleasure, affix the particle ని; thus, నల్ల black, తెల్ల white, ఎఱ్ఱ red, పచ్చ yellow, కామ azure blue, తియ్య sweet, పుల్ల sour, తిన్న or మెత్త soft, prefixed to substantives, either remain unchanged, or become నల్లని - తెల్లని &c. as తెల్ల or తెల్లనిబట్ట a white cloth, తియ్య or తియ్యని పండు a sweet fruit, మెత్త or మెత్తనిపత్తి soft cotton.

281 To all దేశ్యము adjectives, when prefixed to substantives, we may, at pleasure, affix the particles అగు-అయిన or అయినటువంటి from the verb అవు to become; but these affixes do not alter their meaning in any way whatever; thus, పెద్ద great, గొప్ప large, కొత్త new, గుడ్డి blind, పొట్టి short, వదులు slack, &c. make పెద్దగు-పెద్దయిన or పెద్దయినటువంటియిల్లు a large house, గొప్పగు-గొప్పైన or గొప్పైనటువంటిమనిసి a great person, and so forth; these particles, however, cannot be added to the adjectives mentioned above as assuming ని, until that affix is first inserted; thus, we cannot say నల్లైన but నల్లవైనబట్టి black cloth; it is at the same time to be remarked, that the addition of అగు-అయిన or అయినటువంటి to దేశ్యము adjectives is, in general, neither necessary nor elegant.

EXCEPTIONS.

282 The adjective చక్క handsome or fine, always affixes ని; thus, we say చక్కనిమనిషి a handsome person, not చక్కమనిషి.

283 వట్టి empty, మంచి good, and చిన్న small, take no affixes whatever: thus, వట్టిపెట్టె an empty box, మంచిమనిషి a good person, చిన్నగుఱ్ఱము a small horse.

284 The adjective సన్న thin, small, affixes, at pleasure, the syllable ము; to which అగు-అయిన or అయినటువంటి may be optionally added; thus, సన్నకాగితము or సన్నమైనకాగితము thin paper: when it assumes the syllable ము, it admits of another form, according to the following rule.

285 All దేశ్యము adjectives ending in ము, when prefixed to substantives, either affix అగు-అయిన, or అయినటువంటి, or change the final ము, to శు or ంపు:

thus, అందము beautiful, makes అందమగు. అందమయిన or అందమయినటువంటి మోము or మోములు a beautiful face or faces, or అందపు or అందంపు మోము or మోములు a beautiful face, or faces.

All other దేశ్యము adjectives ending in లు when prefixed, without any of the 286 affixes abovementioned, to substantives beginning with a vowel, require the insertion of ట, to prevent hiatus; thus, కఱకు sharp, and అమ్ము an arrow, make కఱకుటమ్ము a sharp arrow; నిగ్గు pure, and అన్దము, a mirror, make నిగ్గుటన్దము a pure mirror.

Some దేశ్యము adjectives are derived from substantives in the following 287 manner.

SUBSTANTIVES.

ADJECTIVES.

ఓడు.....	a leak	ఓటి.....	leaky .
కుంటు.....	lameness	కుంటి.....	lame .
జున్న.....	honey	జుంటి.....	honied .
ఇనుము.....	iron	ఇనువ.....	iron .
జనుము.....	hemp, flax	జనువ.....	hempen .
చెముడు.....	deafness	చెమిటి.....	deaf .

It is necessary to apprise the reader that many దేశ్యము nouns are used 288 both as adjectives and substantives, in the same manner as a number of terms in our own language; thus, we say తడినిండావున్నది the damp is great, and తడిబట్ట a damp cloth, the word తడి in Telooḡoo, and damp in English, being used, in these sentences, first as a substantive, and afterwards as an adjective noun: thus, also, we find that చేదు means either bitter or bitterness, పొడుగు tall or tallness, వెడల్పు broad or breadth, బళువు heavy or weight, తీపు sweet or sweetness, &c. but అందము beauty or beautiful, and other words in ము, which are used either as adjectives or substantives, may be considered properly to belong to the latter class of nouns; for it will be observed that, by rule 285, they cannot be used in the former sense, without adding certain affixes, which as substantives they never assume.

OF తత్సమము ADJECTIVES.

289 The rules which have been given for the derivation of substantive nouns from the Sanscrit, apply equally to the derivation of adjectives from that language: తత్సమము adjectives, therefore, in opposition to దేశ్యము adjectives, admit of the distinctions of gender, number, and case.

చమత్కారి	dexterous	చమత్కారి	చమత్కారిణి	చమత్కారి
అహంకారి	arrogant	అహంకారి	అహంకారిణి	అహంకారి

290 తత్సమము adjectives, when immediately prefixed to substantives, do not in general admit of declension. They usually require the particles అను. అయిన or అయినటువంటి to be affixed to the nominative singular, if the substantive be neuter; and if the substantive be masculine or feminine, either to the singular or plural nominative, according as the substantive may be in the singular or plural number: feminine తత్సమము adjectives in \check{v} , before affixing these particles, previously change the final \check{v} into \check{v} రాలు in the singular, and \check{v} రాండ్లు or \check{v} రాండ్లు in the plural, from the word ఆలు, denoting a female; thus, సుందర మైనయిల్లు or యిండ్లు a handsome house or houses, సుందరుడైనపురుషుడు a handsome man, సుందరులైనపురుషులు handsome men, సుందరురాలైనస్త్రీ a handsome woman, సుందరురాండ్లయినస్త్రీలు or సుందరురాండ్లయినస్త్రీలు handsome women.

Neuter తత్సమము adjectives in ము, instead of affixing అగు.అయిన or 291 అయినటువంటి, may, like the దేశ్యము adjectives, change the final ము, to పు or ంపు; thus, we may say సరసపు or సరసంపువలుకు or వలుకులు a mellifluent expression or expressions (literally, words full of quintessence.)

Sanscrit adjectives ending in the terminations వత్ and మత్, when adopted 292 into Teloogoo, change them, in the masculine gender to వంతుడు and మంతుడు; in the feminine, to వంతురాలు and మంతురాలు, or వతి and మతి; and in the neuter gender, to వంతము and మంతము, or వత్తు and మత్తు.

EXAMPLES.

Crude.	Adjective.	Masculine.	Feminine.	Neuter.
బలవత్strong.....	బలవంతుడు	బలవంతురాలు	బలవంతము
			బలవతి	బలవత్తు
బుద్ధిమత్	...sensible.....	బుద్ధిమంతుడు	బుద్ధిమంతురాలు	బుద్ధిమంతము
			బుద్ధిమతి	బుద్ధిమత్తు
భాగ్యవత్	.happy, rich	భాగ్యవంతుడు	భాగ్యవంతురాలు	భాగ్యవంతము
			భాగ్యవతి	భాగ్యవత్తు

తత్సమము adjectives, preceding తత్సమము substantives, often drop all their 293 Teloogoo terminations, and are compounded with the substantive in their uninflected or crude state, according to the rules of Sanscrit grammar; thus,

దుష్టుఁడు.....wicked and..... రాక్షసుఁడు a giant may become దుష్ట రాక్షసుఁడు, [a wicked giant-శ్రేష్ఠము....excellent and.... అశ్వము..... a horse శ్రేష్ఠాశ్వము an [excellent horse.
 అధికము.... much, and... .. ధనము.....money అధిక ధనము
 [much money]
 ధనవంతుఁడు opulent, and . ప్రభువు.....a master ధనవ ప్రభువు
 [an opulent master.

294 In the common dialect, neuter adjectives in ము, of whatever class, are constantly prefixed, with the particles అగు.అయిన or అయినటువంటి, to substantives of all genders and numbers promiscuously; thus, సుందరమగు.సుందరమయిన or సుందరమయినటువంటి-పురుషుఁడు-పురుషులు. స్త్రీ-స్త్రీలు.ముఖము - ముఖములు &c. a handsome man-men-woman-women-face-faces, &c.

295 The rules respecting తద్భవము and అన్యదేశ్యము substantives are also applicable to adjectives of the same descriptions.

OF ADJECTIVE PRONOUNS.

296 The adjective pronouns may be divided into the same classes as the substantive pronouns of the third person, viz. definite and indefinite, with the addition of the possessive pronouns.

POSSESSIVES.

297 The possessive pronouns consist of the possessive or genitive cases of the respective substantive pronouns, without the postposition యొక్క viz.

నా.....my	వాని.....his (remote)
మా.....our	దాని.....her or its (do)
మన.....our	వీరి.....their M & F. (proximate)
నీ.....thy	వీటి.....their N. (do)
మీ.....your	వారి.....their M. & F. (remote)
వీని.....his (proximate)	వాటి.....their N. (do)
దీని.....her or its (proximate)	తన.....his, her, its
	తమ.....their

298 These pronouns are indeclinable; they are prefixed to nouns in the same manner as the దేశ్యము adjectives, but without affixes of any kind; thus నాయిల్లు my house, వారిగుట్టములు their horses, &c.

DEFINITE PRONOUNS.

Each of the definite adjective pronouns consists of one long vowel; viz. 299 the demonstrative proximate ఈ, or, as it is vulgarly written, యీ, meaning this; the demonstrative remote ఆ that; and the interrogative ఏ or, as it is commonly written, యే, what? When prefixed to substantives, these pronouns are sometimes converted into their corresponding short vowels, and the following consonant is then doubled; thus, ఈకమలము or ఇక్కమలము or, as it is commonly written, యీకమలము or యిక్కమలము this lotus, ఆకాలము or అక్కాలము that time, ఏకాలము or ఎక్కాలము or as it is vulgarly written యేకాలము or యెక్కాలము what time? When the vowel is shortened, the క is doubled, in each of these examples.

INDEFINITE PRONOUNS.

The indefinite adjective pronouns are prefixed to plural substantives, with- 300 out any intermediate affix; they are merely the nominative cases of the indefinite substantive pronouns of the third person, viz.

M. & F.	N.
ఇందఱు.....	ఇన్ని	so many.
అందఱు.....	అన్ని	all.
కొందఱు.....	కొన్ని	a few.
ఎందఱు.....	ఎన్ని	how many?

The indeclinable particle అంత, commonly written అంతా, meaning the 301 whole, in full, &c. affixed to substantives, has the same force as the pronouns అందఱు or అన్ని prefixed to them; thus, అందఱుమనుష్యులు or మనుష్యులంత all men, అన్నివస్తువులు or వస్తువులంత all things.

Each of the details of the life of the nation is of course of great importance, and it is the duty of the historian to record them as fully as possible. CHAPTER FIFTH.

VERBS.

Teloogoo verbs are of four kinds; neuter, active, passive, and causal. 302

These verbs are divided into two parts, the affirmative, and the negative; 303 and each of these two parts has an indicative mood, an imperative mood, participles, and a verbal noun. The affirmative verb has an infinitive, but the negative verb has none.

INDICATIVE.

The indicative mood, in the affirmative verb, has, properly, only four 304 tenses; the present, the past, the future, and the aorist. In the negative verb, the aorist is the only tense. Each of these tenses has two numbers, the singular and the plural; and in each number there are three persons; but there is no distinction of gender, except in the third person. In the singular number of most of the tenses, the third person masculine is distinguished from the third person feminine and neuter, both of which are the same. In the plural, the third person masculine and feminine are one; and the neuter is, in general, different from both. In a few cases, however, the third person is the same for all genders.

IMPERATIVE.

The imperative has two numbers; the singular and the plural. This 305 mood, in the affirmative verb, has two persons; the 2d in the singular, and the 1st and 2d in the plural. In the negative verb, it has the 2d person only in each number.

PARTICIPLES.

The participles are of two distinct kinds: the one we shall denominate 306 verbal, and the other relative, participles.

The affirmative verb has two verbal participles; the present and the past. 307

The negative verb has one only, indefinite as to time. These verbal participles require the addition of some personal termination, or of some tense of another verb, in order to distinguish number and person. They can never be used as adjectives, or substantives, like the English participles, in such phrases as, the sounding shore, by promising, in speaking, &c. &c. they must almost invariably be followed by a personal termination, or be governed by some tense of a verb; as in the phrases, frowning she speaks, pleased he departed, wondering he stands. The words frowning, pleased, and wondering, represent the Teloo-goo verbal participle; and the words speaks, departed, and stands, the Teloo-goo governing verb.

- 308 In the affirmative verb, there are three relative participles; the present, the past, and the indefinite; in the negative verb the indefinite only. They admit of no personal terminations, they can precede no verb, and are termed relative participles, because the power of the English relative pronoun who, which, that, is inherent in them: they therefore always refer to some noun or pronoun with which they agree, as adjectives; thus, a tree which grows, a horse that leaps, would be expressed in Teloo-goo by the relative participles; viz. పెరి నే చెట్టు a growing tree, దుమి కే నుట్టెడు a leaping horse. In order that the reader may recollect that our relative pronouns are inherent in this part of the Teloo-goo verb, the relative that (selected, as agreeing promiscuously with all genders) will be prefixed to it in English; thus, that leaps, that grows, &c.

VERBAL NOUNS.

- 309 The verbal nouns are declinable substantives, expressing the action itself which is signified by the verb. Those terminating in ము follow the rules for the second declension; and those ending in any other syllable, are declined like nouns of the third declension.

- 310 The origin of every part of the Teloo-goo verb may be traced to that crude form of it termed the ధౌతు root; which is sometimes also an abstract noun, and, in the common dialect, is often the 2d person singular of the affirmative imperative. It always ends in ం; thus,

ఆటకొంచు.....	to hear, to listen.
అడ్డగించు.....	to prevent, to oppose.
ఊరదొంచు.....	to console, to comfort.
ఎదిరించు.....	to oppose.
కున్నురించు.....	to pour.
తెగించు.....	to venture, to dare.
దీవించు.....	to bless.
పవస్థించు.....	to lie down.
చిగుర్పు.....	to bud.
తలంచు.....	to think.
ప్రేరేచు.....	to induce, to excite.
ఎగియు.....	to fly.
పెనయు.....	to be twisted.
మెరియు.....	to shine.
కూయు.....	to make a noise, to bark.
చేయు.....	to make.
వ్రాయు.....	to write.
కురియు.....	to rain.
అడుగు.....	to ask.
ఊలుము.....	to thunder.
ఎగురు.....	to fly.
కడుగు.....	to clean, to wash.
చదువు.....	to study, to read.
తిలుగు.....	to wander, to turn back.
దుముకు.....	to leap.
పెరుగు.....	to grow.
వడుకు.....	to spin.

It is necessary to remark that, although the Teloogoo root has been translated with to, the sign of the English infinitive, it is never used in an infinitive signification. 311

312 From the root thus terminating in ఑ , are formed the verbal participles, and the infinitive of the affirmative verb; and from these three principal parts of the verb, viz. the root, the verbal participles, and the infinitive of the affirmative verb, spring all the rest of it's parts, both affirmative, and negative, as shewn in the following table.

THE PRINCIPAL PARTS OF THE VERB.

From the root in చ, the present verbal participle is formed, by adding చు 313 in the superior, and తు in the inferior dialect; thus, కొట్టు, to beat, makes కొట్టుచు or కొట్టుతు, beating. The participle ఉన్ను from the root ఉండు to be, may be added, as an auxiliary, to each of these participles, which, by the rules for Sundhi, make చున్ను and తున్ను respectively; hence కొట్టుచున్ను and కొట్టుతున్ను beating.

The past verbal participle is formed by changing చ of the root into ఞ; in 314 other words, as expressed in the table, by adding ఞ to the root in చ, the final చ being dropped: thus, from కొట్టు, to beat, comes కొట్టి, having beaten.

The infinitive is formed by merely dropping the final చ of the root; thus, 315 from the root కొట్టు comes కొట్ట, to beat.

INDICATIVE MOOD.

The present tense is derived from the present verbal participles; the past 316 tense from the past verbal participle; the future and the affirmative aorist from the root, and the negative aorist from the infinitive, by the addition of the affixes shewn in the table, which consist partly of certain terminations defining the several persons singular and plural, partly of particles interposed between these personal terminations, and the principal parts of the verb, whence the tenses are derived.

PERSONAL TERMINATIONS.

The personal terminations of the verb are derived from the substantive. 317 pronouns.

The personal terminations of the first and second persons are, 318

For all the tenses, except the first form } of the past tense..... } For the first form of the past tense.

Singular.....	1 ను	ని
	2 వు	వి
Plural.....	1 ము	మి
	2 రు	రి

319 Except the first form of the past tense, which merely converts the final \circ to \circ , the first person singular of all the tenses ends in ను, the termination of the pronoun నేను I; the second person singular, in the same manner, terminates in ను, the final syllable of నీవు thou; the first person plural ends in ము, the termination of మేము we; and the second person plural ends in రు, the termination of మీరు, you.

320 The personal terminations of the third person are not so regular: they stand thus.

		Present.	Past.		Future.		Aorist. Negative Aorist.
			1st form.	2d form.	1st form.	2d form.
Singular.	M.చునుచునినిను
	F. N. & F. M.చిసుదినినిను
Plural.	M. & F. N.రురిరురురురు
	N.చినుచినినిను

321 In the present tense, in the second form of the past, and in the negative aorist, the third person singular ends, in the masculine, with చు, the final syllable of the pronouns వీచు or వాచు, he; in the feminine and neuter gender of the two first mentioned tenses, it terminates with చి, the final syllable of the pronouns ఇచి or అచి, she or it; but in the feminine and neuter of the last mentioned tense, it ends with చు. The first form of the past tense, and the affirmative aorist, have ను, and the two forms of the future ని, for all genders in the third person singular.

322 Except the first form of the perfect tense, which merely converts \circ into \circ , the third person plural of all the tenses in the masculine and feminine genders ends in రు, the final syllable of the pronouns వీరు or వారు, they, in the neuter of the present tense, and of the second form of the past tense, it ends in చి, the final syllable of the neuter pronouns ఇచి or అచి, they; but the other tenses have the neuter plural the same as in the neuter singular, except the negative aorist, which terminates in చు.

INTERMEDIATE PARTICLES.

Before affixing the personal terminations above stated to the principal parts 323 of the verb, from which the tenses are derived ; the affirmative tenses assume certain intermediate particles, which are the same for the first and second persons both singular and plural, but are liable to variation in the third person, as shewn below.

	1st and 2d persons singular and plural.	3d person singular.	3d person plural.
		M.	F. & N. M. & F. N.
Present.....	—	—	న్న.....—.....న్న
Past... {	1st form...తి.....	—	—.....—
{	2d form...నా.....	నా.....	న.....నా.....న
Future {	1st form...ద.....	డి.....	డి.....ద.....డి
{	2d form...శ.....	శ or శి.....	శ or శి.....శు.....శ or శి
Aorist.....	దు.....	దు.....	దు.....

In the present tense, long — (దీఘము) is prefixed to all the personal 324 terminations, except the third person feminine or neuter in the singular, and the third person neuter in the plural, which prefix న్న.

In the first form of the past tense, తి is prefixed to all the personal termi- 325 nations, except to those of the third person, which take — before them in the singular, and in the neuter plural : in the masculine and feminine plural, there is no prefix. In the second form of the past tense, నా is prefixed to all the personal terminations, except the third person feminine and neuter in the singular, and the third person neuter in the plural, which prefix న.

The first form of the future prefixes ద to all the personal terminations, 326 except to those of the third person singular and the neuter of the third person plural, which prefix డి. The second form prefixes శ to all the personal terminations ; but in the third person singular, and in the neuter of the third person plural, it may at pleasure be changed into శి .

The affirmative aorist prefixes దు to all the personal terminations, except to 327 those of the third person singular, and of the neuter third person plural, which take no prefix.

- 328 The negative aorist does not assume any prefix before the personal terminations.

PRESENT TENSE.

- 329 The personal terminations, connected with the intermediate particles for the present tense, are exhibited in the table; thus, $\bar{\text{ను}}-\bar{\text{వు}}-\bar{\text{డు}}-\bar{\text{న్నది}} \&c.$ When these affixes are added to the present verbal participle, in order to form the present tense, the final $\bar{\text{ు}}$ of the participle is dropped, and the present verbal participle, in all verbs, having four forms, viz. $\bar{\text{చు}}-\bar{\text{తు}}-\bar{\text{చున్ను}}-\bar{\text{తున్ను}}$, the present tense, which is formed from the participles, has also four forms, viz. $\bar{\text{చాను}}-\bar{\text{తాను}}-\bar{\text{చున్నాను}}-\bar{\text{తున్నాను}} \&c.$ thus, the present verbal participles $\bar{\text{కొట్టుచు}}-\bar{\text{కొట్టుతు}}-\bar{\text{కొట్టుచున్ను}}$ and $\bar{\text{కొట్టుతున్ను}}$ beating, respectively, make $\bar{\text{కొట్టుచాను}} \&c.$ $\bar{\text{కొట్టుతాను}} \&c.$ $\bar{\text{కొట్టుచున్నాను}} \&c.$ or $\bar{\text{కొట్టుతున్నాను}} \&c.$ I &c. beat; but it will be seen, from the table, that the third person feminine or neuter in the singular, and the third person neuter in the plural, are not added to the participles in $\bar{\text{చున్ను}}$ or $\bar{\text{తున్ను}}$, but only to those in $\bar{\text{చు}}$ or $\bar{\text{తు}}$: they have, therefore, only two forms; viz. $\bar{\text{చున్నది}}$ or $\bar{\text{తున్నది}}$ - $\bar{\text{చున్నవి}}$ or $\bar{\text{తున్నవి}}$ respectively; for the conversion in the singular of $\bar{\text{న్న}}$ to $\bar{\text{ు}}$, in the common dialect, can hardly be reckoned a new form; thus, $\bar{\text{కొట్టుచున్నది}}$ or $\bar{\text{కొట్టుతున్నది}}$ she or it beats, $\bar{\text{కొట్టుచున్నవి}}$ or $\bar{\text{కొట్టుతున్నవి}}$ they beat. The participles in $\bar{\text{చు}}$ and $\bar{\text{చున్ను}}$ are both strictly grammatical, but those in $\bar{\text{తు}}$ and $\bar{\text{తున్ను}}$ are generally used in the common dialect. Of the four forms of the present tense derived from these participles, that only which is derived from the participle in $\bar{\text{చున్ను}}$ viz. $\bar{\text{చున్నాను}} \&c.$ is strictly grammatical, the form derived from the grammatical participle in $\bar{\text{చు}}$, viz. $\bar{\text{చాను}}$, is vulgar, and its use is confined chiefly to the religious bramins of the Northern districts: but the forms derived from the participles in $\bar{\text{తు}}$ and $\bar{\text{తున్ను}}$, viz. $\bar{\text{తాను}}$ and $\bar{\text{తున్నాను}} \&c.$ are in common use, and should always be selected in preference to the other forms, when we speak the language.

PAST TENSE.

- 330 There is not any variation in the past verbal participle, from which the two forms of the past tense are derived; their formation, as shewn in the table, is therefore very simple ; కొట్టి having beaten makes in the first form కొట్టితిని I have beaten, కొట్టితివి thou hast beaten &c. The third person of the first form is కొట్టెను he, she, or it has beaten, the ^o of కొట్టి being dropped when the termination ను, beginning with a vowel, is added to it. In the second form, కొట్టి having beaten, makes కొట్టినాను &c. I have beaten &c. Both of these forms are strictly grammatical, and both are equally in common use.

FUTURE.

All the terminations added to the root, to compose the two forms of this 331 tense, commence with vowels ; the final ^o of the root is therefore dropped, when they are added to it ; thus, the root కొట్టు makes కొట్టెదను or కొట్టేను, I will beat. The second form of this tense is used by the vulgar only. The first person singular of the second form of this tense must not be confounded with the third person singular in the first form of the past tense. కొట్టేను I will beat is entirely distinct, in meaning, from కొట్టెను he, she, or it has beaten ; but the only difference in writing or pronouncing them, is, that the ^o before ను is long in the former, and short in the latter. It is of much importance to the reader to understand, that the two forms of the future tense are seldom used ; the present or the aorist being commonly substituted for them.

AORIST.

The formation of the affirmative aorist from the root, and of the negative 332 aorist from the infinitive, by the addition of the affixes shewn in the table, is so simple, as scarcely to require explanation : the root కొట్టు makes it's affirmative aorist కొట్టుదును, I do beat, have beaten, or will beat ; and from the infinitive కొట్ట comes కొట్టను, I do not beat, have not beaten, or will not beat.

IMPERATIVE, PARTICIPLES, AND VERBAL NOUNS.

AFFIRMATIVE VERBS.

The affirmative imperative is formed by adding to the rootము or మీ for the 333 2d person singular ; దము, or in the common dialect దాము, for the 1st person plural ; and డు or డి for the 2d person plural : the last mentioned termination, in the common dialect, is added to the infinitive, instead of the root ; thus, from కొట్టు come కొట్టుము or కొట్టుమీ beat thou; కొట్టుదము, or in the common dialect కొట్టుదాము, let us beat, కొట్టుడు or కొట్టుడీ, or in the common dialect కొట్టండి, beat ye; the reader, however, will bear in mind that, by rule 310, the root itself, in the common dialect, is often used as the 2d person singular of the affirmative imperative; instead of కొట్టుము or కొట్టుమీ, therefore, we constantly say కొట్టు beat thou.

334 The formation of the verbal participles, in the affirmative verb, has already been explained; see rules 313 and 314: it only remains, therefore, to shew the manner in which the relative participles are formed: the present relative participle is formed from the present verbal participles in న్ను, by changing న్ను into న్న: there are two verbal participles in న్ను, viz. the grammatical participle in చున్న, and the common participle in తున్న; the relative participle, therefore, has also two corresponding forms, చున్న and తున్న; thus, from కొట్టుచున్న and కొట్టుతున్న beating, come కొట్టుచున్న and, in the common dialect, కొట్టుతున్న that beats. The past relative participle is formed by adding the syllable న to the past verbal participle; thus, from కొట్టి having beaten, comes కొట్టిన that has beaten; the indefinite relative participle is formed by adding to the root ఁడు or ఁడి in the superior, and ఁ or ఁటి in the common dialect, and as all these terminations commence with a vowel, the ఁ final of the root must be dropped when they are added: thus, the root కొట్టు makes its indefinite relative participle కొట్టెడు or కొట్టెడి in the superior dialect, and in the common dialect, కొట్టే or కొట్టేటి that beats, has beaten, or will beat. The root itself is sometimes, in books, used as the indefinite relative participle.

335 The affirmative verbal noun is formed by adding ట to the root, or in the common dialect, by adding డము to the infinitive; thus, from కొట్టు come కొట్టుట, or in the common dialect కొట్టడము the beating.

NEGATIVE VERB.

336 The negative-imperative is formed by adding to the infinitive కుము or కుమీ, or in the common dialect క్, for the 2d person singular; and కుడు or కుడీ, or in the common dialect కండి, for the 2d person plural; thus, from కొట్టు to beat come కొట్టకుము or కొట్టకుమీ or కొట్టక^{కి} beat not thou, and కొట్టకుండు or కొట్టకుండి or కొట్టకండి beat not ye. By adding to the infinitive క్, we form the negative verbal participle ; by adding to it ని, we form the negative relative participle ; and by adding to it మి, we form the negative verbal noun ; thus, from కొట్ట to beat come కొట్టక without beating or having beaten ; కొట్టని that does not, has not, or will not beat ; and కొట్టమి the not beating.

Neuter and active verbs are conjugated in the same manner: we shall, 337 therefore, treat of them conjointly ; merely distinguishing the దేశ్యము from the తత్సమము verbs : we shall afterwards submit an example of the passive verb, and shall conclude this chapter with a few remarks on the causal verb.

OF దేశ్యము VERBS.

Roots in చు or యు undergo certain changes to which other verbs are not 338 liable : we shall, therefore, divide the verbs in to three conjugations ; the first, including all verbs the root of which terminates in 'any other syllable than యు or చు ; the second, all those that have the root in యు ; and the third, all those of which the root terminates in చు ; and, in giving an example of each conjugation, we shall place first the correct grammatical form, the common forms following in order, as they more or less approach to it.

FIRST CONJUGATION.

All the roots that terminate in any other syllable than యు or చు belong 339 to this conjugation ; and merely require the addition of the different terminations mentioned in the foregoing table.

The root కొట్ట to beat, is selected as an example of this conjugation. 340

EXCEPTIONS:

The undermentioned and a few other roots ending in ను, when followed by చు or దు, change నుచు or నుదు, at pleasure, into న్చు or ంచు, న్దు or ందు; and in these verbs, the syllables ని or ను, followed by త, are invariably changed into ం, the తి being at the same time, converted into ట.

అను.....	to say.
కను.....	to see, to bring forth.
కొను.....	to buy, to take.
విను.....	to hear.
తిను.....	to eat.

343 For instance, కొను to buy, in order to form the present affirmative verbal participle, adds చు, and makes కొనుచు or కొన్ను or కొంచు buying; and in the affirmative aorist కొనుచును or కొన్నును or కొంచును. In the second and third persons plural of the affirmative aorist, instead of కొంచురు, we may, by a rule applicable to these verbs only, change the ం of చు, or the చు itself, into ఁ; thus, కొంఁచురు or కొంఁచు, you or they buy, did buy, or will buy; thus also కొను followed by తున్ను, makes కొంటున్ను buying; and, in the perfect tense, కొని, followed by తిని, makes కొంటిని I have bought.

344 The foregoing verbs, together with

చను.....to go.....	నగు.....to laugh or smile.
చెడు.....to be corrupted.....	తగు.....to suit, to fit.
పడు.....to fall.....	తెగు.....to break.
కొడు.....to place, to keep.....	దిగు.....to descend.

may at option change ం, at the commencement of any of the terminations mentioned in the table, into ం యె; thus, కొనెను or కొనియెను he has bought, కొనెదను or కొనియెదను I shall buy.

345 All the roots mentioned above as exceptions, instead of forming the past relative participle of the affirmative verb in the regular manner, may, at pleasure, form it by changing the final ం of the root into ఁ and doubling the preceding consonant; thus, we say either కొనిన or కొన్న that bought, తగిన or తగ్గ that fitted.

346 The roots in ను specified in rule 342, together with the three roots in ఁ mentioned in rule 344, contract the second form of the past tense, in a manner peculiar to themselves; by doubling the consonant of the second syllable, which coalesces with the vowel of the third syllable, and rejecting both the vowel of the second syllable, and the consonant of the third syllable; thus, కొనినాను I bought, becomes కొన్నాను, and పడినాను, I fell, becomes పడ్డాను.

The verb కొను, to buy, is here given at full length, as an example of the 347 irregular verbs of this conjugation.

SECOND CONJUGATION IN యు.

349 All verbs having the root in యు form the affirmative aorist and imperative, either in the manner explained in the table rule 312, or by changing యుదు of the affirmative aorist into తు, and యుద of the affirmative imperative into త ; and, in these cases, if the vowel preceding యు be ^o, it must be changed into o; thus, from చేయు to do comes చేయుదును or చేతును I do, did, or shall do. చేయుదము or చేతము let us do; but the root తడియు, which has ^o preceding యు, makes తడియుదును or తడుతును, and తడియుదము or తడుతము, never తడితును and తడితము.

350 In the common dialect, roots in యు form the second person of the affirmative imperative by changing the యు into యి; thus, చేయు to do makes చేయి do thou.

351 Roots in యు, when they affix ^o or ^o, or terminations beginning with these vowels, as shewn in the table, rule 312, invariably change the final syllable యు into సు or శు; thus, the root చేయు to do, when it adds ^o to form the past verbal participle, makes చేసి or చేశి having done, and when it adds ^oదను to form the future, it makes చేసెదను or చేశెదను, &c. never చేయెదను &c. when followed by ట to form the verbal noun, and by ను in the third person singular of the affirmative aorist, such roots change the యు into సు at option

N. B.—The verb కొను has two irregular forms in the second person of the affirmative imperative, viz. కొమ్ము or కొమ్మి buy thou కొండు or కొండ్ బuy ye.

only ; as చేయుట or చేసుట the doing, చేయును or చేసును he, she, or it does, did, or will do ; and if the vowel preceding the యు be o, it must be changed into u ; thus, తడియు to be damp, makes తడుసుట the being damp, తడుసును he, she, or it is, was, or will be damp, never తడిసుట, and తడిసును.

Roots in యు, when followed by తున్ను or తు, invariably change the syllable యు into the letter u, which coalesces with the o in it's doubled form oo ; thus, చేయు followed by తున్ను or తు, to form the common present verbal participle always becomes చేస్తున్ను and చేస్తు respectively, never చేయుతున్ను and చేయుతు.

The following is an example of this conjugation.

Roots in యు of two syllables, of which the first ends in a long vowel, often shorten that vowel; and, in this case, double the య; thus, the root చేయు may become చెయ్యు, the infinitive తీయ, తియ్య &c. &c.

THIRD CONJUGATION IN చు.

All verbs having the root in చు, form the aorist and imperative, either in the manner explained in the foregoing table, rule 312, or by changing చుచు in the affirmative aorist into తు, and చుచు in the affirmative imperative into త. If the root has a double చ్చు, the తు and త are also doubled, into త్తు and త్త; thus, దీవిం చుచును or దీవింతును - దీవిం చుచుము or దీవింతము, మెచ్చుచును or మెత్తును, మెచ్చుచుము or మెత్తుము.

In the common dialect, the terminations ము and మీ, in the second person singular of the affirmative imperative, are often dropped in this conjugation.

The undermentioned verbs terminating in చు, likewise deviate from the rules given in the foregoing table, (312) by forming the infinitive in వ, instead of చ, and taking వు instead of చు before the terminations for the affirmative imperative.

అటచు.....to make a loud or clamorous noise.	నడుచు.....to walk.
ఏడుచు.....to weep, to lament.	నిలుచు.....to stand.
కరచు to bite.	పిలుచు.....to call.
కాచు.....only when it signifies to protect.	మఱచు.....to forget.
కుడుచు....to suck, to eat.	మొలుచు...to grow, to shoot.
కొలుచు...to measure, to serve.	విడుచు.....to quit, to leave.
గడుచు...to pass, or elapse.	లేచు.....to rise. (This verb has also an irregular form in the 2d person of the affirmative imperative, viz. లేమ్మ, rise thou, లేండు rise ye.)
గెలుచు...to win.

thus, పిలుచు to call, makes, in the infinitive పిలువ, never పిలుచ, and in the imperative పిలువుము never పిలుచుము.

360 The following, and a few other roots in చు, may at pleasure form the infinitive either in చ or వ, and may take either చు or వు before the terminations of the affirmative imperative.

కూడుచు...to draw, to drag.	పీలుచు.....to draw up any thing with the breath, as an elephant does water with his trunk.
కొడుచు...to sweep.	ప్రోచు.....to protect.
బలుచు...to strip off any thing naturally attached to a substance.	మలచు.....to cut, or carve stone; to separate sand from grain.
బీరుచు...to suffer.	మోచు.....to bear a burden.
తరుచు...to churn.	వగచు.....to grieve.
తుడుచు...to cleanse by rubbing, to efface.	వలచు.....to love.
తొలుచు...to perforate, to cleanse a pot or vessel, to carve wood.	వీచు.....to blow as the wind.
నులుచు...to thresh.	వేలుచు.....to sacrifice.
నలుచు...to squeeze, to crush.	వైచు.....to place, or put.

thus, కొడుచు to sweep makes, in the infinitive కొడ్చు or కొడ్చు, and in the affirmative imperative కొడ్చుము or కొడ్చుము &c.

361 The only deviations from the general rules given in the table, rule 312, of which the following roots in చు admit, are those mentioned in the two first rules for this conjugation (357 & 358.)

- ఎంచుto reckon, to think.
- కాంచు.....to attend.
- పంచు.....to share, to divide.
- హించు.....to lurk, to lie in wait secretly.
- మించు.....to surpass, to go beyond.
- వంచు.....to harass, to torment.
- గీచు.....to scrape, to scratch.
- తిగించు.....to take, to receive.
- త్రోచు.....to imagine, to think.
- దోచు.....to rob.
- సోచు.....to perform a ceremony in which a string is consecrated to a particular deity, and then tied round the arm or wrist; it is generally performed by females.
- తూచు.....to weigh.

- రాచు.....to rub.
- అచ్చు.....to owe.
- కచ్చు.....to move a piece, as in a game [of chess, &c.
- క్రచ్చు...to love, to desire.
- గిచ్చు.....to claw.
- గ్రచ్చు...to string (pearls, &c.)
- గొచ్చు...to dig.
- త్రచ్చు.....to churn.
- నచ్చు.....to trust, to confide.
- పుచ్చు.....to send, to command, to rot.
- మెచ్చు.....to prefer, to approve.
- వ్రచ్చు...to break in pieces.
- వాక్రుచ్చు.to say.
- వోచ్చు.....to increase.

All other roots in చు have the infinitive optionally either in చ or in ప, and, 362 when followed by చున్ను to form the present verbal participle, by చు to form certain parts of the affirmative aorist, or by the terminations for the affirmative imperative, they may, at pleasure, convert చు into పు; thus, దీవించు, to bless, makes in the infinitive దీవించ or దీవింప, in the present verbal participle దీవించుచున్ను or దీవింపుచున్ను; in the aorist దీవించుచును or దీవింపుచును, and in the imperative దీవించుము or దీవింపుము.

The verbs of the class last mentioned being more numerous than any others, 363 in చు, one of them has been selected as an example of this conjugation.

In the common dialect, the syllables చు or చి, in this conjugation, when followed by the consonant t తి, may at option be changed into the letter s సి, which coalesces with the t తి, in its double form —. In this case, if o precede చు or చి it is dropped; thus దీవించుతున్ను becomes దీవిస్తున్ను, and దీవించుతు దీవిస్తు; the two last forms of the present tense are accordingly converted into

OF తత్సమములు OR VERBS OF SANSKRIT DERIVATION.

369 All Sanscrit verbs cannot, at pleasure, be adopted into Telooogo; those only the use of which has already been sanctioned by custom being considered as properly belonging to the language. When admitted into Telooogo, such verbs assume either the termination \ominus చు or \ominus లు ; in the former case, they are conjugated like దీవించు and other regular దేశ్యము verbs in చు of the 3d conjugation ; in the latter case, like కొట్టు, or any other verb of the 1st conjugation. With this general rule, it will be sufficient to shew how the Teloogoo root is formed from the Sanscrit root.

Sanscrit roots are adopted into Teloogoo in five different ways. 370

1st, by changing the final syllable of the Sanscrit verbal noun into \ominus చు ; for instance, the Sanscrit root పుష్ to protect, makes it's verbal noun in Sanscrit పోష, this by changing the final syllable into \ominus చు makes the Teloogoo root పోషించు, which is conjugated precisely in the same manner as దీవించు.

A few other examples are subjoined. 371

Sanscrit Root. Sanscrit verbal noun. Teloogoo Root.

ను.....	నుతి.....	నుతించు.....	to praise.
ధై.....	ధ్యాన.....	ధ్యానించు.....	to contemplate, to meditate.
స్తు.....	స్తుతి.....	స్తుతించు.....	to praise.
క్రుధ్.....	(క్రో)ధ.....	క్రోధించు.....	} to be angry.
కుప్.....	కోప.....	కోపించు.....
గమ్.....	గతి.....	గతించు.....	to pass, to go.
కప.....	కంప.....	కంపించు.....	to tremble, to shake, &c.
స్తభ్.....	స్తంభ.....	స్తంభించు.....	to stand without motion.

2dly, by changing final \ominus or $\omin�$ of Sanscrit roots into \checkmark యించు, final \circ or \cup , into \checkmark వించు, and final \cup or \cup into \checkmark రించు.

జి.....	జయించు.....	to conquer.
క్షి.....	క్షయించు.....	to be exhausted.
ద్రు.....	ద్రవించు.....	to damp.
భృ.....	భరించు.....	to bear.

స్తృ.....	స్తరించు.....	to think, to reflect.
ధృ.....	ధరించు.....	to bear.
వృ.....	వరించు.....	to select.

3dly, by affixing ^oంచు to the Sanscrit root ; thus,

Sanscrit Root.	Teloogoo Root.
త్యజ్	త్యజించు	to renounce, to quit.
నశ్	నశించు	to be destroyed.
శప	శపించు	to curse.
తప	తపించు	to perform penance.
శబ్ద	శబ్దించు	to sound.
ఘ్రమ్	ఘ్రమించు	to be confused.

లిఖ్	లిఖించు	to write.
నట	నటించు	to dance.
గణ	గణించు	to calculate.
వస్	వసించు	to dwell.

4thly, by changing the final syllable of crude Sanscrit substantives or adjectives into ^oంచు ; thus,

Sanscrit nouns.	Teloogoo root.
మూఞ్	మూఞ్చించు	to insist obstinately.
స్వతంత్ర	స్వతంత్రించు	to make one's self independent.
సమీప	సమీపించు	to approach.
శుష్ఠ	శుష్ఠించు	to become lean.
గర్వ	గర్వించు	to be proud.
శృంగార	శృంగారించు	to adorn.

5thly, a few neuter verbs are formed by adding to certain Sanscrit words the affix ^oల్లు, sometimes also converted into ^oంచు.

Sanscrit Root.	Teloogoo Root.
ఘట్	ఘట్టిల్లు	to be afflicted.
శుభ్	శుభ్భిల్లు	to shine.
చిత్	చింతిల్లు or చింతించు	to reflect, to study.

PASSIVE VERBS.

Neuter verbs, from their nature, do not admit of a passive signification; but 372 all active verbs in Telooḡoo, of whatever description, may become passive, by adding to the infinitive the different tenses of the verb పడు to fall, meaning in composition, to suffer.

The verb which is made passive continues invariably in the infinitive, the 373 auxiliary పడు only being conjugated through all its persons, numbers, and tenses. The infinitive being a ద్రుతస్ కృతిక, the ప of పడు is generally changed, in composition, into బ; and in the superior dialect C is placed before that letter.

The following is an example of a passive verb.

OF CAUSAL VERBS.

375 All verbs in Teloogoo admit of being converted into causals. It is however to be observed that neuter verbs, in this language, when they assume the causal form, become in fact active verbs: the Teloogoo root లేచు to rise is a neuter verb, లేపు to cause to rise is its causal, which corresponds precisely with the English active verb to raise.

376 Except verbs in చు of the 3d conjugation, and a few others hereafter noticed, all roots, by changing the final ు into ంచు, convert active verbs into causals, and neuter verbs into actives; thus,

మొక్కు.....to salute makes.....(మొక్కించు.....to cause to salute.

377 తత్సమము neuter verbs in ల్లు become active by changing ల్లు into చు; thus రంజిల్లు to be pleased makes రంజించు to please; ఖేదిల్లు to be afflicted makes ఖేదించు to afflict.

378 Roots in చు of the third conjugation by changing చు into పించు, and చ్చు into ప్పించు, convert actives into causals, and neuter into active verbs, thus, పిలుచు.....to call.....makes పిలిపించు..... to send for.

CHAPTER SIXTH.

S Y N T A X.

An extensive command of words, a knowledge of their various inflexions, and the choice of such as are most fit to convey our ideas, are necessary to the correct use of every language. But these alone are not sufficient: the force, the elegance, and even the meaning of our expressions, must still depend, in a great degree, on an idiomatical arrangement of the terms which we employ. To illustrate the particular disposition of words which is most consonant to the genius of the Teloogoo language, is the object of the present chapter, and as immediately connected with this subject, I shall here take occasion to treat of the adverbs, conjunctions, interjections, and other indeclinable words, unnoticed in the preceding part of this work.

A strict adherence to the rules which have been laid down regarding the permutation and elision of letters, might possibly distract the reader's attention from the main subject of the present chapter. I shall therefore purposely neglect them, in the examples adduced in support of the following remarks, except where the observance of them may be necessary for the elucidation of any particular part of the syntax; and in order to render the study of the Teloogoo more easy to those who have acquired a knowledge of the Tamil tongue, and to shew in what respects the two sister languages coincide, I shall endeavour as much as possible, in this part of my work, to follow the Jesuit Beschi, an author of established authority in the Tamil language.

OF THE CASES OF SUBSTANTIVES, AND THE USE OF THE POSTPOSITIONS.

- 380 The reader has been already informed, that in nouns denoting inanimate things, the nominative is constantly used for the accusative. This will be explained more fully when we treat of the government of nouns by verbs.
- 381 The genitive, possessive, or inflected case, seldom affixes the postposition యొక్క. We constantly find రామునియిల్లు, used for రామునియొక్కయిల్లు Rama's house; ఇంద్రునిసభ for ఇంద్రునియొక్కసభ, the court of Indra; మన్మథునిబాణము for మన్మథునియొక్కబాణము, the arrow of Cupid; and కుబేరునిధనము for కుబేరునియొక్కధనము, the wealth of Koobéra (the God of riches) &c. Deprived of this affix, the genitive in Teloogoo has frequently, as in English, the power of an adjective, అడవిమృగము means a beast of the forest that is, a wild beast, యెండకాలము the season of sun shine, or the sultry season; యేటియసుక the sand of the river, or river sand; చెరువునీళ్లు the water of the lake, or lake water.
- 382 Two or more substantives relating to the same object agree in case; but if they refer to different objects, the one governs the other in the genitive; thus, దేవుని or దేవునియొక్క దయ the favour of the deity, మనుష్యుల or మనుష్యులయొక్క పాపములు the sins of men &c.
- 383 The inflected or genitive cases of substantive nouns or pronouns, with the terminations of the neuter demonstrative pronouns affixed to them, viz. ది in the singular, and వి in the plural number, are constantly used, without any verb, to denote the affirmation of possession; as ఆసొమ్మునాది that property is mine, యీగుట్టములువారివి these horses are theirs, అదిరామునిది that is Ráma's, యిదిబ్రాహ్మణునిది this belongs to the Bramin, యాతోటరాజుది this garden is the King's, ఆపుస్తకముమాతండ్రిది that book belongs to my father, యాయిల్లువఖికోమిటివానిది this house belongs to a Bramin.
- 384 The dative case has generally the same force as the prepositions to, for in English; thus, స్త్రీలకుఅణుకువమంచిది modesty is essential to women, మొగవాండ్లకు ధైర్యమగత్యము courage is requisite for men. It sometimes represents the English genitive; as, మాటకుప్రాణముసత్యము the soul of a promise is truth, బోటికి ప్రాణముమానము the soul of a woman is her honor.

Soomutee Shutukum, literally, truth is life to a promise, honor is life to a woman.

The dative is also often used, without a verb, to denote actual possession, 385 as expressed by our verb to have; అతనికినిండా రూకలు he has much money;

literally, to him, much money; రాజుకు పదిమంది కొమాళ్లు the King has ten sons, literally, to the King, ten sons. This coincides with the latin rule "Est pro habeo regit dativum," only that in Teloogoo the est is not expressed but understood.

The dative case, used with the positive degree of an adjective, gives the 386 adjective the force of the comparative degree; and the sign of the dative case serves to represent the English than; thus, వానికి నీవు సమధుఁడు this man is more clever than that person, literally to that person, this man is clever.

In stating the distance of two places from each other, either one or both of 387

the names of these places may be in the dative case; thus, కాళికిన్నికంచికిన్నిము

న్నూ రామడదూరము or కాళికికంచిమున్నూ రామడదూరము Benares and Conjeveram are 300 amadas distant; or Conjeveram is 300 amadas from Benares.

అవతల beyond, యివతల on this side, పైన above, కింద below, ముందర 388 before, వెనక behind, and other words denoting relation of place, govern the preceding noun in the dative case; as దీనికి పైన above this, దానికి కింద below that, దీనికి ముందర before this, దానికి వెనక beyond that &c.

When we speak of motion towards any place, the name of the place must 389 be in the dative; as, తోటకు పోయెను he, she, or it went to the garden, గ్రామ

నికివచ్చెను he, she, or it went to the village. It is to be observed however, that if the object towards which motion is directed be of such a nature as not to admit of entrance, the postposition వద్ద or దగ్గర (near) must be inserted between the noun and the sign of the dative; as, చెట్టువద్దకి పోయెను he, she, or it went to the tree, రాజు దగ్గరికివచ్చెను he, she, or it came to the King.

Nouns of time are generally placed in the dative; thus, అది రేపటికి యిస్తున్నా 390

ను I will give it to-morrow, యెల్లుండికివస్తాను I shall come the day after to-morrow.

- 391 When any end, purpose, or intention is to be expressed, we may either place the noun denoting it in the dative case, or use the postposition కొరకు or కై, corresponding with the English phrases in order to, with a view that, for the purpose of, &c. &c. thus, స్వగృహముపొందుటకు or కొరకు or కై యాశ్వరుని యందుభక్తివుండవలెను in order to obtain bliss, we must put our trust in God.
- 392 Words expressing the different degrees of consanguinity or affinity, or denoting any connection or dependence, govern the noun, to which they refer in the dative case. Thus, if we ask మీకువాడేమికావలెను, In what relation does that man stand to you? the answer will be అతడునాకుభావ-నాకుమామ-నాకుమనమడు. నాకుభృత్యుడు-నాకుమిత్రుడు he is my brother in law, father-in law, grand son, servant, or friend; literally, he is to me a brother in law, &c. &c. In Teloo-goo, we may ask, as in English మీపేరేమి, what is your name? మీవయసేమి what is your age? or we may use the dative, and say మీకుపేరేమి-మీకువయసేమి To you, what name? what age?
- 393 The postpositions కోసరము-కొరకు or కై (composed of the noun ఓసరము a side, ఒరకు the dative case of ఒర, from ఓర a side, and అయి the past verbal participle of the affirmative mood of అవు to become, all added to the sign of the dative case) are used nearly in the same sense as the dative itself; thus, వతకముకోసరము or కొరకు or కై రూకలుపంపించినాడు he sent money for merchandize, or on account of trade.
- 394 Of the use of the accusative, we shall treat under the head "General Rules."
- 395 The vocative is used precisely as in English; but, in prefixing to nouns the vocative participles ఓరి-ఓసి and ఓయి, particular attention should be paid to the rank and sex of the person addressed, as explained in rule 157; thus, ఓరిబోయీ O Palanqueen bearer! ఓసిపాపాత్మురాలా O Wicked woman! ఓయి (బ్రా)హ్మణుడా O Bramin!

The local ablative, formed by the postposition లో, corresponds with our 396 prepositions in, on, upon, among &c. It points out the place where any thing is ; for example, దేవతలు స్వర్గములోవున్నారు The Gods reside in Paradise, పరమాత్మ ప్రతిహృదయములోవున్నాడు the Supreme Being in every heart; లో likewise expresses descent on any object ; thus, భూమిలోపడేవర్షము the rain that falls on the earth. When it affixes the particle నుంచి, derived from ఉంచి, the past verbal participle of ఉంచు, to place, it expresses motion out of a place ; as కావేరిలోనుంచి ప్రవాహము వస్తున్నది the flood comes flowing out of the Cavery, నేను శ్రీరంగపట్నములోనుంచి వస్తాను I came out of Seringapatam.

లో is also used in comparison, and makes the comparative or superlative 397 degree, according as the objects spoken of are two, or more ; thus, రామలక్ష్మణులలో రాముడధికుడు Rama is superior to Lutchmana ; literally among Rama and Lutchmana ; Rama is superior ; మనుష్యులలో రాజులు బలవంతులు among men, kings are the most powerful ; literally, the powerful. The particle కి, or the drootuprucrootica affixes ను &c. may sometimes be added to లో, which, in this state, is often attached to nouns, in comparison ; and the same noun twice repeated, either with, or without this addition, has the force of a superlative ; thus, పేదలలోను or లోకి పేద the poorest of the poor, మూఱులలోను or లోకి మూఱుడు the most obstinate of the obstinate. Like the English in, లో is also used with nouns denoting time ; పూర్వ కాలములో in former times, వెనకటి కాలములో in after times.

From లో is derived the word లోపలి, the inflexion of an irregular దేశ్య 398 ము noun which wants the nominative. It is generally used in the dative or ablative case ; thus, in the dative, లోపలికి ఇచ్చినాడు he has given medicine internally. In the ablative, it has the same meaning as the English prepositions within, inside, &c. as యింటిలోపల within the house, పెట్టెలోపల inside the box.

లోనా is an adverb of the same meaning as లోపల, formed by adding కా, 399

the infinitive of the root, అవు to become, to the postposition లో; as లోగా వచ్చినాడు he came inside.

- 400 లో is often prefixed to the verbs పడు to fall, or అవు to become, which then signify to submit, to yield &c. corresponding to the English phrase to give in. లోపడినాడు he has submitted.
- 401 The postposition చేత, or it's contraction చే, the sign of the ablative termed instrumental, is itself the inflected ablative case of the irregular దేశ్యము noun చేయ్యి the hand. It represents the cause or agency by which any effect is produced, and may generally be translated by the English preposition by; thus, లోకముయీశ్వరుని చేత సృజింపబడ్డది the world was created by God, వషణముచేత భూమి చల్లబడుతున్నది the earth is cooled by rain. To the postposition చేత, as well as to వలన or వల్ల, which are synonymous with it, the drootuprucrootica affixes ను &c. are often added; as, సూర్యునివల్లను కాక heat is produced by the sun, యాగమువల్లను or చేతను మోక్షముగలదు bliss is attainable by sacrifice: literally by the sun, heat-by sacrifice, bliss.
- 402 తో, the sign of what we have named the social ablative, is equivalent to the English preposition with; తండ్రి తనకొమారునితో వచ్చెను the father came with his son, రామునినేత్రంబులతో చూడనామనంబుత్పప్తిబొందెను viewing Rama with my eyes, my mind was satiated; కూడ, the infinitive of the verb కూడు to join, generally written by the vulgar కూడా, is often added to తో to strengthen the connection; thus, వానినాతో గూడారమ్మని చెప్పు tell him to come along with me. తోడ and తోడుత are not so much in use as తో.
- 403 The postposition న, affixed only to nouns denoting inanimate objects ending in ు, has occasionally the power of each of the three ablatives above mentioned; thus, చెట్టునపండుబండెను the fruit ripened on the tree, రాజుసంహారమున గూచుండెను the king sat upon the throne, సంతోషమున గృహంబుననుండెను he staid at home from joy, బలమున తనపగవారిని జయించెను he vanquished his enemies by his prowess.
- 404 The inflected ablative, peculiar to the irregular దేశ్యము nouns, has the same power with respect to these nouns, as the postposition న has with regard to nouns in u denoting inanimate objects; thus, మంగిటవున్నాడు he is in the court yard, వాని నొంటవున్నది it is in his mouth, పడమట in the west, గోట in the nail, పంటకరిచినాడు he bit with his teeth, (literally, with the tooth) నాకంటచూ స్త్రీని I saw with my eyes, (literally, with the eye) చేతధనుస్సు పట్టెను he held the bow with his hand, వింటచంపెను he killed with a bow, నన్ను చేతపట్టిపిలుచుకపోయెను taking me by the hand, he conducted me.

నిమిత్తము and విషయము are nominatives of two తత్సమము nouns, frequently used as postpositions; నిమిత్తము denotes some cause, reason, &c. and విషయము corresponds precisely with our word respecting, or respect in such phrases as “in this respect,” “in one respect.” The use of these words as postpositions will be best understood by the following examples. యాయిల్లుమీని మి త్తముకొంటిని I purchased this house for you, or on your account, పెండ్లివిషయముమాట్లాడెను he spoke respecting the marriage, రాచకార్యవిషయము (వా) సెను he wrote respecting affairs of state: కోసము or కోసరము, mentioned in rule 393, has often the same meaning as నిమిత్తము; thus, we say విమ్ము చూచేటందుకోసరము or కోసమునేనువస్త్రీని, I came on purpose to see you.

వలె is derived from the root పోలు which signifies to resemble; it denotes similitude, likeness &c. thus, వైకుంఠమువలె like Vycoontha, (the residence of Vishtnoo) నావలె like me: the word పోలె whence వలె is immediately derived, is used, in books, instead of వలె; but being part of an active verb, it always governs the accusative, instead of the inflexion, and the ప of పోలె is, in this case, changed into బ, the accusative preceding it being included in the class of drootuprukrootooloo ; thus నన్నుబోలే like me, వైకుంఠంబునుంబోలే like Vycoontha.

408 నుండి-నుంచి are used to denote motion from a place ; as శౌనావాడలుకల కత్తానుంచి or నుండివచ్చినవి a great number of vessels have arrived from Calcutta, చెన్నపట్నమునుంచిమచిలీపట్ణమునకు యెంతదూరము how far is it from Madras to Masulipatam ?

409 The following are a few examples shewing the mode in which most of the other common postpositions are used, యిండ్ల or యిండ్లకు-నందున or మధ్య between the houses, వాని or వానికి వెంబడి or వెనకవచ్చినాడు he came behind or after him, రెండుగడియల వెనక యిస్తున్నాను I will give it in (or after) two hours ; in this last example, వెంబడి cannot be used, because it refers exclusively to situation, not to time. యింటికి or యింటియెదుట opposite the house, తోటకుయెదురుగా opposite the garden.

410 కూచిఁ governs the accusative, thus ; శివునికూచిఁ or గురించితపస్సు చేశె ను he performed penance to (or on account of) Shiva, అతడుపట్టణముకూచిఁపోయినాడు he went towards the city.

411 The very useful and common postposition మీద on, upon, has been omitted, by mistake, from the list of the postpositions given in rule 130 ; it denotes rest on a place, and governs the noun preceding it in the oblique case ; as భూమి మీద on the earth &c.

412 The postpositions of which the following are examples are found only in books: విశ్వామిత్రునటుత or అటు రాముఁడేఁ నెను Rama went with Viswamitra, శివునిపొంఠెపార్వతియేఁ నెను Parvatee departed with Shiva, ధనముపొరుడిగర్వింఁచెను he was elated by riches, భక్తిమెయి or మ్రోఁబ్రాధిఁంచితని I prayed with faith, విద్యబట్టుండీతిఁ through learning, fame accrues, నీవువచ్చుటంజేసిజనులుసంతోషించిరి the people are pleased by your coming, బలముఁబట్టిజయము victory is attainable by prowess.

413 With the exception of యొక్క, all cases of substantive nouns or pronouns formed by postpositions ending in ఁ, such as చేత by, తోడ with, బెట్ట outside, పైన above, upon, కింద down, below, వద్ద near &c. &c. when immediately followed by other substantives with which they agree, change the final \check{v} of these postpositions into $\textcircled{\text{v}}$; thus, మాతోడిచెలిమి the friendship with you, గొనిబైటితోటలు the gardens without the gate, మిద్దెపయినియిండ్లు the houses above the terrace, కొండకిందినేలలు the lands below the mountain, పట్టణమువద్దినములు the gardens near the city, కుబేరునివద్దినంపత్తు the wealth of the god of riches, literally the wealth near the god of riches. In such constructions, the \check{v} of the postposition అందు is changed into \check{v} లి; thus, నాయందలికరుణ the regard towards me.

OF THE FORMATION OF VARIOUS CLASSES OF NOUNS.

Nouns denoting the agent are often formed by adding to the inflexion of a 414 noun substantive the pronoun వాఁడు for the masculine, and అది for the feminine; thus, from ఇంటి, the inflexion of ఇల్లు a house, is formed యింటివాఁడు a house owner, from పండ్ల, the inflexion of పండ్లు fruits, పండ్ల వాఁడు a fruiterer, from గుడి a temple, గుడి వాఁడు an officer of the temple, and from అంగడి a shop, అంగడి వాఁడు a shopkeeper &c. &c. Nouns in ము, however, in this construction, are not placed in the inflexion, but change the final ము into పు, thus; గుట్టము a horse, makes గుట్టపు వాఁడు a horsekeeper.

When the agent to be denoted is familiar, or contemptible, కాఁడు is some- 415 times used instead of వాఁడు, and కత్తె instead of అది; thus, from చెలిమి friendship, comes చెలిమికత్తె a female friend; thus, also, we say విటకాఁడు a rake, సొగసుకాఁడు a coxcomb, a good looking fellow, సొగసుకత్తె an affected female, a fine girl.

Nouns denoting the agent are also formed from తత్వము nouns in \check{v} ము, 416 by changing that termination into $\textcircled{\text{v}}$; thus, from కోపము anger, comes కోపి an angry person, from పాపము sin, పాపి a sinner, from బలము strength, బలి a strong person, from లోభము covetousness, లోభి a miser.

Besides the verbal noun denoting the action itself which the verb signifies, 417 there are many abstract nouns derived from verbs: some of these abstract nouns are the same as the roots themselves; thus, from the root	(మొక్తు	...to salute.....comes...	మొక్తు	...salutation.

do.....	పలుకుto speak.....	do.....	పలుకుa word.
do.....	చుముకుto leap.....	do.....	చుముకుa leap.
do.....	తూగుto sleep.....	do.....	తూగుsleep.

మోచుto bear a burden.....	మోపుa load or burden.
చూచుto see.....	చూపుsight.
మెచ్చుto approve.....	మెప్పుapprobation.

419 Some are formed from roots in యు by changing that syllable into పు, and if ° precede యు it is changed in ఁ.

బిగియుto tighten.....	బిగువుtightness.
విగియుto fly.....	విగువుflight.

Others are formed from roots in యు or చు by changing the final యు or 420 చు to త or త్.

నేయు.....to weave.....	నేత.....	texture.
మోయు.....to sound, to roar.....	మోత.....	a roaring.
వ్రాయు.....to write.....	వ్రాత.....	writing.
రీయు.....to draw a line.....	రీత.....	a line.
మూయు.....to shut.....	మూత.....	a lid.
అప్పగించు } వప్పగించు }	అప్పగింత... } వప్పగింత... }deliverance.
కలవరించు....to dream.....	కలవరిత.....	dreaming.

Some are formed by changing the final య of the root into త్.

నమ్ము.....to trust.....	నమ్మిత.....	trust.
తేలు.....to float.....	తేలిక.....	lightness.
బడలు.....to be fatigued.....	బడలిక.....	tiresomeness.
పలు.....to govern.....	పలిక.....	a governor.
కోరు.....to hope.....	కోరిక.....	hope.

Some abstract nouns are formed from roots in డు and ను by changing డు 422 to ట, and ను to ంట.

మండు.....to burn.....	మంట.....	a flame.
వండు.....to cook.....	వంట.....	cooking.
పాడు.....to sing.....	పాట.....	a song.
అను.....to say.....	అంట.....	a saying.
కొను.....to buy.....	కొంట.....	purchase.

The following abstract nouns are irregularly formed from their respective 423 roots.

అలయు...to be tired.....	అలత-అలపు-అలయిక-అలసట...	tiresomeness.
మేయు...to graze.....	మేపు-మేత.....	grazing.
కూయు...to make a noise.....	కూత-కూక.....	a noise, a cry.
మొలుచు to shoot, or sprout. . . .	మొలక-మొక్క-మొక.....	a sprout.

- కలఁచు...to disturb.....కలఁత-కలఁక.....a disturbance.
- మడుచు...to fold.....మడుపు-మడత.....a fold.
- అమ్ము.....to sell.....అమ్ముడు-అమ్మకము.....a sale.
- మిగులు...to remain.....మిగులు-మిగత.....remainder.
- ఉండు.....to be or reside.....ఉంట-ఉనికి.....residence.
- తిను.....to eat.....తింట-తిండి.....eating.
- విను.....to hear.....వినికి-వినికీడి.....hearsay, informa[tion.
- పోలు.....to resemble.....పోలిక-పోల్చి.....resemblance.
- విత్తు.....to sow.....విత్తు-విత్తనము.....seed.
- తప్ప.....to miss.....తప్ప-తప్పితము.....a mistake.
- పుట్టు.....to be born.....పుట్టు-పుట్టువు-పుట్టుక.....birth.
- చచ్చు.....to die.....చావు.....death.
- చొచ్చు.....to enter.....చోటు.....a place.
- నొచ్చు.....to pain.....నొప్పి.....pain.
- కలుగు.....to have.....కలిమి.....riches.
- దున్ను.....to plough.....దుక్కి.....a plough.

కొలుచు { when it means to } కొలువు.....service.
 { serve makes..... }
 { when it means to } కొలత.....a measure.
 { measure makes.... }

పండు to ripen makes పంట a product of the earth and పండు fruit.

424 A great number of abstract nouns are formed by adding the termination తనము to దేశ్యము adjectives, and sometimes to దేశ్యము nouns, or even occasionally to the relative participles of దేశ్యము verbs; thus, from

- the adjective.....మంచి.....good.....comes.....మంచితనము.....goodness.
- do.....గొప్ప.....great.....do.....గొప్పతనము.....greatness.
- do.....మడ్డి.....dull.....do.....మడ్డితనము.....dullness.
- do.....చక్క.....beautiful.....do.....చక్కతనము.....beauty.
- do.....చిన్న.....small.....do.....చిన్నతనము.....smallness.

thus, also, from the substantive.....పిల్ల.....a child.....do.....పిల్లతనము.....childhood.

and from the relative participle తెలియని..... $\left\{ \begin{array}{l} \text{that is, was, or} \\ \text{will not be known} \end{array} \right\}$ తెలియనితనము ignorance.

తనము is never added to any except pure దేశ్యము words.

తత్వము adjectives or substantives of any termination become abstract nouns 425 by affixing త్వము or త; as,

గురు.....great, heavy makes...గురుత్వము...or...గురుత...greatness, weight.

లఘు.....small, light.....do.....లఘుత్వము...or...లఘుత....smallness, lightness.

దృఢ.....hard.....do.....దృఢత్వము...or...దృఢత....hardness.

ప్రభు.....a master.....do.....ప్రభుత్వముor....ప్రభుత...mastership.

వీర.....a hero.....do.....వీరత్వము...or...వీరత.....heroism.

శూర.....valiant.....do.....శూరత్వము.or....శూరత....valour.

OF ADJECTIVES.

In the fourth chapter of this work, we have so fully explained the mode in 426 which adjectives agree with substantives, that little remains to be added respecting that part of syntax.

The adjective is generally placed before the substantive noun or pronoun with 427 which it agrees; as మంచి బ్రాహ్మణుడు a good bramin, మంచి స్త్రీ a good woman, చెడ్డగుఱ్ఱము a bad horse, చక్కనిమనిషి a beautiful person.

In English, when the verb to be, in any of it's variations, comes between a 428 substantive and an adjective, the sense may be well expressed in Teloo^goo by placing the adjective after the substantive; but, in this case, the verb to be is not expressed, but only understood in Teloo^goo. A దేశ్యము adjective has no gender or number, except what it receives from the word to which it is prefix-ed; it is therefore necessary, when it thus follows it's substantive, to add to it the pronouns వాడు or అది, or వారు or అవి, according to the gender and number of the substantive with which it agrees, thus, in the phrases that bra- min is good ఆ బ్రాహ్మణుడుమంచి వాడు, those bramins are good ఆ బ్రాహ్మ ణులుమంచివారు, that woman is good ఆ స్త్రీమంచిది, these women are good ఈ స్త్రీలుమంచివారు, that horse is good ఆగుఱ్ఱముమంచిది, these horses are good ఈ గుణములు మంచివి, no verb is used, the adjective merely follows it's substantive, the pronouns in question being at the same time affixed to the adjective, because it belongs to the దేశ్యము class. But తత్సమము adjectives do not admit of the addition of these pronouns, because they possess within themselves the distinction of gender and number; thus, using a తత్సమము adjective, instead of a దేశ్యము one, we should say that bramin is good ఆ బ్రాహ్మణుడు శ్రేష్ఠుడు, that woman is good ఆ స్త్రీ శ్రేష్ఠురాలు, that horse is good ఆ గుఱ్ఱము శ్రేష్ఠము see rule 289, &c.

429 Many substantives are converted into adjectives, by affixing the word గల possessing, from the root కలుగు; thus, బలముగల possessing strength, strong, బుద్ధిగల wise, that is possessing wisdom, సుఖముగల happy, possessing happiness, ధనముగల wealthy, possessing wealth, &c. &c.

430 In Teloogoo, the degrees of comparison are formed, not by any change in the adjective itself, but by the use of certain particles. In treating of the post-positions, the manner, in which కి-లో - లోకి and లోను are employed in comparison, has been fully explained; and it only remains here to observe that the words కన్న and కంటే are often affixed, in a similar manner, to the inflexions of substantive nouns or pronouns, to express the comparative degree. It is generally thought that కన్న is the past relative participle of the root కను to see, signifying that has seen, and that కంటే is the subjunctive of the same verb signifying if any one see; thus, దీనికన్న మంచిది లేదు there is nothing better than this signifies, literally, to those that regard this, there is nothing better; and దీనికంటే మంచిది లేదు there is nothing better than this, literally translated, means, if you look at this, there is nothing better. But it seems more probable that these particles are derived from the corresponding parts of the root అను to say, added to the dative case, and that కన్న is formed of కు or కి and అన్న, and కంటే of కు or కి and అంటే; for if these particles were derived from the active verb కను to see they would govern the accusative, instead of the inflexion; but we say నాకంటే never నన్ను కంటే than me: in this sense, the abovementioned expressions, literally translated, would mean to those that speak of this, nothing is better; and if you speak of this, nothing is better.

The superlative degree is generally formed by prefixing to the adjective the 431 words బహు very, నింతా much, &c. thus, బహుబుద్ధిమంతుడు a very wise man, నింతాగొప్పయిల్లు a very large house. To express the wisest, the greatest, &c. the phrase అందరికంటే than all is used for the masculine and feminine, and అన్నిటికంటే than all things for the neuter. If we would express the wisest man we must say in Telooḡoo అందరికంటేబుద్ధిమంతుడు that is, the man wiser than all. If we would express the largest tree we must say అన్నిటికంటేగొప్పవృక్షము, or the tree larger than all, అందరికంటేగొప్పవాడు the greatest of men, అందరికంటేసొగసుకత్తె the most beautiful of women.

OF THE USE OF THE SIMPLE TENSES OF VERBS.

Nothing will at first be more perplexing to the Telooḡoo Student than the 432 use of one tense of the verb for another. After studying the different conjugations, he will be surprized to find what I have termed the present tense constantly used, even by his teacher, in a future signification. I hope, however, that he will not, on this account, too hastily question the correctness of the principles I have endeavoured to inculcate, and recommend the following observations on this subject to his particular attention.

In rule 329, it was explained that the particular form of the present tense 433 terminating in చాను is peculiar to the religious Bramins of the Northern districts; and the reader was requested to bear in mind that those terminating in తాను and తున్నాను are the only forms to be employed in the colloquial use of the language; that in చున్నాను is seldom found except in books, and to distinguish the other three from it, the word common has been always prefixed to them, in the conjugation of the verbs. These rules cannot be too strongly impressed on the memory of the student.

The two forms of the present tense, derived from the verbal participles 434 ending in న్ను, spring originally, like those participles themselves, from the auxiliary verb ఉండు to be. They consist in fact of the participles in చు or తు with that tense of ఉండు which commences with ఉన్నాను affixed to them, thus, దీవించుచు or దీవించుతు, with ఉన్నాను affixed, by the rules for sund,hi given in the second chapter, become respectively దీవించుచున్నాను or దీవించుతున్నాను. The verb ఉండు, therefore, cannot, in any of it's forms, be affixed to the verbal participles in న్ను, because it has already been added to them: but, in the common dialect, when we wish to mark more strongly the present time, we lengthen the final య of the verbal participles in చు or తు, and, without sund,hi, add to them the abovementioned tense of ఉండు, which is commonly written వున్నాను; thus, కొట్టుచువున్నాను or కొట్టుతువున్నాను denotes that I am now beating, వ్రాస్తువున్నాను that I am now writing, &c. &c.

435 The perfect tense is used to denote past time, precisely in the same manner as the corresponding tense in English. It does not therefore here require any elucidation.

436 The first form of the future tense scarcely ever occurs, except in studied compositions; and the use of the second form is not common. In lieu of this tense, the present is constantly used; thus, నేటిదినం చెన్నపట్టణమువిడిచివచ్చే నెల ౧౫ తేదీలో గాంధీరంగపట్టణము చేరుతాను having left Madras to-day, I shall arrive at Seringapatam within the 15th of next month, literally I arrive; రేపుమియింటికివస్తాను I shall come to your house to-morrow, literally I come, యెల్లుండిజాబు వ్రాస్తాను I shall write the letter the day after to-morrow, literally I write: a thousand other examples might be added. The use of the aorist for the future is explained in the following rule.

437 The affirmative and negative aorists express, according to the context, the present, the past, or the future; but I beg the reader will bear in mind that, in the common dialect, they are most generally used in a future sense. The following examples will best shew the nature of this tense (Past) కలికిమునుపు జనులుసరిగానూ రేండ్లు బ్రతుకుదురు. Before the commencement of the Calejoogum men lived exactly a hundred years, (Present) యిప్పుడుస రాసరి యూభై యెదుసంవత్సరములు బ్రతుకుదురు at present they live on an average

55 years, (Future) యికను రాగా రాగా కేవలమాయుస్సు క్షీణమవును and by degrees the length of human life will be greatly shortened, (Past) దేవదత్తునికి నామమునువునిండా స్నేహముకద్దు There existed formerly a very intimate friendship between Davadatta and me, (Past) మాయింటికి ప్రతిదినంవచ్చును నేనున్నవాడియింటికిపోచును he came to my house frequently, and I went to his, (Present) ఇప్పుడు వానికి నాకు ద్వేషముగనక నేను వానియింటికిపోను, వాడు మాయింటికిరాడు at present, as enmity exists between us, I never go to his house, and he never comes to mine. In the common dialect, we constantly say అట్లా చేతును I shall do so, మీరువత్తురా will you come? నేను రాను I shall not come &c. In fact, the student can seldom err in translating the English future by the Telooḡoo aorist. In explaining the Telooḡoo aorist in English, he must be guided chiefly by the context.

OF THE FORMATION OF COMPOUND TENSES OF VERBS.

The present, the past, the future, and the aorist, are the only tenses mentioned in the conjugation of the verb. The compound tenses, formed by auxiliary verbs, were reserved for consideration in this place. 438

Tenses corresponding with the imperfect and pluperfect in English are formed by prefixing the present and past verbal participles of any verb to the perfect tense of ఉండు to be; thus, 439

IMPERFECT.

Singular.	3d. 1st.	{	M.F.&N.	పాడుతూవుంటిని.....I was singing.
				పాడుతూవుంటివి.....Thou wast singing.
				పాడుతూవుండెను.....He, she, or it was singing.
Plural.	3d. 1st.	{	N.M.&F.	పాడుతూవుంటిమి.....We were singing.
				పాడుతూవుంటిరి.....You were singing.
				పాడుతూవుండిరి.....
				}	They were singing.

PLUPERFECT.

Singular.	1st. 2d. 3d.	M.F.&N.	పాడివుంటిని.....	I had sung.
			పాడివుంటివి.....	Thou hadst sung.
			పాడివుండెను.....	He, she, or it had sung.
Plural.	1st. 2d. 3d.	N.M.&F.	పాడివుంటిమి.....	We had sung.
			పాడివుంటిరి.....	You had sung.
			పాడివుండిరి.....	} They had sung.
			పాడివుండెను.....

440 For example, if we say భరతుడుఅయోధ్యకువచ్చినప్పుడుఅతనిఅన్నరాముడువనమునకుపోతూవుండెను when Bharata came to Oude, his eldest brother Rama was going to the forest. As far as regards the present time, Bharata's arrival is past, as well as Rama's departure, but the two actions were simultaneous, and this is represented by adding the past tense of ఉండు to be to the present verbal participle of పోవు to go; but if the actions denoted by both verbs are not only past as regards the present time, but the action denoted by one verb is antecedent to the action denoted by the other, then the past verbal participle is prefixed to the past tense of ఉండు, to form the pluperfect; thus, రాజుయుద్ధరంగమునుంచివట్టణమునకువచ్చేటందుకుమునుపే అతనికిపైకొమారుడుపుట్టివుండెను before the King returned to the city, from the field of battle, a son had been born to him. The return of the King and the birth of his son are both past, but the birth was antecedent to the King's return.

441 Certain other tenses are formed by affixing to the infinitive of any verb particular tenses of the verbs పోవు to go, కలుగు to possess, to be able, నేర్చు to learn, చాలు to suffice, and ఓవు to be able, used as auxiliaries. The original verb remains in the infinitive, whilst these auxiliaries are conjugated through all the persons of the tenses thus used.

పోవు to go.

The present, perfect and aorists of this verb may be affixed, as in English, to the infinitive of any verb, to denote a future signification; but the infinitive being a మ్రతప్రకృతిక, the ప of పోవు is, in the superior dialect, changed into బ, according to rule 115 ; thus, పాడఁబోచున్నాను.....I am going to sing.

 చేయఁబోచున్నావు.....Thou art going to do.

M. F. & N.

చూడఁబోచున్నాఁడు-బోచున్నది or ఁది...He, she, or it is going to see.

(వ్రా)యఁబోచున్నాము.....We are going to write.

పంపించఁబోచున్నారు.....You are going to send.

M. & F. N.

చెప్పఁబోచున్నారు-బోచున్నవి.....They are going to say &c. &c.
 కలుగు to be able.

కలుగుదును or కలను the affirmative, and లేను the negative aorist, together with కలిగితిని the perfect tense of this verb, added to the infinitive of any other verb, imply the possession, or want, of power or ability : the క of కలుగు, however, is changed into గ when preceded by an infinitive, or any other word of the class named మ్రతప్రకృతిక.

పాడఁగలుగుదును-గలను.....I can sing.

చెయ్యఁగలుగుదువు-గలవు.....Thou canst do.

M.F.&N. M. F.&N.

చూడఁగలుగును-గలఁడు-గలదు.....He, she, or it can see.

(వ్రా)యఁగలుగుచుము-గలము.....We can write.

పంపించఁగలుగుదురు-గలరు.....You can send.

M.&F. M.&F. N.

చెప్పఁగలుగుదురు-గలరు-గలవు.....They can tell.

పాడ లేను.....I cannot sing.

చెయ్య లేవు.....Thou canst not do.

M. F.&N.

చూడ లేఁడు-లేదు.....He, she, or it cannot see.

(వ్రా)య లేము.....We cannot write.

పంపించ లేరు.....You cannot send.

M. & F. N.

చెప్ప లేరు-లేవు.....They cannot tell.

పాడఁగలిగితిని.....I could sing.

చెయ్యఁగలిగితివి.....Thou couldst do.

M. F. & N.

చూడఁగలిగెను..... He, she, or it could see.(వ్రాయఁగలిగితిమి..... *We could write.*పంపించఁగలిగితిరి..... You could send.

M. & F. N.

చెప్పఁగలిగిరి-గలిగెను..... They could tell.

గలను &c. is a contraction of గలుగుదును &c.; the former sometimes implying futurity, but the latter ability only; చేయఁగలను may mean either I will or I can do, but చేయఁగలుగుదును means only I can do: the relative participle గల is often used, after an infinitive, in a future sense; the phrase చేయఁగలవిన్నపములు the requests which I am about to make, occurs at the commencement of almost every Teloo^goo letter addressed by an inferior to a person in a superior station.

నేచు = to learn.

The affirmative and negative aorists, and the perfect tense of this root, added to the infinitive of any verb, have the same power as the corresponding tenses of కలుగు.

పాడనేతును..... *I can sing.*చేయనేతువు..... *Thou canst do.*చూడనేచును..... He, she, or it can see.(వ్రాయనేతుము..... *We can write.*పంపించనేతురు..... You can send.

M. & F. N.

చెప్పనేతురు - నేచును..... *They can tell.*పాడనేరను..... *I cannot sing.*చెయ్యనేరవు..... Thou canst not do.

M. F. & N.

చూడనేరఁడు - నేరదు..... He, she, or it cannot see.(వ్రాయనేరము..... *We cannot write.*పంపించనేరరు..... You cannot send.

M. & F. N.

చెప్పనేరరు - నేరవు..... They cannot tell.

- పాడనేచితిని.....I could sing.
 చెయ్యనేచితివి.....Thou couldst do.
 చూడనేచెను.....He, she, or it could see.
 వ్రాయనేచితిమి.....We could write.
 పంపించనేచితిరి.....You could send.

M. & F. N.

చెప్పనేచిరి-నేచెను.....They could tell.

చాలు to suffice, ఓవు to be able.

The affirmative and negative aorists of these verbs are used, after infinitives, in the same manner as the corresponding tenses of కలుగు and నేచు; but the infinitive being included in the మ్రత ప్రకృతికలు the చా of చాలు is changed into జూ and the ఓ of ఓవు into నొ in conformity to rules 115 and 92.

- పాడజాలుదును.....I can sing.
 చెయ్యజాలుదువు.....Thou canst do.
 చూడజాలును.....He, she, or it can see.
 వ్రాయజాలుదుము.....We can write.
 పంపించజాలుదురు.....You can send.

వ్రాయనొపుదుము.....We can write.

పంపించనొపుదురు.....You can send.

M. & F. N.

చెప్ప సోపుదురు- సోపును. They can tell.

పాడ సోపను. I cannot sing.

చెయ్య సోపవు. Thou canst not do.

M. F. & N.

చూడ సోపఁడు- సోపదు. He, she, or it cannot see.

వ్రాయ సోపము. We cannot write.

పంపించ సోపరు. You cannot send.

M. & F. N.

చెప్ప సోపరు- సోపవు. They cannot tell.

The affirmative and negative aorists of కూడు to join are sometimes placed after an infinitive, and conjugated through all the persons, in the same manner as the corresponding tenses of చాలు: they denote expediency rather than ability; but the use of the third person neuter only of these tenses is more correct, as explained hereafter.

- 442 Some other tenses are formed by affixing to infinitives the third person neuter only of certain tenses of a few verbs, used as auxiliaries. In this case the nominative only undergoes a change; the original verb remains in the infinitive, and the auxiliary in the 3d person neuter of the singular number.

వలెను or వలసినది the third person of the past tense, and వలయును the third person of the affirmative aorist of the root వలయు, when affixed to the infinitive of a verb, imply obligation or necessity without reference to any particular time. They may be translated by the English auxiliary must, and are governed by any of the three persons in the nominative case; thus, నేను చెయ్యవలెను I must do, నీవు విచారించవలెను you must enquire, వాఁడు రావలెను he must come.

The third person neuter of the negative aorist of this verb is irregular, namely వలవదు or వలదు, more commonly contracted into వద్దు. It is used negatively, in the same manner as the affirmative tenses above mentioned; but, when affixed to infinitives, it has rather an imperative than an indicative meaning, and is therefore applied more frequently to the second and third persons than to the first; as, నీవు రావద్దు dont come, వారు పోవద్దు let them not go. Interrogatively, however, it is sometimes used with the first person, నేను రావద్దా must I not come?

These tenses of the verb వలయు are also occasionally added, in the same indeclinable state, to nouns in the nominative case, to denote want or desire. In this construction, the affirmatives వలెను-వలసినది and వలయును invariably take before them the infinitive కా, but the negative వద్దు does not require it; thus, గుఱ్ఱమునాకు కావలెను I want a horse, గుఱ్ఱమునాకువద్దు I do not want a horse. The noun denoting that which is wanted is placed in the nominative case, but the noun or pronoun denoting the person who desires or wants is placed in the dative.

తగినది or తగ్గది the third person neuter of the past tense, and తగదు the third person neuter of the negative aorist of the root తగు to be becoming, decent, fit, proper, &c. are respectively used, after infinitives, to express propriety or impropriety, without reference to any particular time, and may be considered to represent the English auxiliary ought: the త may be changed into ద after an infinitive, see rule 115.

- నేను చేయదగ్గది.....I ought to do.
 నీవు వ్రాయదగ్గది.....Thou oughtest to write.
 వాడు or అదిచదవదగ్గదిHe, she, or it ought to read.
 మేము అక్కడవుండదగ్గది.....We ought to be there.
 మీరు నిలవదగ్గది.....You ought to stand.
 వారు పంపించదగ్గది.....They ought to send.
 నేను చేయదగదు.....I ought not to do, &c. &c.

వచ్చును and రాదు, the third persons neuter of the affirmative and negative aorists of the root వచ్చు to come, are respectively added to infinitives to denote liberty or want of liberty; thus,

- నేను చేయవచ్చును.....I may do.
 నీవు వ్రాయవచ్చును.....Thou mayst write.
 వాడు or అది-చదవవచ్చును.....He, she, or it may read.
 మేము అక్కడవుండవచ్చును.....We may be there.
 మీరు నిలవవచ్చును.....You may stand.
 వారు పంపించవచ్చును.....They may send.

నేను చేయరాదు.....I may not do.
 నీవు వ్రాయరాదు.....Thou mayst not write.
 వాఁడు or అది చదవరాదు.....He, she, or it may not read.
 మేము అక్కడవుండరాదు.....We may not be there.
 మీరు నిలవరాదు.....You may not stand.
 వారు పంపించరాదు.....They may not send.

కూడును and కూడదు, the third persons neuter of the affirmative and negative aorists of the root కూడు to join are added to infinitives to denote, possibility or impossibility; the క being changed to ఁ according to rule 115, thus,

నేను చేయఁగూడును.....I can do.
 నీవు వ్రాయఁగూడును.....Thou canst write.
 వాఁడు or అది చదవఁ గూడును.....He, she, or it can read.
 మేము అక్కడవుండఁగూడును.....We can be there.
 మీరు నిలవఁ గూడును.....You can stand.
 వారు పంపించఁ గూడును.....They can send.
 నేను చేయఁగూడదు.....I cannot do.
 నీవు వ్రాయఁగూడదు.....Thou canst not write.
 వాఁడు or అది చదవఁగూడదు.....He, she, or it cannot read.
 మేము అక్కడవుండఁగూడదు.....We cannot be there.
 మీరు నిలవఁగూడదు.....You cannot stand.
 వారు పంపించఁ గూడదు.....They cannot send.

- 443 Various negative compound tenses may be formed by affixing the several tenses of the verb పోవు to go, to the negative verbal participle of any verb: the original verb remains in the negative verbal participle, whilst the auxiliary tenses of పోవు are conjugated through all the persons; thus,
- నేను వ్రాయకపోతిని.....I did not write.
 నీవు చదవకపోదువు.....Thou wilt not read.
 నేను పంపించకపోను.....I will not fail to send.

We have already explained, under rule 441, that లేను - లేవు - లేడు - లేదు - 444 లేము - లేరు - లేవు, the negative aorist of the root కలుగు, when added to infinitives as an auxiliary, denotes want of ability, as I cannot &c. But it is often used alone as an original defective verb, representing the negative of the perfect tense of ఉండు to be; thus,

- అక్కడవున్నాను...I was there.....అక్కడలేను..I was not there.
 అక్కడవున్నావు...Thou wast there....అక్కడలేవు..Thou wast not there.
 అక్కడవున్నాడు...He was there.....అక్కడలేడు..He was not there.
 అక్కడవున్నది or ది She, or it was there. అక్కడలేదు..She, or it was not there.
 అక్కడవున్నాము...We were there.....అక్కడలేము...We were not there.
 అక్కడవున్నారు.....You were there.....అక్కడలేరు...You were not there.
- M. & F. M. & F.
- అక్కడవున్నారు.....They were there.....అక్కడలేరు...They were not there.
- N. N.
- అక్కడవున్నవి.....They were there.....అక్కడలేవు...They were not there.

In these two senses లేను agrees with it's nominative in gender and number.
 లేదు, the neuter of the third person singular, is used indeclinably, in two other senses, as explained under the head " Particles."

Condition or contingency, is expressed, in the superior dialect of the Teloo- 445 goo, by changing the final vowel of each of the different persons in the first forms of the several affirmative tenses into ఁని; and in the common dialect, by merely changing the termination తిని of the first person in the first form of the past tense into తే; thus, in the superior dialect, from

- కొట్టుచున్నాను.....I beat.....comes.కొట్టుచున్నానేని.....if I beat.
 కొట్టితిని.....I have beaten.....కొట్టితినేని.....if I beat.
 కొట్టెదను.....I shall beat.....కొట్టెదనేని.....if I beat.
 కొట్టుదును..... $\left. \begin{array}{l} I \text{ beat, did beat,} \\ \text{or shall beat.} \end{array} \right\}$కొట్టుదునేని.....if I beat.
 చేయుచున్నాను.....I do.....చేయుచున్నానేని..if I do.
 చేసితిని.....I did.....చేసితినేని.....if I do.
 చేసెదను.....I shall do.....చేసెదనేని.....if I do.
 చేయుదను.....I do, did, or shall do...చేయుదునేని,....if I do.

దీవించుచున్నాను... I bless..... దీవించుచున్నానేని... if I bless.
 దీవించితిని..... I blessed..... దీవించితినేని..... if I bless.
 దీవించెదను..... I shall bless..... దీవించెదనేని..... if I bless.
 దీవించుచును..... { I bless, blessed, or shall bless }..... దీవించుచునేని..... if I bless.

and in the inferior dialect, from

 చేసితిని..... I did..... చేసి తే..... { if I do, contracted by rule 354 to చేస్తే }
 దీవించితిని..... I blessed..... దీవించితే { if I bless, do. do. 364 to దీవిస్తే }

446 The word ending in ^{నీ} వాies with the numbers and persons, thus ;

Sing.....	}	1..... చేసితినేని..... if I do.
		2..... చేసితివేని..... if thou do.
		3 M. F. & N... చేసెనేని..... if he, she, or it do.
Plu.....	}	1..... చేసితిమేని..... if we do.
		2..... చేసితిరేని..... if you do.
		3 { M. & F..... చేసిరేని..... } if they do. { N..... చేసెనేని..... } but the word terminating in ^{నీ} is used for every person and number, చేస్తే means if I, thou, he, she, it, we, you, or they do.

447 Although the above examples are translated in English by the present tense of the subjunctive mood, it is to be observed that, in the superior dialect, the present tense with ^{నీ} is seldom used, the past tense with ^{నీ} often occurs in a past, or future, as well as in a present conditional meaning ; the future tense with ^{నీ} is used in a future conditional sense only, and the aorist with ^{నీ} in a conditional sense, indefinite as to time ; thus,

Present.... { వాడుపోవుచున్నాడేని } If he goes, he will meet him.
 { వీరకొడుగుపడును..... }

449 In the superior dialect, each of these conditional forms of the verb, by affixing యు, represents the English subjunctive with the words although, notwithstanding prefixed to it; thus, వచ్చితి నేనియు although I come, came, or should come. The same meaning is expressed by the past relative participle of the verb, with the addition of the indeclinable particle ను in the superior dialect, and పుటికిన్ని or గానిన్ని in the common dialect; thus వాడు, వచ్చినను-వచ్చినపుటికిన్ని or వచ్చినాగానిన్ని although he come, came, or should come, వాడుయిచ్చినపుటికిన్ని although he give, gave, or should give; వాడువ్రాసినపుటికిన్ని although he write, wrote, or should write; when గానిన్ని is added, the final \checkmark of the past relative participle is lengthened; thus, వచ్చినాగానిన్ని never వచ్చినగానిన్ని; and the past relative participle itself, with the final \checkmark thus lengthened, is often used in this sense; as, వాడువచ్చినా although he come, came, or should come.

450 The conditional form of any verb may also be expressed in the common dialect by adding to it's past relative participle the particles ట్టయి తే and ట్టాయెనా; as చేసినట్టయి తే . చేసినట్టాయెనా if I, thou, he, she, it, we, you, or they do. ట్టయి తే is composed of the particle అట్ట meaning so as, as if, and అయి తే the conditional form of the root అవు to become; ట్టాయెనా is composed of the same particle అట్ట, and ఆయెను the third person singular in the first form of the past tense of అవు, with it's final \checkmark changed into $\bar{\checkmark}$.

451 When the condition or contingency is of a negative nature, it is expressed in the superior dialect by adding తని to the respective persons of the negative aorist, and in the common dialect by affixing to the negative verbal participle the common conditional form of పోవు to go or ఉండు to be; thus, in the superior dialect we say and in the inferior dialect.

చేయవేని.....if thou dost not do, hast not done, or wilt not do.

దీవించడేని.....if he does not bless, has not blessed, or will not bless.

కొట్టకపోతే or కొట్టకుంటే . చేయకపోతే or చేయకుంటే . దీవించకపోతే or దీవించకుంటే If I, thou, he, she, it, we, you, or they beat, do, or bless-have beaten, done, or blessed - or shall beat, do, or bless.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE PARTICIPLES.

VERBAL PARTICIPLES.

There is no part of the verb of more frequent occurrence in Teloogoo than the verbal participles, with the proper use of which, therefore, it is of great importance that the student should be well acquainted: they can never, like the English participles, be used as adjectives, but must invariably be governed by some tense of a verb.

The verbal participles are used in Teloogoo when we wish to express any 452 minor actions of the person who performs the chief action mentioned in the sentence. The verbal participles, denoting the minor actions performed, or placed first in the sentence, and are governed by the verb denoting the main action, with which the sentence elegantly terminates.

The peculiarity in these participles, therefore, is that they always refer to 453 some subordinate action, performed by that particular agent only which is the nominative to the final governing verb, and never can express actions performed by others.

If the minor action be simultaneous with the main action in the sentence, the 454 present verbal participle is used; if antecedent in point of time to it, we use the past verbal participle; and if it be of a negative nature, the negative verbal participle is used.

The following examples are subjoined in illustration of these rules.

శ్రీ త్మ బాణంబులను పొడి సేయుచు తన బాణంబులు శ్రీ త్మ వుల దేహంబులనా 455 the arrows of his foes, piercing the bodies of his enemies with his own arrows, exciting a panic in the minds of the opponent's forces, and animating the spirits of his own soldiers, Arjoona ruled the battle.* ప్రజలను పాలించుచు పేదలను ర subjects, protecting the poor, and honoring the great, Dhurmarajah conducted the government.* కృష్ణుడు గోపాలులతోడ నాడుచు బాడుచు నవ్వుచు యమునా

- 457 పరిజనులను పిలవక ధనుర్బాణములను ధరించక కవచము తొడుగుకొనక వొంటి గాశ త్రుపులతో అతడు యుద్ధము చేశెను. Without calling his retinue, without taking his bow and arrows, and without putting on his armour, he singly fought with his enemies.

- 458 It will be observed that, in each of these examples, the verbal participles are placed first in the sentence, and invariably denote actions subordinate to that expressed by the verb at the conclusion of the period, by which they are governed; thus, in the three examples given of the present verbal participle, ruled, conducted and arrived, are the main actions expressed; and the participles reducing, piercing &c. fostering, protecting &c. playing, singing &c. are all minor actions subordinate thereto. It will further be perceived that the minor actions in question were all performed by that agent only which is the nominative to the governing verb. Arjoona ruled, and it was he also that reduced and pierced; Dhurmarajah conducted, and it was he also that fostered and protected; Krishna arrived, and it was he also that played and sung. Had any one else performed these minor actions, the verbal participles could not have been used.

As the minor actions of reducing and piercing were simultaneous with the main action of ruling, the fostering and protecting with that of conducting, and the playing and singing with that of arriving, the present verbal participles are used, in these cases: but, in the examples given of the past verbal participle, it will be perceived that the resolution of Vikramarka to proceed to the chase, his sending for his charioteer, and his ordering his car, were all, in point of time, antecedent to the main action of his proceeding to the forest; so also Rama's entering Ceylon, killing the giants, &c. were actions performed by him previously to his return to Oude; hence, in these instances, the past verbal participle is used; and in the last example, because the minor actions are of a negative nature, we use the negative verbal participle.

As an exception to the foregoing rules, it is to be observed that when we 459 speak of the time that has elapsed since any particular event occurred, the past verbal participle may be used absolutely, and then has a nominative of its own, independent of that of the final governing verb; thus, నేనువచ్చి పదిది నాలుక యెను it is ten days since I came, literally, I having come, ten days have passed; here దినాలు days is the nominative to the final governing verb అయెను passed; but నేను I is the nominative to the verbal participle వచ్చి having come, which is used absolutely.

The verbal participles always govern the same case as the verb to which they 460 belong; thus, వానికొట్టివచ్చి నాడు having beaten him he came; వాని being governed by the active verbal participle కొట్టి in the accusative case.

The foregoing remarks will give the student some idea of the importance of the verbal participles in the construction of the Telooogo; they are peculiarly well adapted to a language that abounds in descriptive passages, and the Student will occasionally find them carrying on and connecting the sense for pages together, but suspending the full meaning until the conclusion of the period. Hence, in some degree, the rare occurrence of conjunctions in Telooogo; for the connexion between the subordinate and chief action in a sentence, which is implied by the verbal participles, often supersedes the use of them.

RELATIVE PARTICIPLES.

Separate relative pronouns are rendered unnecessary in Telooogo, by certain 461 participles of the verb which have the power of the relative inherent in them, and which, like the దేశ్యము adjectives, must always be followed by some noun or pronoun.

462 The relative participles also denote the action of the verb to which they belong ; and the present, the past, the indefinite, or negative participle is used, according to the sense intended to be expressed.

463 The peculiarity of these participles consists in the relative inherent in them invariably referring to the noun or pronoun which immediately follows them, and which is also the agent to the action denoted by them, unless the relative participle stands between two nouns or pronouns ; thus, వచ్చుచున్నమనుష్యులు the persons that are coming, కాగుచున్నపాలు the milk that boils, కొట్టినమనిషి the person that beat, చంపినపులి the tiger that killed, మాటలాడేచిలుక the parrot that talks, talked, or will talk, (వా) శ్రేవాడు the man that writes, wrote, or will write, చూడనిదేశము the county that is, was, or will not be to be seen, రాజులేనిభూమి the country in which there is not, was not, or will not be a king.

464 If the relative participle of an active verb stands between two nouns or pronouns, and the first be in the nominative case, it is the agent to the action denoted by the participle, and the noun following, in whatever case it may be, is the object affected by that action ; thus, వారుచంపినపులి the tiger that they killed, మీరుచూచినవాడు the man that you saw, వాడుపిలిచినమనిషి the person that he called ; but if the first noun or pronoun be in the accusative, it is the object affected by the action which the active participle denotes, and the following noun, in whatever case it may be, is the agent thereto ; వానిచంపినపులి the tiger that killed him, మిమ్మునచూచినవాడు the man that saw you, వానిపిలిచినమనిషి the person that called him. If, independently of the agent and object, the relative inherent in an active participle, refers to the instrument, place, or other subordinate correlative to the action which it denotes, the agent is placed first in the nominative case, then the object in the accusative, next the relative participle, and finally the instrument, place, or other correlative to which it refers ; thus నేనుపులినిచంపినకత్తి or చోటు the sword with which, or the place in which, I killed the tiger ; రాజుగోవునిచ్చినబ్రాహ్మణుడు the bramin to whom the king gave the cow. In these examples I and the king are the agents, and therefore in the nominative case, the tiger and the cow are the objects, and therefore in the accusative, and the sword, the place, and the bramin are the subordinate correlatives referred to, and therefore placed immediately after the participle.

If the relative participle of a neuter verb stands between two nouns or 465 pronouns, the first must always be in the nominative case, because neuter verbs cannot govern the accusative; and it is also always the agent to the action denoted by the participle, the noun following being merely the subordinate correlative thereto; thus, నేనువుండినయిల్లు the house in which I was, మీరునడుస్తున్నదోవ the road in which you walk, వాడుకూచుండినస్థలము the place on which he sat, మీరుపడుకొన్నయిల్లు the house in which you slept.

The foregoing and following examples will best explain the manner in which 466 these participles supply, in construction, the cases of the relative pronouns, and the mode in which they must be translated in English by corresponding prepositions.

- N. వారినిచంపినపులి.....The tiger which killed them.
 మిమ్మునచూచినవాడు.....The man who saw you.
 వాణ్నిపిలిచినమనిషి.....The person who called him.
- G. బట్టచినిగినమనిషి.....The man whose clothes are torn.
 పూలువాడినచెట్టు.....The tree of which the flowers are faded.
 గోడపైరిగినయిల్లు.....The house of which the wall is inclined.
 పంటపండినచేను.....The field of which the produce is ripe.
- D. నేనువచ్చినపని.....The business for which I came.
 వాడువచ్చినయిల్లు.....The house to which he came.
- Ac. వారుచంపినపులి.....The tiger which they killed.
 మీరుచూచినవాడు.....The man whom you saw.
 వాడుపిలిచినమనిషి.....The person whom he called.
- Ab. పూలుగోసినచెట్టు.....The tree from which flowers were gathered.

నేనుపండుకొన్నయిల్లు.....The house in which I slept.

పండుకోశినకత్తి.....The knife with which the fruit was cut.

వానకురిశినయిల్లు.....The house on which it rained.

467 It is not easy, by any general rule, to define on what the case of the relative depends; in rule 464 the mere substitution of the word చోటు a place, for కత్తి a sword, changed the relative with which, into for which; and in rule 466 the substitution of యిల్లు a house, for పని business, changed the relative for which into to which. In the examples given in 466 the relative participle constantly stands between two nouns in the nominative case, yet the relative itself, which in Teloogoo is inherent in the participle, is in the genitive, dative, or ablative; and it is curious that in Teloogoo when an active participle is placed between two nominatives, the relative in English must be in the objective case (see examples of the accusative); while if the objective case in Teloogoo precede an active participle, the relative in English must be in the nominative case (see examples of the nominative). In rule 464, the correlative బ్రాహ్మణుడు a bramin is in the nominative, yet from the nature of the verb to give, the relative to whom, which is inherent in the Teloogoo participle, is in the dative case; thus, therefore, the case of the relative would seem to depend in some instances on the nature, rather than the case of the following word; in others, on the case of the preceding word; and in some, on the nature of the verb itself.

468 The common indefinite relative participle, by affixing అది, has often the same signification as an abstract noun; thus, using the abstract noun, we may say కొలువుమంచిది service is excellent, or we may use the common relative participle with అది, and say కొలిచేదిమంచిది; but, while the abstract nouns are declined and construed as substantives, the relative participles as well as the verbal nouns (such as కొలుచుట and కొలవడము) being integral parts of the verb, although declined like nouns, are invariably construed like verbs, and govern the same case as the verb from which they are derived; thus, using the abstract noun కొలువు, we say మీకొలువుమంచిది your service is excellent, మీ being placed in the possessive case; but when we use కొలిచేది - కొలుచుట or కొలవడము, we must place the pronoun in the accusative case and say మిమ్ముల కొలిచేదినుంచిది - మిమ్ములకొలుచుట or మిమ్ముల కొలవడమునుంచిది to serve you, or the serving you is excellent.

Nouns denoting the agent may be formed from every verb, by adding to the 469 relative participles, either affirmative or negative, the pronoun వాడు for the masculine, and అది for the feminine and neuter, in the singular number; and వారు for the masculine and feminine, and అవి for the neuter, in the plural; thus, కొట్టేవాడు the man who beats, the beater, కొట్టేది the woman or the thing that beats, చంపేవారు the men or women that kill, the killers, చంపేది the woman or the thing that kills, కొట్టనివాడు the man who does not beat, has not beaten, or will not beat, కొట్టనిది the woman or the thing that does not beat, has not beaten, or will not beat.

కొట్టేది . చంపేది &c. have, by some, been called infinitives; but they are 470 no more infinitives than కొట్టేవాడు or చంపేవాడు. They are merely, as above stated, relative participles, with the pronouns వాడు and అది added to them; thus, చంపేవాడు is composed of చంపే the common indefinite relative participle of the root చంపు to kill, with the pronoun వాడు added to it; and చంపేది is composed of the same word చంపే with the pronoun అది added to it; such compound words may be declined through all the cases of the pronoun వాడు and అది in the following manner.

S I N G U L A R.

GENERAL RULES.

- 471 In Teloogoo, the word agreeing with the verb is always in the nominative case, and has generally the first place in the sentence, then follows the word denoting the object governed by the verb, next any intermediate explanatory clause, and the verb itself closes the period.
- 472 A verb agrees with it's nominative in gender, number, and person ; but when two or more nominatives agree with the same verb, it is placed in the plural number, and agrees in gender with the masculine or feminine nominative, in preference to the neuter ; thus, తామరయు నెలయుఁ బ్రకాశించిరి the moon and the lotus shone, గొల్లలుపశువులువచ్చిరి the cowherds and cows came: but such forms of expression are very uncommon, it would be more elegant to say గొల్లలుపశువులతోవచ్చిరి the cowherds came with the cows ; and to express in Teloogoo that the king, the minister, their horses, and elephants, all entered into the city, we never should say రాజుమంత్రియుగజతురంగంబులునగరముప్రవేశించిరి but వారుగజతురంగంబులతోప్రవేశించిరి they arrived with thier elephants and horses.
- 473 If two or more nouns and pronouns, of different persons, connected by a copulative conjunction are nominatives to the same verb, the verb is placed in the plural number, but agrees with the second person in preference to the third, and with the first in preference to both ; as నేనుమీరు వాడువస్త్రీమి I, you, and he came.
- 474 Neuter verbs, from their nature, never can govern a noun or pronoun ; when made causal they are construed in the same manner as active verbs. Active verbs govern substantives in the accusative case ; thus, we say రాముఁడు రావ

ఁనిసంహరించెను Rama killed Ravana; but all nouns denoting inanimate objects, when governed by active verbs, may be placed in the nominative, instead of the accusative case; and, unless the use of the nominative would render the meaning obscure, this is the more correct and elegant construction; thus, రథము నెక్కినను or రథమెక్కినను he mounted the car, చదరంగమును or చదరంగము ఆడితిని I played at chess, నేనుకొండను or కొండచూస్తినని, I saw the mountain, తోటవాడు చెట్లను or చెట్లు నాటి నాడు the gardener has planted trees.

The verbs పితుకు to milk, అడుగు to ask, దండగతీయు to amerce, గెల్పు to win, దోచు to rob, with a few others, may govern two accusatives; but if one of these accusatives denote an inanimate object, it may be placed in the nominative instead of the accusative case, గొల్లవాడావును పాలను or పాలుపితికెను the cowherd milked the cow, దొరను నూరువరాలను or నూరువరాలు అడిగెను he asked his master for one hundred pagodas, న్యాయాధిపతి నేరస్థులను నూరువరాలను or వరాలు దండగతీసెను the magistrate amerced the guilty one hundred pagodas, నేనువాణ్ణి నూరువరాలను or వరాలు గెల్చినాను I won from him one hundred pagodas, దొంగలు భాటసాలను సొమ్ములను or సొమ్ములు దోచిరి the thieves robbed the travellers of their jewels.

Active verbs, when converted into causals, govern the noun which would have been the agent in their active form in the instrumental ablative; the noun which would have been the object in their active form continues in the accusative, or, if it denote something inanimate, in the nominative case; thus, వాడు యిల్లుకట్టినాడు he built a house, నేనువానిచేత యిల్లుకట్టిస్తినని I caused him to build a house, నాకొమారుడువు స్తకము వ్రాసెను my son wrote the book, నేను నాకొమారునిచేతవు స్తకము వ్రాయిస్తినని I caused my son to write the book, పులి మేకను చంపెను the tiger killed the goat, నేను పులిచేత మేకను చంపిస్తినని I caused the tiger to kill the goat, మీరు యీ వతమానము చెప్పితిరి you mentioned this news, మీ చేత యీ వతమానము చెప్పిస్తినని I caused you to mention this news.

But verbs denoting to read, to sing, or to eat, with perhaps a few others, when converted into causals, govern the noun which would have been the agent in their simple form either in the ablative or accusative case; గురువుతనశిష్యులను or శిష్యులచేతవుస్తకములుచదివించెను the master caused his pupils to read books, గాయకులను or గాయకులచేతసంగీతముపాడించిరి they caused the songsters to sing, బిడ్డలను or బిడ్డలచేతఅన్నముతినిపించెను he caused children to eat boiled rice.

478 When a verb directly affects two nouns, the one denoting a whole, and the other a part of that whole, the noun denoting the part stands in the nominative, but the principal noun is placed in the genitive case; thus, గుట్టములయొక్క తోకలుకొస్తారు they are cutting off the tails of horses. The principal noun may also stand in the dative; thus గుట్టములకుతోకలుకొస్తారు, or the principal noun may stand in the accusative; thus, గుట్టాలనుతోకలుకొస్తారు and this, in Telooḡoo, is considered the most elegant mode of expression.

479 The verb to be, which so often occurs in the English language, is generally omitted in Telooḡoo: it may occasionally be used, but it is thought more elegant to dispense with the use of it. The mode in which it is omitted in Telooḡoo when it is placed between an adjective and a substantive noun or pronoun, has been already explained (see rule 428), where it would intervene in English between a substantive pronoun and a substantive noun, it is also omitted in Telooḡoo. Indeed, as the personal terminations of the verb are derived from the substantive pronouns, it does not seem strange that these pronouns themselves should partake in some degree of the essence of the verb.

In Telooḡoo, when a substantive pronoun immediately precedes a substantive noun, the latter has the force of the present tense of the verb to be inherent in it; and if the pronoun be of the 1st or 2d person, the noun assumes certain affixes.

If the pronoun be of the 1st person, the affix to the noun is in the singular, వి for nouns in \ominus^{th} or \ominus , ను for nouns in \cup , and ను for nouns of any other termination; and in the plural, యు for all nouns.

If the pronoun be of the 2d person, the affix to the noun is in the singular, వి for nouns in \ominus^{th} or \ominus , వు for nouns in \cup , and వు for nouns in any other termination; and in the plural యరు for all nouns.

If the pronoun be of the third person, the noun takes no affix.

The following examples will more fully explain this construction.

- నేనుకవిని.....I am a poet.
 నీవుకవివి.....Thou art a poet.
 వాఁడుకవి.....He is a poet.
 నేనుబ్రాహ్మణుఁడను.....I am a bramín.
 నీవుబ్రాహ్మణుఁడవు.....Thou art a bramín.
 వాఁడుబ్రాహ్మణుఁడు.....He is a bramín.
 ఇదిగుఱ్ఱము.....This is a horse.
 ఇదిఆవు.....This is a cow.
 నేనుబిడ్డను.....I am a child.
 నీవుబిడ్డవు.....Thou art a child.
 వాఁడుబిడ్డ.....He is a child.
 మేము or మనముకవులము.....We are poets.
 మీరుకవులరు.....Ye are poets.
 వారుకవులు.....They are poets.
 మేము or మనముబ్రాహ్మణులము.....We are bramíns.
 మీరుబ్రాహ్మణులరు.....Ye are bramíns.
 వారుబ్రాహ్మణులు.....They are bramíns.
 ఇవిగుఱ్ఱములు.....These are horses.
 ఇవిఆవులు.....These are cows.
 మేము or మనముబిడ్డలము.....We are children.
 వారుబిడ్డలు.....They are children.

It will be observed that కవి a poet, with the singular pronouns of the 1st and 2d persons prefixed to it, in the one case affixes ని, and in the other వి, because it terminates in [ి]; but బ్రాహ్మణుఁడు a bramín ends in _ు, and therefore affixes ను and వు, or rather changes the final _ు into these terminations; and బిడ్డ a child ending neither in [ి] or _ు, nor in _ు, takes simply ను and వు.

Each of these nouns, viz. కవి - (బ్రా)హ్మణుఁడు and బిడ్డ, with the pronouns of the 1st and 2d persons plural prefixed to it, takes ము and రు ; and none of them, when preceded by the pronouns of the third person, take any affix whatever.

480 One verb governs another that refers to it, or depends on it, in the infinitive; but the infinitive invariably precedes the governing verb, instead of following it as in English; thus, I wish to conquer my foes శత్రువులను జయించనిచ్చయిస్తున్నాను, I hoped to adore Shiva శివుని పూజించకొరితిని.

481 When the speaker states what another has said, he does not, as in English, use the infinitive mood; he repeats the words of the original speaker, adding the particle అని having said; thus, he told me to write, would in the Telooḡoo idiom be rendered వ్రాయమని చెప్పెను namely వ్రాయుము write thou, అని having said, చెప్పెను he told; thus also, the sentence వాడు పామును చంపమని వానికి వుత్తరువు యిచ్చెను he ordered him to kill the snake, consists of the words వాడు he పామును the snake, చంపుము kill thou, అని having said, వానికి to him, వుత్తరువు order, యిచ్చెను gave; చేయుము and చెప్పుము preceding అని are changed, by the rules for Sund,hi, to చేయమని and చెప్పమని respectively, for in the common dialect the u before the ము of the imperative is generally dropped in this construction, for the sake of alliteration; thus, also, we say I heard that Devadutta went దేవదత్తుడుపోయెనని వింటిని &c. In this sense, the relative participles, with అది either in the nominative or accusative case, are sometimes elegantly used in Telooḡoo; as, దేవదత్తుడుపోయినది or పోయినదాన్ని వింటిని, or the particle కా, hereafter mentioned, may be added to the participles joined with అది in the nominative case; thus, దేవదత్తుడుపోయినదిగా వింటిని I heard that Devadutta went; thus also, we say విష్ణువు అవతరించపోతున్నాడని చెప్పుచున్నారు or అవతరించపోయ్యేది చెప్పుచున్నారు or అవతరించపోయ్యేదిగా చెప్పుచున్నారు they affirm that an incarnation of the God Vishnoo is about to take place.

482 అని is used, in the same manner, when we address to a second person orders to be delivered to a third, tell him to send పంపించమని చెప్పు, literally పంపిం

చుము send thou, అని having said, చెప్పు tell; వ్రాయమనిచెప్పు tell him to write, చదవమనిఅజ్ఞాపించు direct him to read, &c.

When we wish to represent various minor actions performed by others as contemporaneous with the chief action performed by a particular person mentioned in the sentence, a number of infinitives, denoting these minor actions, are placed together in the sentence, which terminates, in an elegant manner, with the verb denoting the main action placed in it's appropriate tense; thus, మిథిలా పురములోఁగఱప్పన్న దేశాధిపతులువచ్చి నివింప - వరాంగనలునాట్యమాడ - గాయకులుసంగీతముచేయ - భేరిమొదలుగాగలవాద్యములువాయించ - దేవతలుపుష్పవర్షణముగురియింప - వందిమాగధులుస్తోత్రముచేయ - పట్టణములోనుండేజనులుప్రమోదముబొంద - దశరథుండుతనపుత్రుండగురామునికివివాహంబుచేసినవాడాయెను. While the rulers of fifty-six countries, having arrived at the city of Midhila, were in attendance, while fair damsels sported in the dance, while choristers chaunted songs, while they sounded the great drum and other musical instruments, while the gods showered flowers, while the bards and genealogists proclaimed panegyrics, while the people of the city were filled with joy, the king Dasaradha celebrated the nuptials of his son Rama. Even in familiar conversation this mode of expression is sometimes used.

If the infinitive of a verb with the particle కొ added to it, be twice repeated, it denotes progression; thus, అక్షరాలువ్రాయగావ్రాయగాకుదురును writing improves gradually as we write, చదవగాచదవగాతెలుసును it will be understood gradually by reading, నడవగానడవగాదోవజరుగును as we walk the road gradually shortens, వర్షణముకురియగాకురియగాచెరువులు నిండును as it rains the lakes will be gradually filled.

The root కొను to buy, conjugated through all its moods, tenses, and persons, is frequently added to the past verbal participle of another verb, when it is intended to restrict the action denoted by that verb exclusively to the benefit of the agent; and often in the superior, but always in the inferior dialect, final of the past verbal participle is changed to ఁ when కొను is thus added; as చేసి

కొను or చేసుకొను to do for one's own benefit, (వ్రా)సికొను or (వ్రా)సుకొను to write for one's own benefit; thus we say (వ్రా)సినాను I wrote, (వ్రా)సికొన్నాను or (వ్రా)సుకొన్నాను I wrote for my own benefit; చేస్తాను I do, చేసికొంటాను . చేసుకొంటాను I do for my own benefit; చెప్పినాడు he told, చెప్పికొన్నాడు or చెప్పకొన్నాడు he told for his own benefit. Sometimes, however కొను is added merely for the sake of elegance; thus we may say either జాబుచూ స్తిని or జాబుచూ చుకొంటిని I saw the letter; at other times, it alters the signification of the verb to which it is added in a manner scarcely to be defined వాడుచక్క గానడుస్తాడు he walks well, వాడుచక్క గానడుచుకొంటాడు he behaves well; it occasionally makes a neuter verb active నాకు తెలిసినది it was understood to me, నేను తెలుసుకొంటిని I understood, తీయు to draw, to pull, తీసుకొను to bring, మ్రొక్కు to prostrate, మ్రొక్కుకొను to invoke &c.

485 The present verbal participle of a verb prefixed to any tense of the verb వచ్చు to come denotes that the action expressed by the participle is habitual or of long continuance; thus, అతడుమాయింటికివస్తూవచ్చెను he was in the habit of coming to, my house, వాడుచక్క గానడుచుకొంటూవచ్చెను he continued to behave himself well, యీ భూమిలోమునుపు ధాన్యముపండుతూవచ్చెను grain formerly used to be produced in this land, రాజుధర్మము గారాజ్యపరిపాలనచేస్తూవచ్చెను the king continued to govern the kingdom in a just manner, మీరు జాబులుపంపిస్తూరావలెను you must continue sending letters.

486 It has already been stated that active verbs become passive by adding to the infinitive the verb పడు to fall, to suffer. By affixing this verb to the nominative case of neuter nouns, particularly to such as denote any bodily suffering or mental affection, a compound verb is formed of a neuter signification; and if the noun end in ము, this termination may be changed into ం, or may be dropped altogether; the latter is the more common form; thus, from భయము fear is formed భయముపడు or భయంపడు or భయపడు to fear; from దెబ్బ a blow comes దెబ్బపడు to be beaten &c. But if instead of the neuter form పడు, the active form పరుచు be added to the substantive, it makes an active verb ; thus, from భయము fear comes భయపరుచు to frighten, and from సంతోషము gladness comes సంతోషపడు to be pleased, and సంతోషపరుచు to please.

The verb ఇచ్చు which properly signifies to deliver any thing from one's own possession into that of another, although it may be translated in English by the verb to give, is not in Teloogoo synonymous with that English verb. It cannot be used unless the thing delivered is taken by the receiver ; for example, if a bramin invites another to dine with him, we cannot in Teloogoo say with propriety that he gave him boiled rice అన్నమిచ్చెను ; because the boiled rice is not delivered into the hands of the bramin invited, but only placed on a leaf before him. We must therefore say అన్నముపెట్టెను he placed rice before him. But if he were to give the food to his palanqueen bearer, who, being of an inferior cast, is not allowed to pollute the house of a bramin by eating in it, he does not place the boiled rice before him, but delivers it into his hands, and in this case therefore we might say ఆ బ్రాహ్మణుడతనబోయికి అన్నమిచ్చెను that bramin gave rice to his palanqueen bearer. In the same manner, if you give grass to a horse, you cannot say in Teloogoo గుట్టానికికసువుయిస్తిని I gave grass to the horse, but నేనుగుట్టానికికసువువేస్తిని I threw grass to the horse.

OF PARTICLES OR INDECLINABLE WORDS.

కా

There are scarcely any proper adverbs in Teloogoo, యిప్పుడు now, అప్పుడు then, ఎప్పుడు when, నేడు to-day, నిన్న yesterday, రేపు to-morrow, &c. are not adverbs, but substantive nouns which are declined ; adverbs however are easily made, or rather their want is supplied, by adding to any noun substantive or adjective the infinitive కా, from the verb అవు to become, which, following a nominative, is changed into కా, according to the rules given in Chapter Second ; thus,

- from సుఖము.....happiness...is derived,.....సుఖముకా.....happily.
-అందము...beauty.....అందముకా.....beautifully.
-గొప్ప.....great.....గొప్పకా.....greatly.

from త్వర.....quickness...is derived...త్వరగా.....quickly.

.....చల్ల.....cold.....చల్లగా.....coldly.

.....తిన్న.....soft, slow.....తిన్నగా.....softly, slowly.

.....తియ్య.....sweet.....తియ్యగా.....sweetly.

.....చేదు.....bitter.....చేదుగా.....bitterly.

గాలిచల్లగాకొట్టుతున్నది the wind blows coldly, గుఱ్ఱముతిన్నగానడుస్తున్నది the horse goes slowly.

489 It is to be remarked that గా can never be added to the nominative with which the verb agrees, but only to an adjective or substantive qualifying that nominative. If I would express that the water of the sea is salt, to the word denoting salt I may add గా, and say సముద్రపునీళ్లువుప్పు గావున్నవి ; because salt is not the nominative to the verb, it only qualifies the water of the sea which is the nominative. But if I wish to state that there is salt water in the sea, the sentence refers not to the essence or quality of the water, but to it's existence ; therefore without adding గా I should say సముద్ర ములోవుప్పునీళ్లువున్నవి : we say ఆవుప్పుములు వాసన గావున్నవి those flowers are fragrant, but when we merely assert that there is fragrance in flowers we say వుప్పుములయందు వాసనవున్నది.

490 Besides converting substantives and adjectives into adverbs, కా when added to them may denote resemblance, similitude, &c. దూరములోనుంచిచూస్తూ పర్వతములు ధూమముగా అగుపడుతున్నవి if mountains be viewed from a distance, they appear like smoke.

491 The infinitive కా, added to the pronoun తాను, also represents the English expressions spontaneously, of his own accord ; for example, supposing a person to die voluntarily by eating poison, if I wish to ascertain whether he died of any disease, or of his own accord, I should say in Telooogo అతడురోగముచేత చచ్చెనా లేక తనకుతానే or తానుగానేచచ్చెనా, I might also say తానేచచ్చెనా, but తానే is liable to equivocation, for besides meaning spontaneously in contradistinction to forcibly, it may likewise signify that he himself died in contradistinction to any other person.

Sometimes the past verbal participle or infinitive of a verb is used as an adverb ; thus, from.....the root తిరుగు.....to turn.....comes: . . . తిరుగ.....orతిరిగి.....again.

మళ్లు.....to return.....మళ్లు.....orమళ్లి.....again.
నిండు.....to fill.....నిండా.....orనిండి.....much.

The following Sanscrit particles cannot properly be termed adverbs, but they enter so frequently into the composition of తత్సమము words that some notice of them seems to be necessary ; and I know not that I can offer the few observations which I have to make respecting them in a more appropriate place. They are prefixes compounded with substantives, adjectives, or verbs of Sanscrit derivation.

ప్ర denotes excess ; as హాషఁ joy, ప్ర హాషఁ excess of joy, ధనము wealth, ప్ర ధనము great wealth.

పరా is a privative implying opposition, reverse ; as జయము victory, పరాజయము defeat.

అప is also a privative ; as కీర్తిఁ fame, అపకీర్తిఁ infamy, జయము victory, అపజయము defeat, ధనము money, అపధనండు a poor man.

సమ్ is an incrementive denoting also goodness, or connexion ; as అచిఁతుండు adored, సమచిఁతుండు well adored, వాదము declamation, సంవాదము an argumental dispute.

అను signifies after, near, each, every ; as సరణము going, అనుసరణము following, వనము a garden, అనువనము near a garden, దినము a day, అనుదినము every day.

అవ is a privative, meaning also below ; as తరణము going, అవతరణము descending ; నతము bent, అవనతము bent down ; మానము honor, అవమానము dishonor.

నిర్ - నిస్ are privatives, meaning also going through, the whole ; as, రసము juice, నీరసము juiceless ; గ్రామము a village, నిగ్రామండు a man who went through a village ; దత్తము given, నిదత్తము given altogether.

దుర్ - దున్ ill, bad, reverse; as, కర్తము business, దుష్కర్తము bad business; గమ్యము passable, దుగమ్యము impassable.

వి signifies excess, variety, badness; it also denotes opposition; as జయము victory, విజయము a great victory; విధము manner or method, వివిధము various methods; రూపము form, విరూపము deformity; వాదము talking, వివాదము a quarrel; మలము filth, విమలము purity.

ని excess, within; as హననము torturing, నిహననము killing.

అధి means above, excess; as, ఆసీనుడు sitting, అధ్యాసీనుడు sitting upon any thing; పాదము a foot, అధిపాదము a foot over.

అపి in most Sanscrit words adopted into Telooḡoo is a mere expletive.

అతి means much, beyond moderation; as, మధురము sweet, అతిమధురము very sweet; వేల a limit, అతివేలము beyond the limit; భోజనము eating, అతిభోజనము eating immoderately.

సు good, well; as, పథము a road, సుపథము a good road; గుణము the disposition, సుగుణము a good disposition or temper.

ఉద్ denotes up, beyond; as ధృతము held, ఉద్ధృతము held up; స్థానము not moving, ఉత్థానము rising; వేల limit, ఉద్వేలము beyond the limit.

అభి before; as ముఖము a face, అభిముఖము before the face; సూర్యుడు the sun, అభిసూర్యము before the sun.

ప్రతి again, in return, back, each, opposite, in exchange, towards; as వనము a garden, ప్రతివనము each garden; ఉపకారము kindness, ప్రత్యుపకారము a return of kindness; వాది a complainant, ప్రతివాది a defendant; సూర్యుడు the sun, ప్రతిసూర్యము towards the sun; విష్ణువు Vishnoo, ప్రతివిష్ణువు a second Vishnoo.

పరి signifies well; as, అలోచన consideration, పర్యలోచన considering well, deep reflexion; శోధన a trial, పరిశోధన well tried.

ఉప near; as గ్రామము a country, ఉపగ్రామము environs.

494 Conjunctions are seldom used in Telooḡoo; they are necessary chiefly in works on science, where a chain of reasoning is required for the elucidation of some position ; but in short detached maxims regarding moral conduct, and in poetical compositions, which form the principal part of Teloogoo literature, the frequent use of conjunctions would destroy that simplicity and elegant conciseness of phrase, which is the great characteristic of the language.

In the superior dialect, యు is equivalent to the English conjunction and, 495 but it is added only to words ending in $\check{\text{వ}} \text{ౌ}^{\text{ః}} \text{ౌ}^{\text{ః}}$ or $\underline{\text{ౌ}}$. This particle being included in the class of words termed drootuprucrootica, is liable to all the changes mentioned in the second chapter of this work as peculiar to words of that description. If the word end in any other vowel than those abovementioned, the drootuprucrootica affix ను is added to it, instead of యు, to express the conjunction and; thus, గాఢీయు - ఎద్దునుగొర్రెయు a carriage, a bullock, and a sheep.

In the common dialect ని - న్ని, or నిన్ని are added to words ending in $\text{ౌ}^{\text{ః}}$ or 496 $\underline{\text{ౌ}}$; and ను - న్ను or నున్ను to words in any other terminations, to express our conjunction and; న్ను however is seldom affixed to any nouns except to those in ౌ ; న్ని if affixed to a word ending in long[ః] requires it to be shortened into[ః]; and ని.నిన్ని as well as ను-నున్ను always lengthen the final vowel of the word to which they are affixed; thus, కొయ్యనున్ను కొరడానున్ను - కళ్ళేనున్ను a staff, a whip, and a stick; బండిన్ని గాడిన్ని బాగావున్న వి the cart and the carriage are in good order; రాముడున్ను లక్ష్మణుడున్ను యుద్ధము చేశె Rama and Lutchmana fought. A terminational emphasis, or the lengthening of the final vowel, is also equivalent to the conjunction; as కొయ్య కొరడాకట్టె a staff, a whip, and a stick; సేనలో యేనుగు లూ గుఱ్ఱములూ ఒంటెలూ రథములూ అన్ని వున్న వి elephants, horses, camels, and cars are all in the army, యిండ్లూ తోటలూ దొడ్లూ సేలట యాలం బడ్డవి houses, gardens, go-downs, and lands, are sold by auction.

The abovementioned particles which are equivalent to the conjunction and 497 may be affixed to all, to any, or to none of the objects enumerated; but in the case last mentioned, the final vowel must be lengthened, or pronounced with emphasis; thus నేనున్ను నాన్నే హితుడున్ను తిరువట్టూ రికిపోతిని or నేనునా

నేను హితుడును తిరువట్టారికిపోతిమి or నేనూనాన్నె హితుడూ తిరువట్టారికి పోతిమి I and my friend went to Trevatoor.

498 When we wish particularly to mark the nature, rather than the number of the objects enumerated, not saying, for example, two hills, but these are both hills; then, some of the participles abovementioned must be added to the word denoting the number, or the emphasis must be laid on the last syllable of it; thus, అదుగో పొగవలె అగుపడుతున్న వేలవి రెండున్నూ or రెండూ కొండలు those are both mountains that appear yonder like smoke; if we said రెండు కొండలు it would mean that there are two mountains, not that both are mountains.

499 When we allude to the whole of any number of objects, some of the participles abovementioned must be added to the word expressing the object, not to the word expressing the number; thus, if I were to say I am wounded in one of my hands, one is not here a complete number, because I have two hands; therefore, without adding the particles abovementioned, I must say నాకు ఒక చేతిలో గాయము తగిలినది; but if both my hands were wounded, then I must add some of those particles to the Telooqoo word denoting hands; thus, నారెండు చేతులలోనున్న గాయము తగిలినది; for if I did not add న్ను here, it would be understood that I had more than two: thus also, if I say నాత బేలాలో నాలుగుగుఱుములు పరిగెత్తిపోయినవి four horses ran out of my stable, as న్ను is not added, it is understood that I have yet more horses; for if these four were all that belonged to me, then I should have added న్ను, and said నాత బేలాలో నాలుగుగుఱుములున్న పరిగెత్తిపోయినవి.

500 న్ను and its synonymous particles abovementioned often represent the English words also, even &c; thus, యిదిన్ని నాది this also is mine. Hence, if న్ని be added to the word ప్రకటి one thing, and a negation follow, it expresses the English word nothing; thus వొకటిన్ని చేయను I will do nothing; in other words I will not do even one thing. These particles followed by a negation, are likewise equivalent to our negatives neither, nor &c.; thus, మంచిదిన్ని కాదు చెడ్డదిన్ని కాదు it is neither good, nor bad. If these particles are added to any interrogative pronoun or adverb beginning with the letter ఎ, more commonly written యె, they denote universality; thus, ఎక్కడ where ? ఎక్కడనున్న every where; ఎవరు who ? ఎవరున్న all; ఎట్లు how ? ఎట్లానున్న any how, at any rate; ఎప్పుడు when ? ఎప్పుడున్న always &c. This is also the case when these particles are added to the past relative participles of verbs, with an interrogative pronoun prefixed; thus, వాడుఎక్కడవుండినానున్న where-soever he may be, వాడుఎట్లావ్రాశినానున్న howsoever he may write, &c. It will be observed that in this construction the final న of the past relative participle is lengthened to నా.

The following is a list of the most common interjections in Teloogoo. 501

In Teloogoo there are three final significant letters, which may be added to all words; namely, ఱ to denote interrogation, ఱ to express doubt or ignorance, and ఱ to mark emphasis.

ఱ is purely interrogative, and should always be affixed to the word denoting the object respecting which the question is asked. For example, in crossquestioning a witness, a person may wish to ascertain whether he did, or did not go to the house of the complainant on a certain day : in this case he would ask, నీవు పోయిన ఆదివారము నాడు వాదియింటికిపోయినావా did you go last Sunday to the house of the complainant? but if he knew that he went to some place, and wished to ascertain particularly whether it was to the complainant's house or not, in this case he would ask నీవు పోయిన ఆదివారము నాడు వాదియింటికాపోయినావు Was it to the house of the complainant that you went last Sunday? Supposing he is aware that the witness went to the house of the complainant, but wishes to ascertain the precise day, he would in that case ask, నీవు పోయిన ఆదివారమునాడా వాదియింటికిపోయినావు Was it on Sunday last, that you went to the complainant's house? Again he might have learned that some one went to the house in question, but might be desirous to ascertain whether it was the witness or not, he should then ask నీవాపోయిన ఆదివారమునాడు వాదియింటికిపోయినావు was it you that went to the complainant's house last Sunday? It is however to be observed that to words which are already of an interrogative nature, such as the pronouns beginning with the letter ఎ, more commonly written యె, the significant letter ా is never added.

504 యో denotes ignorance or doubt, and must be added to the particular word expressing that of which we are ignorant, or of which doubt is entertained : for instance, supposing I am in doubt whether you have, or have not given me money ; to the affirmation you have given I add the particle యో and say నీవునాకు రూకలుయిచ్చినావో : but if I am certain of having received some money from you, and am in doubt respecting the quantity, not recollecting whether it was Fanams, or Pagodas that you gave me, then the యో must not be added to the verb, because I have no doubt but you gave something ; it must be added both to the word expressing Fanams and to that denoting Pagodas, because I stand in doubt respecting both, నీవునాకు రూకలలోపరాల్సియిచ్చినావు ; again, if I am aware both of the payment, and of the amount, and only doubt whether you gave it to me, or to some one else, then I add the యో to the word denoting to me నీవునాకోరూకలుయిచ్చినావు ; lastly, if I am certain that I myself received the money, but am in doubt whether I received it from you, or from another, then the [ఁ] is added to the word thou నీ నైనానాకుచూకలుయిచ్చినావు. In this manner, the peculiar object of doubt or interrogation is at once clearly defined in Teloo^goo.

The particle [ఁ] added to the common conditional form of the verb ending 505 in ^{తే}, with the drootuprucrootica affix ^{న్} becomes ^{నో} and represents our phrases but if, on the contrary, should it &c. &c. thus, వషణముకురియకపోతే జనులునశింతురు - వషణముకురి ^{న్} సోజనులునుఖమును సొందుదురు If it does not rain the people will suffer severely ; but if it rains they will be happy.

In Teloo^goo there are many interrogatives, especially among the pronouns, 506 which commence with the letter ఎ, or as it is commonly written యె; thus, ఎవరు who? ఎట్లా how? ఎక్కడ where? &c. if [ఁ] be added to these words the interrogation is converted into an affirmation of ignorance or doubt. A person asks another అక్కడయెవరు who is there? the answer may be ఎవరో I do not know, or am in doubt who he is. In the same manner, we say వాడుయెక్కడ ^{నో} I do not know, or am in doubt where he is, ఇక్కడయెవరోనిద్రసోచున్నారు some people whom I do not know are sleeping here.

[ఁ] is used to express emphasis, and is added to any word on which particular 507 stress is intended to be laid, nearly in the same manner as the significant letters [ఁ] and [ఁ]; thus, నాడుమనతోకూడాతోటకువచ్చినాడేవాణ్ణి పిలుపు call the very man who came with us that day to the garden; వాడుమహాయోగ్యుడే యెలకొట్టితిరి he is indeed a worthy man, wherefore did you strike him? నీవు నిండా నైపుణుల వాడవేవానితోయెలజగడమాడితివి thou in particular art a patient man, why didst thou quarrel with him? మీరుకోటకుపోతి రేలప్పుడు నేనువచ్చితిని at the very time you went to the fort I came here. This particle is also used when we wish to select one out of many objects; for instance, supposing that there are many ripe mangoes upon a tree from which the gardener is plucking them, and that I ask for one, but that he throws down another which I did not want, I reject it, and pointing with my finger to the particular mangoe which I wanted, say ఏ న్నేకోళి వెయ్యి cut and throw me this very one. I could not say this if there were only one mangoe on the tree.

508 The final significant affix ^ఱ in the latter part of a sentence, preceded by the final significant letter ^ఱ in the former part of it, have the correspondence of the English as and so; thus, మీరుయే ప్రకారము ఆజ్ఞాపించితిరో ఆ ప్రకారమే చేసినాను as you directed, so have I done; మీరుయెట్లా చెప్పినారో నేను అట్లాగే వ్రాస్తాను as you said, so have I written.

509 లేక the negative verbal participle derived from లేను the negative aorist of the root కలుగు signifies without; and కాక the negative verbal participle derived from కాను the negative aorist of the root అవు signifies besides; thus, ఆయుధములు లేక శత్రువులను జయించగూడదు without arms it is impossible to conquer enemies; ఇండ్లుతోటలు కాక రొక్కముయెంతవున్నది besides houses and gardens how much is there in ready cash? Both లేక and కాక by the addition of ఉండ the infinitive of the root ఉండు to be frequently become లేకుండ or కాకుండ without any alteration in their meaning.

510 యేల means why? It may be placed either before or after a verb: if placed first the verb agrees in person, number, and gender with it's nominative; thus, యేలచూస్తాను why did I look? యేలచూచినాడు why did he look? యేలచూచినారు why did they look? But if this particle follows the verb it is placed in the infinitive, which, being a drootuprucrootica, takes న before the ఏ of ఏల, and it is thus used promiscuously for every person, number, or gender; thus, నేను వాడు or వారు చూడనేల why did I, he, or they look? నేను నీవు వారు అది &c. రానేలపోనేల &c. why did I, thou, they, she, or it &c. come, go, &c.?

511 వినను or వినప్పటికినీ, the forms of the root అవు denoting although I, thou, he, &c. become, if placed at the commencement of a sentence, represent the English word nevertheless; వినప్పటికినీ వాడు సమఘండు nevertheless he is a clever man. But if either of these phrases is placed after two or more words in the same sentence, it will have the effect of the disjunctive conjunctions either, or ; thus, we say సరకులైనప్పటికిన్ని రొక్క దూకలయినప్పటికిన్ని either goods or ready money. The same particles if not repeated, but following one word only in a sentence signify at least ; thus, పదివరాలయినప్పటికిన్నియిప్పించు give me at least ten Pagodas. Lastly, if any of these phrases are added to interrogatives beginning with the letters ఎ or ఏ, more commonly written యె or యే, they give such words a peculiar signification which will be best understood by the following examples ; ఏవిధము in what manner ? ఏవిధమైనప్పటికిన్ని in what manner soever ; ఎట్లు how ? ఎట్టైనప్పటికిన్ని how soever ; ఎప్పుడు when ? ఎప్పుడైనను when soever : the power of these phrases differs essentially from the power of న్ను &c. added to similar words ; both imply universality, but these phrases restrict the meaning to one of all, న్ను &c. include all collectively ; thus, ఎప్పుడున్ను always, at every time ; ఎప్పుడైనప్పటికిన్ని at what time soever ; ఎక్కడనున్ను every where, ఎక్కడనైనప్పటికిన్ని where soever ; ఎవ్వడున్ను every one, ఎవ్వడైనప్పటికిన్ని whosoever.

Besides the two senses in which లేను - లేవు - లేడు - లేదు - లేము - లేరు, 512 లేరు the aorist of the root కలుగు is used, as explained in rules 441 and 444, లేదు the neuter of the third person singular is used in two other senses.

1st, placed after a nominative of any of the three persons and the infinitive of a verb, it is a simple negative participle denying the action of the verb, with reference to the past time only ; thus, నేను &c. చేయలేదు I &c. did not do : this use of the third person neuter must be distinguished from that of the whole tense before mentioned ; thus,

- నేను చేయలేనుI cannot do..... నేను చేయలేదు....I did not do.
- నీవు చేయలేవు.....Thou canst not do.....నీవు చేయలేదు....Thou didst not do.
- వాడు చేయలేడుHe cannot do.....వాడు చేయలేదుHe did not do.
- మేము చేయలేము..We cannot do.....మేము చేయలేదు..We did not do.
- మీరు చేయలేరు...You cannot do.....మీరు చేయలేదుYou did not do.
- వారు చేయలేరు...They cannot do.....వారు చేయలేదుThey did not do.

in the one case the auxiliary లేను &c. agrees with it's nominative in gender, number, and person; in the other లేదు is indeclinable.

2ndly. లేదు is used independently by itself as a simple negative particle denying existence, applicable to all persons, without reference to any time, and opposed to కాదు which denies essence, quality &c : the contrary of the first is కద్దు, the irregular third person singular of the affirmative aorist of the root కలుగు; the contrary of the second is the word అవును, the third person singular of the affirmative aorist of అవు to become. If I ask is there a house here? I enquire respecting existence, and the answer, if there is one, is కద్దు; if not లేదు. But if I see something at a distance, and, doubtful not of its existence but of its essence or quality, ask, is that a house, the answer, if it is not, is కాదు; if it is, అవును.

513 అవును indeed may be considered to represent the English word yes, being constantly used as an affirmative reply to questions of all kinds, and not restricted like its negative కాదు to a denial of essence or quality; for example, అవును yes may be used in reply to any of the following interrogations. వాడు పూరినుంచినాడా has he returned from the country? ఈకాలంబాన లుకురిస్తేమంచిదా would rain be seasonable at this time? ఈరాజుధర్మాత్ముడా is this King virtuous? మీకువిద్యచదువుకోవలెననిఅపేక్షవున్నదా do you desire to learn science? మీదేశమందువర్షముసమృద్ధిగాకురిశినదా have you had abundance of rain in your country? దక్షిణదేశమందుకావేరీప్రవాహమువచ్చినదా have the freshes of the Cauvery reached the southern districts? ఇతఁడుమీకొమారుడా is he your son?

514 Notwithstanding అవును may thus be used as a general affirmative, its use is properly confined to affirmations respecting quality or essence only; thus, if I ask, is there rice in the house? I enquire about the existence of something, not respecting its quality; therefore, if there is, although we may say అవును yes, it will be more correct to answer కద్దు, or వున్నది, there is: but if, seeing a basket with something in it, I ask, is that rice in the basket? I enquire respecting the essence or quality of something, not regarding its existence, and if it is rice, అవును yes is the only proper answer; if it is not, కాదు.

Such is the use of these words when used independently by themselves, but 515 when అవును follows a noun in the common dialect, it does not signify yes or it is, but it will or may be: and if used in speaking of the present time, it also implies doubt; thus if to my question, what is there? they answer బియ్యమవును it may be rice; this is the same as saying, I cannot speak with certainty, but I think, or have understood, that it is rice. The particle అట it is said or they say, is often used in this sense; thus, if I ask, is Gooroomoorty here? and the answer is యింటికిపోయినాడట this means, I do not know, but they say that he is gone home. When used in speaking of any future event, the word అవును may imply either doubt or certainty; for example, should I ask వాడు కష్టపడిచదువుకొంటే తెలుగులో సమర్థుడవునా if he take pains and read, will he become well versed in Telooogo, and am answered సమర్థుడవును it means either that he will certainly become well versed in Telooogo, or that he may perhaps become well versed in Telooogo: a prevaricating witness may often attempt to shelter himself under the equivocal meaning of this word.

This phrase represents the English word otherwise; మీరు దాన్నియిస్తేస్తరి 516 if you give it, 'tis well, లేకపోతేనేనుబలవంతముగాతీసుకొంటున్నాను otherwise, I will take it forcibly. It consists of the negative verbal participle లేక, derived from లేను the negative aorist of కలుగు, prefixed to the conditional form of the verb పోవు to go, used here merely as an expletive.

వర - మట్టు.

These words imply a term, or limit, they are generally used in the dative 517 case, and often with the conjunction న్ను; thus, వరకు or వరకున్ను and మట్టుకు or మట్టుకున్ను signify until; as ఈగడియవరకు or వరకున్ను - మట్టుకు or మట్టుకున్ను until this hour, hitherto; వర may also be used in the local ablative; thus, ఈవరలోవాణ్ణిచూడలేదు I never saw him till this time; we say also ఇంతమట్టుకు this much, thus far; అంతమట్టుకు that much, as far as that; ఎంతమట్టుకు how much? how far; &c.

మాత్రము.

This word applies to all computation, whether by number, weight, or 518 measure ; thus, యీపొలములోపండ్లే ధాన్యముయెంతమాత్రము what quantity of grain is produced in this field? యీబంగారుయెంతమాత్రము what is the weight of this gold? యీబియ్యముయెంతమాత్రము how much is this rice? నిడుపుయెంతమాత్రము how long? వెడల్పుయెంతమాత్రము how broad? పొడుగుయెంతమాత్రము how high? లోతుయెంతమాత్రము how deep? The word యెంత alone is also used in the same sense ; thus, యీబంగారుయెంత-యీధాన్యముయెంత - నిడుపుయెంత &c. but so far as regards number, the collective pronouns often represent యెంత &c.; thus, మనుష్యులుయెందరు how many persons? రూకలుయెన్ని how many fanams? సంవత్సరములుయెన్ని how many years?

కాని.

- 519 The participle కాని from the root అవు to become, according to circumstances represents the English words either, or, unless, only, except, although ; as తాటాకుమీదగానీ కాగిదముమీదగానీ (వ్రాయ) write either on cadjans, or on paper ; వాడు యిక్కడికివస్తేనే కాని యీపనికానెరదు this business cannot be effected, unless he come here ; యీపుస్తకమునీకే కాని వానికివ్వను I will give this book to you only, not to him ; వానివల్లగాని యీపనిచక్కబడదు this business cannot be well done except by him ; మెడబట్టితోసినాగానీ వాడుపోడు although you push him by the neck, he will not go. It will here be observed that when కాని follows words belonging to the class drootuprucrootica it is changed into గాని ; and when it means either, or, or although, the final ^o is lengthened into ^o.

APPENDIX.

OF NUMBERS.

1st. CARDINAL NUMBERS.

The cardinal numbers in Teloogoo, may, like adjectives, be prefixed to substantives, or like nouns, be used independently by themselves: in either state, each of them, except the first, has two forms; of which one is applicable to masculine or feminine, the other to neuter objects. I shall give the neuter cardinals first, as the others are derived from them.

The forms common to the masculine and feminine genders are derived from the foregoing neuters in the following manner.

The numeral ఒక one, when used as an adjective, is the same for all genders : when used as a substantive, it has a separate form for each gender ; viz. ఒకటి for the neuter, ఒకడు for the masculine, and ఒకతె for the feminine. The neuter రెండు two, whether used as an adjective, or as a substantive, becomes ఇద్దరు in the masculine and feminine ; the neuter మూడు three becomes ముగ్గురు, నాలుగు four becomes నలుగురు, and all the other neuters, whether used substantively or adjectively, become masculine or feminine by affixing the particle మంది ; thus, అయిదుమంది five, ఆఱుమంది six, ఏడుమంది seven &c. &c. &c.

In addition to these forms, the neuter numbers noted below admit, in the masculine and feminine gender, of some irregular forms.

ఆఱు.....	six may in the masculine 'and feminine' form become.	ఆఱువురు or ఆఱుగురు
ఏడు.....	seven	ఏడువురు or ఏడుగురు
ఎనిమిది.....	eight	ఎనమండ్రు
తొమ్మిది.....	nine	తొమ్మండ్రు
పది.....	ten	పదుగురు
పన్నెండు.....	twelve	పన్నిద్దరు
పదమూడు.....	thirteen	పదముగ్గురు
పద్నాలుగు.....	fourteen	పద్నలుగురు

The neuter cardinals రెండు two, మూడు three, and నూలు a hundred, when used as substantives, make in the singular inflexion రెంటి - మూటి - నూటి respectively, and are declined in the same manner as the irregular దేశ్యము noun : the masculine ఒక్కడు one is declined like the regular దేశ్యము nouns of the 1st declension, the feminine ఒక్కతె and the neuter ఒక్కటి one, with all other cardinal numbers, when used as substantives are declined according to the rules for the third declension ; except masculines and feminines ending in గురు, which in the singular inflexion change that termination into గురి ; thus, nominative నలుగురు four, inflexion నలుగురి, dative నలుగురికి to four &c. &c.

2d. ORDINAL NUMBERS.

The ordinals are formed by changing the final vowel of the neuter cardinal numbers into వ in the superior dialect, and into, ^{వో} in the common dialect, the first cardinal number excepted, which in the cardinal form, becomes మొదటి in both dialects, as shewn below.

3d. FRACTIONS.

The subdivision of unity is carried to a great extent, in common practice, among the people of Telingana. Their fractions descend by fours; in the same manner that our decimal fractions descend by tens, and the four thousand and ninety sixth part of an integer often occurs in a common Telooogo account.

The following table exhibits the subdivisions of an unit.

English Figure.	Telooogo Figure.	Name.
1.....	౧.....	ఒకటి
$\frac{3}{4}$	౪.....	ముక్కాలు
$\frac{2}{4}$ or $\frac{1}{2}$	౪.....	అర

$\frac{3}{16}$	వి ౩.....	మువ్వీసము
$\frac{2}{16}$ or $\frac{1}{8}$	వి ౨.....	పరక
$\frac{1}{16}$	వి —.....	వీసము
$\frac{3}{64}$	కా ౪.....	ముక్కాని
$\frac{2}{64}$ or $\frac{1}{32}$	కా ౪.....	అరవీసము

64.....	కా 	కాని
$\frac{3}{56}$	పిఁ.....	ముప్పియ
$\frac{2}{56}$ OR $\frac{1}{28}$	పిఁ.....	అర కాని
$\frac{1}{56}$	పి—.....	ప్పియ
$\frac{3}{24}$	సుఱ.....	మాడుసురలు
$\frac{2}{24}$ OR $\frac{1}{12}$	సుఱ.....	రెండుసురలు
$\frac{1}{24}$	సు 	సుర
$\frac{3}{96}$	గోఁ.....	మాడుగోకరకానులు
$\frac{2}{96}$ OR $\frac{1}{48}$	గోఁ.....	రెండుగోకరకానులు
$\frac{1}{96}$	గో—.....	గోకరకాని

It will be perceived that the subdivision of an unit into fourths is marked by perpendicular lines, and that into sixteenths by horizontal lines: in either case, the number of these lines corresponds with the number of fractional parts intended to be represented. Thus, | is $\frac{1}{4}$, ఱ is $\frac{2}{4}$ (or $\frac{1}{2}$) and ఱఱ is $\frac{3}{4}$; — is $\frac{1}{16}$, ు is $\frac{2}{16}$ (or $\frac{1}{8}$); and ు is $\frac{3}{16}$; and in the further subdivision of unity, the number of fractional parts (which in English vulgar fractions we term the numerator) is denoted, in the same manner, by a corresponding number of lines, alternately perpendicular and horizontal.

The particular kind of parts into which the integer itself is divided, which in our vulgar fractions is called the denominator, is marked in Telooḡoo, much in the same way as in our decimal fractions; namely, by the distance of the perpendicular and horizontal lines from the integer number; thus, ఱఱఱ | ుఱ— 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ $\frac{2}{16}$ $\frac{1}{64}$ $\frac{3}{56}$ $\frac{2}{24}$ and $\frac{1}{96}$. It will here be observed that the lines next the integer are fourths, those a degree further to the right, sixteenths, then follow sixty fourths, next, two hundred and fifty sixths, and so on. But when fractions are written separately from the integer number, the denominator is marked by prefixing to all the lines, except those of the first subdivision, a contraction of the Telooḡoo word which expresses the particular subdivision to which the fraction belongs;

as వి for వీసము before the second subdivision, కా for కాని before those of the third subdivision, as specified in the foregoing table.

In accounts, if the whole of one subdivision be wanting, the deficiency is marked by substituting for the perpendicular lines the mark ౨ called హల్లి, and for the horizontal lines ౦, or a cypher; Thus, ౧౨౨౨౦౫ $\frac{2}{16}$ $\frac{2}{16}$ $\frac{2}{16}$ the first ౨ shews that fourths are wanting, the second ౨ denotes that sixty fourths are wanting, and the ౦ shews the deficiency of two hundred and fifty sixths.

Accounts of money are kept in Pagodas or Rupees, and Fanams: the fractions of these are represented in the same manner as the fractions of any other unit, but those of a Pagoda as far as sixty fourths, those of a Rupee as far as a sixteenth, and those of a Fanam as far as quarters, have names different from the general fractions of an unit before specified.

The fractions of a Pagoda as far as sixty fourths are respectively named.

In English accounts, Pounds, Shillings and Pence are marked by the letters £ S D ; in Teloogoo, Pagodas are distinguished by the letter గ; Rupees by the syllables రు or రూ, and Fanams by 5 prefixed to the integer number.

O F M E A S U R E S .

Measures, in Teloogoo called మానము, are divided into three sorts ; viz. పరిమాణము - ఉన్నానము and ప్రమాణము. The first is that by which the quantity of grain and the like articles is ascertained, and may be termed the measure of capacity ; the second, that which relates to weight ; and the third refers to the measurement of extent, or to the length, breadth, or width of any thing.

1st. OF పరిమాణము OR THE MEASURES OF CAPACITY.

The chief measure of this kind is that by which grain is usually measured, the largest of which is called పుట్టి, and is marked thus ఖ. If there be one, two, three, or more such measures, the numeral figures, ౧ - ౨ - ౩ &c. are affixed to the ఖ, and written thus, ఖ ౧ - ఖ ౨ - ఖ ౩ &c. The పుట్టి is divided into twenty smaller measures, called తూములు, which are named and marked as follows :

తూము.....	౧	పదకొల్డుము.....	ఖ ౦౪౧
ఇద్దుము.....	౨	పన్నెద్దుము.....	ఖ ౦౪౨
ముత్తము.....	౩	పదముత్తము.....	ఖ ౦౪౩
నల్లుము.....	౪	పద్మల్లుము.....	ఖ ౦౪౪
పదుము.....	౫	పదిహేదుము.....	ఖ ౦౪౫
ఆర్డుము.....	౬	పదహార్డుము.....	ఖ ౦౪౬
పద్దుము.....	౭	పదిహేద్దుము.....	ఖ ౦౪౭
ఎనమందుము.....	౮	పదైనమందుము.....	ఖ ౦౪౮
తొమ్మందుము.....	౯	పంధొమ్మందుము.....	ఖ ౦౪౯
పండుము.....	౧౦	పుట్టి.....	ఖ ౧

The తూము again is divided into four కుంచములు which are named and marked in the following manner.

కుంచము.....	ల	ముక్కున.....	ల౪
ఇరస.....	ల ౪	తూము.....	ల ౧

The కుంచము is divided into four మానికలు ; thus,

మానిక.....	మా ౧	మూడుమానికలు.....	మా 3
అడ్డ.....	మా ౨	కుంచము.....	ల

The మానిక is subdivided into four సోలలు , thus,

సోల.....	సో	మూడుసోలలు.....	సో ౪
తవ్వ.....	సో ౪	మానిక.....	మా ౧

The సోల is divided into four గిద్దలు ; thus,

గిద్ద.....	గి -	మూడుగిద్దలు.....	గి ౩
అరసోల.....	గి ౩	సోల.....	సో 1

2d. OF ఉన్య నము OR WEIGHT.

The greatest Telooگو weight is a బారువ or a Candy which is equivalent to twenty మణుగులు or maunds.

• Every మణుగు contains eight వీశేలు.

Every వీశే five శేలు or seers.

Each శేరు seer is divided into quarters, which are marked thus,

శేరు.....	శే ౧	అడ్డశేరు.....	శే ౦ ౪
ముప్పావు శేరు.....	శే ౦ ౪	పావు శేరు.....	శే ౦

Every పావు శేరు contains two నవటాకులు or పలములు, and each నవటాకు is equivalent to three తులాలు.

3d. OF ప్రమాణము OR EXTENT.

The greatest measurement of extent is a యోజనము, more commonly termed ఆసుడ, which consists of four పరుగులు or కౌసులు, termed by us cosses.

Each కోసు or పరుగు is equivalent to 1,000 దండములు.

OF THE DIVISION OF TIME.

The people of Telingana, following the astronomical system of the Bramins, divide what they term the infinity of time into four great ages, which they suppose to be in constant revolution ; these they denominate యుగములు, or conjunctions ; periods, which seem to have been calculated, by the Bramins, as the probable dates of some remote conjunctions of the heavenly bodies, which they assumed merely to assist astronomical computations, but which have been implicitly adopted by the vulgar as real eras.

The first of these four ages is named కృతయుగము referring, apparently, to some conjunction which is supposed to have taken place at the కృత creation ; for, according to the Hindoos, the Supreme Being created the world in the first age of this name. It consists of 1,728,000 years. The second is denominated త్రేతాయుగము, the conjunction of the త్రేతా or three sacrificial fires, so called, because the great sacrifice in which these * fires are used is supposed to have been introduced during this period, which contains 1,296,000 years. The third is named ద్వాపరయుగము a compound of ద్వి two and అపర the next, that which followed the two first, viz. the third; this comprises 8,64,000 years. The fourth or present age is known by the name of కలియుగము, properly signifying vicious or sinful; to this age they assign a period of 4,32,000 years, of which 4,916 are already elapsed. If the years in the fourth age be doubled, the number of those in the third is given; if multiplied by three, the length of the second is found; and if multiplied by four, the product is the length of the first age.

* These three fires are severally named గౌహాపత్యము - దక్షిణాగ్ని and ఆహవనీయము The first is lighted, with particular ceremonies, in the west. The person who celebrates the sacrifice is considered particularly to preside over this fire, which being kept alive during his life, serves to light his funeral pile. From this fire, also, the other two are lighted ; one of them is placed in the south, and offerings are made in it to the deity of Fire, to the manes of the Pitris, or certain progenitors of mankind, and to a few other deities ; the other is placed in the east, and offerings are made in it to the principal deities presiding over the sacrifice, and to all the other gods.

Besides this grand division of time, common to all Hindoos, the people of the Peninsula have another epoch which takes it's name from an ancient prince named శాలివాహనుఁడు Shalivahana, and commences about the year of Christ 78; the present year 1816 is therefore the 1737-8 of this epoch. It is said that Shalivahana subdued Vikramarka (Bikramajeet) whose era is still used in the north of Hindoostan, and substituted his own era for that of his conquered enemy. The vulgar derive the name of Shalivahana from శాలి a heap of straw or సాల a certain kind of tree, and వాహన a car; viz. he whose car was a heap-of straw or the సాల tree. In some encounter with Vikramarka, say they, Shalivahana was obliged to mount this tree, or heap of straw; but all traditions respecting this prince, are obscured in the most extravagant fables.

The people of Telingana class the years of the two epochs above mentioned in cycles of sixty, giving to each of the sixty an appropriate name, as shewn below.

In Teloogoo, the whole of these years, whether of the cycle of sixty, of Shalivahana, or of the Caleeyoogum, are calculated according to the lunar system, which appears to have been the most ancient method of computing time in India ; and each year consists of twelve lunar months, reckoned from new moon to new moon, not from full moon to full moon, as is the practice at Benares.

The ecliptic is divided into twenty seven Nutchatras or constellations, each containing 13' 20", and every lunar month takes it's name from the particular Nutchatra near which the moon is observed to be generally at the full.

The following are the names of the lunar months, and their corresponding Nutchatras.

Months.	Nutchatras.
చైత్రము.....	చిత్ర - స్వాతి
వైశాఖము.....	విశాఖ - అనూరాధ
జ్యేష్ఠము.....	జ్యేష్ఠ - మూల
ఆషాఢము.....	పూర్వాషాఢ - ఉత్తరాషాఢ
శ్రావణము.....	శ్రావణము - ధనిష్ఠ
భాద్రపదము.....	శతభిష-పూర్వాభాద్ర - ఉత్తరాభాద్ర
ఆశ్వయుజము.....	రేవతి - అశ్విని - భరణి
కార్తికము.....	కృత్తిక - రోహిణి
మౌగళిరము.....	మృగశిర - ఆద్ర
పుష్యము.....	పునర్వసు - పుష్యమి
మాఘము.....	ఆశ్లేష - మఘ
ఫాల్గునము.....	పుబ్బ - ఉత్తర - హస్త

The moon is not always full in the particular Nutchatra from which the month derives it's name; but either in that Nutchatra, or in the one which follows or precedes it. This is the utmost extent of the variation; nevertheless, in whichever of the three the moon is full, the name of the month remains unaltered. The moon of the month చైత్ర may be full in the Nutchatra named హస్త, or in చిత్ర, or in స్వాతి, but the name of the month is always చైత్రము.

Each lunar month is divided into two portions termed పక్షము, of which one is named శుక్ల or శుద్ధ the bright half, the other కృష్ణ or బహుళ the dark half; and each of these two portions contains fifteen తిథులు which may be termed lunar days.

The bright fortnight commences with the new moon, of which the తిథి or lunar day is called పాడ్యమి or the 1st, and continues until పున్నమ or the full moon : the dark fortnight then begins, in the same manner, with a తిథి or lunar day named పాడ్యమి or the 1st, and ends with అమావాస్య or the change, when the moon, by it's conjunction with the sun, concludes the lunar month ; thus,

The bright half or increase of the moon, named శుక్లపక్షము పాడ్యమి..... new moon.

The dark half or decrease of the moon, termed కృష్ణపక్షము పాడ్యమి first lunar day of the dark [fortnight.

A తిథి or lunar day by no means corresponds with the solar day ; according to the Hindoos it is that period during which the moon travels through twelve degrees of her path, it may commence in the morning, at noon, in the evening, or at midnight, and contains a number of గడియలు, or Teloogoo hours of 24 English minutes each, varying from 54 to 66 according to the length of the తిథి.

Although the lunar day is of variable length, it's subdivision, the Teloogoo hour, does not vary, but consists precisely of 24 English minutes. The people measure this space of time by an empty vessel of a certain size placed in water ; there is a small hole at the bottom of the vessel, through which the water is allowed to enter ; and the size both of the hole and of the vessel is so proportioned, that, if care be taken, the vessel sinks at the termination of every 24 English minutes.

The orb of the moon is divided into sixteen phases, named కళలు ; but as one of these is considered constant, and the other fifteen are supposed to revolve round it, like a garland of flowers on a string, each revolving కళ corresponds to a తిథి or lunar day.

Twelve lunations form a lunar year, but it requires only about 354 solar days to complete this period ; so that the lunar falls behind the solar year (of 365 solar days) more than 11 solar days every lunar year. To adjust the lunar time to the solar computation intercalary months are inserted, and this is regulated by assigning to each of the lunar months a particular corresponding sign of the zodiac as explained below.

Lunar months.	Corresponding sign of the zodiac.
చైత్రము.....	మేషము..... Aries.
వైశాఖము.....	వృషభము..... Taurus.
జ్యేష్ఠము.....	మిథునము..... Gemini.
ఆషాఢము.....	కర్కాటకము..... Cancer.
శ్రావణము.....	సింహము..... Leo.
భాద్రపదము.....	కన్య..... Virgo.
ఆశ్వయుజము.....	తుల..... Libra.
కార్తికము.....	వృశ్చికము..... Scorpio.
మాగేశిరము.....	ధనుస్సు..... Sagittarius.
పుష్యము.....	మకరము..... Capricornus.
మాఘము.....	కుంభము..... Aquarius.
ఫాల్గునము.....	మీనము..... Pisces.

So often as the sun remains in the same sign of the zodiac during two అమావాస్యలు or days of the moon's change, the month to which the last అమా

వాస్య belongs is named twice over; it is first considered అధిక or intercalary, and after being completed is reckoned over again, under its proper name; for example, supposing the sun to have entered the sign Aries on అమావాస్య the last lunar day of the lunar month చైత్రము, and to continue in the same sign during అమావాస్య the last lunar day of the next lunar month వైశాఖము, the lunar month intervening between the first and the last అమావాస్య would be termed అధిక వైశాఖము or intercalated వైశాఖము, and so soon as it expired, వైశాఖము proper would commence anew.

In the course of a certain number of years, two intercalary months occur within the space of one year; in other words, two months are reckoned over twice. In this case, the proper month intervening between the two is called క్షయమాసము the wasted month, and is entirely omitted from account. In every intercalary lunar month the sun does not enter into a new sign of the zodiac; in the course of the wasted month, he enters into two signs.

The new moon or పాడ్యమి in the bright fortnight of the lunar month చైత్రము is the first తిథి or commencement of the lunar year.

Besides the lunar years, months, and days, the people of Telingana use that subdivision of solar time which we term the week, the days of which they reckon from sun rise to sun rise, and name after the Sun, † Moon, Mars, Mercury, Jupiter, Venus and Saturn, in the following manner.

† I subjoin for the information of the reader a list of the Planets, as enumerated in Teloogo Books.

సూర్యుడు.....	the Sun.
చంద్రుడు.....	the Moon.
అంగారకుడు.....	Mars, the son of the earth.
బుధుడు.....	Mercury, the son of the moon by the Hyades.
బృహస్పతి.....	Jupiter, son of Angerasa one of the seven great sages, and the [preceptor of the gods.
శుక్రుడు.....	Venus, the son of Bhrigu, and the preceptor of the giants.
శని.....	Saturn, the offspring of the sun by Ch'háyú shade.
రాహు.....	Son of Sinlika, the moon's ascending node, reckoned the 8th planet.
కేతు.....	The moon's descending node, reckoned the 9th planet.

In a few of the most southern districts, the people of Telingana, from their intercourse with the inhabitants of the Tamil Country, have adopted their solar computation of the year, of which, therefore, some, brief notice seems to be necessary.

Every Tamil solar year has twelve నెలలు or months, which are named as follows :

చిత్రి.....	April.	అల్పిశి.....	October.
వాయాశి.....	May.	కాతికెకి.....	November.
ఆని.....	June.	మాగళి.....	December.
ఆడి.....	July.	తైయి.....	January.
పెరటాశి.....	September.	పంగుణి.....	March.

The Tamil calendar is not adjusted by intercalary days according to the European method ; these months, therefore, do not correspond entirely with the English months by which they are represented. The Tamil year commences on the sun's entrance into Aries, and each month properly contains as many days, and fractional parts of a day, as the sun remains in each sign. The civil solar month, however, always commences at sun rise, and continues until the first sun rise in the following month ; and to dispose of the fractional parts of a day, the
